President Plans Legislation

Farm Commission Reports Cowmen Are Only Ones in Need of Relief

Coolidge Believes Congress Can Remedy Situation at This Session

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Cattle raising is the only branch of agriculture in need of immediate emergency relief, the President's agricultural commission has found, and Mr. Coolidge, to whom the commission made its preliminary report today, has undertaken to procure that relief from this Congress before it ends on March 4.

In the light of the commission's report the President holds that all the legislation agroculture now needs can be passed by this Congress, and that an extra session of the new Congress is not required for this purpose, Senator Borah to the contrary notwithstanding.

The commission's suggestion for emergency legislation consists of only one proposal. It is that Congress so amend the Agricultural Credits Act as to permit the rediscounting by intermediate credit banks of loans negotiated by Federally chartered agricultural credit agencies.

FARM SUGGESTIONS

Recommendations for administrative action by government agencies embrace the following:

Inauguration by the Federal Farm Loan Board of a campaign for the organization of discount agencies as a means of obtaining loans from intermediate credit banks to assist in the financing of live-stock raisers.

A review of the personnel of the intermediate credit banks to make it certain that the employees include persons conversant and sympathetic with the needs of agriculture, including the live-stock industry.

A special report by the chairman of the Federal Farm Loan Board to the President on July 1, 1925, indicating such progress as has been made in meeting the emergency in the live-stock industry.

An early and thorough revision of the freight-rate structure to relieve the raw products of agriculture and live stock from a disproportionate share of transportation costs.

The report states that the cattle

DURANT IS ACCUSED

Assault Charged by Woman

Rich Sportsman and Dancer Named by Nurse Asking $100,000 Damages

Asserts Cliff Aided Attack in Cabin While Yacht Was in Honolulu

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—For the second time in the last few days E. C. (Cliff) Durant's palatial yacht, the "Aurora" has brought the young automobile racing capitalist into the courts. Today Mrs. Martha Fuller, trained nurse, brought suit for $100,000 for damages in an asserted assault in the stateroom of the yacht on October 4, 1924, while the boat lay at anchor in the Honolulu Harbor, against Durant and Lea Gapski, beautiful young dancer from Detroit.

Possession of the ill-fated schooner resulted in a $10,351 suit filed on January 13, when J. H. Madden, shipbuilder, for the remainder of the payment asserted to be due after $36,000 was paid.

Mrs. Fuller charged in her complaint that she was "kicked, beaten and scratched" by Miss Gapski, who was aided and abetted by Durant. She said she suffered wounds, lacerations and bruises about the limbs, body and face and that she has suffered grievous bodily pain and mental anguish ever since.

ENGAGED AS NURSE

"I was engaged by Mr. Durant's physician to act as a nurse for Miss Gapski in July last year," Mrs. Fuller said tonight. "We lived at the Regilus Apartments in Oakland for some time and then went to the Hawaiian Islands. Later Mr. Durant arrived in the harbor with his yacht and we then went aboard the yacht to live.

"One day there was an argument over some gossip another woman was supposed to have reported and as a result of long drinking bouts the nerves of all on board were rather unstrung.

"Miss Gapski sprang at me like a tiger and clawed my neck and face, and I screamed and turned to Mr. Durant for protection, but did I get it? I'll say not. He only assisted the dancer to make me suffer. Because of the ailment from which Miss Gapski was suffering the danger from infection was almost a certainty and I endured long hours of mental anguish and am still uncertain as to the outcome of those scratches."

FATHER'S STATEMENT

Durant is in Los Angeles, according to his father, W. C. Durant, head of the Durant Motor Corporation, who is at the Palace Hotel. The elder Durant said he had no knowledge of the suit and did not know any of the people involved.

Mrs. Fuller is represented in her suit by William F. Herron, attorney.

The famous boat, which is 144 feet long, was constructed in Oakland and fitted up for a cruise among the South Sea Islands. This trip was later given up and the boat made the run only to the Hawaiian Islands and back.

The Aurora was patterned after the Gloucester fishing schooners and the designer made a trip to the New England coast to take notes and prepare the plans. Madden, the shipbuilder, charged in his suit in the Superior Court that Durant promised to pay him over and above the $36,000 an additional amount which would be a reasonable cost of the extra labor and material.

CALLS SUIT "PLAIN CASE OF BLACKMAIL"

"A plain case of blackmail," was the way E. C. (Cliff) Durant labeled the suit when seen last night at his home at 631 Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills.

Sixty days ago, Durant said, he was informed by a San Francisco law firm that Mrs. Fuller intended to sue, but would settle out of court for $50,000. Durant said he turned the matter over to William Hines, his attorney, and, because he heard nothing more of it, thought the matter had been dropped.

Neither Mrs. Fuller nor Miss Gapski made the trip to Honolulu on his yacht, Durant declared, but came on board while it was in the harbor there.

Durant said he did not "aid or abet" Miss Gapski in the fight with Mrs. Fuller, but stood by amusedly watching it. It was a woman's "brawl," Durant said, and was in a stateroom of his yacht. Others who witnessed it, he declared, were his secretary, A. B. Swanger, the master of the yacht, and several sailors.

KELLOGG SEES NEW ERA IN EUROPE AS PACT IS SIGNED

Division of Reparations Accord Now Operative; America Wins Important Concession

BY HENRY WALES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Jan. 14.—Predicting a "new era for Europe which will have a reflex action on all the nations of the world" and assuring Europe that "the people of the United States are deeply interested in the success of the Dawes plan," Ambassador Frank B. Kellogg, who shortly will take Mr. Hughes's place as the American Secretary of State, congratulated the Allied statesmen participating in the Paris financial conference which signed accords for the division of the German funds today.

"The three outstanding events in the rehabilitation of Europe in the last three years are the Dawes report, the London conference and the Paris conference," Mr. Kellogg said.

"The Dawes report was successful because it was the work of very able financiers and men of great public experience, who labored to evolve a plan which would settle the much-vexed reparations question upon business principles, bearing in mind the rights of the various interested governments.

"The London conference was a success because the statesmen gathered there were all animated by a patriotic determination to make it a success. I am happy to say the Paris conference has been successful for the same reason."

AMERICA WINS POINT

With the signing of the financial accords by the great powers the United States won an important point just before the close when the clause limiting America to $250,000,000 for war damage was eliminated. America will now get 2¼ per cent of the reparations annuities under the Dawes plan until all its demands are met.

All the delegates of the big powers, the United States, Great Britain, France and Belgium, signed the accords, but the representatives of Italy and Japan made reservations, insisting on the rights of their governments to make their own interpretations.

Vlintila Bratiano, the Rumanian delegate, inserted a reservation as a protest against his failure to obtain the demands which the Bucharest government made for participation in German reparations, since Austria and Hungary are not paying, but Jugo-Slavia, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Greece and Brazil signed without further complaint. The representatives of the big powers patiently listened to each delegate of the little people recite his tale of woe and insisting on his government getting a split in the rake-off from Germany.

DEBTS BROUGHT UP

Winston Churchill, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that Great Britain had every sympathy for Brazil's demands for compensation for coffee stocks in Germany, which were seized at the outbreak of the war, but no money was available to satisfy Rio de Janeiro's demands.

Everybody breathed a sigh of relief when the little fellows finished, and then Etienne Clementel, French Finance Minister, thanked his colleagues for the lofty sentiments and precious collaboration which they had given.

Then he slipped over a fast line: "We have other problems to solve, particularly a solution in an amicable way and in a brotherly spirit of the inter-Allied debts."

AMERICANS INTERESTED

Ambassadors Frank B. Kellogg and Myron T. Herrick and Col. Logan started visibly at the ominous words and then remembering that the United States was an "associated" and not an "allied" power they realized that this was not a forbidden topic by Washington and remain seated.

Mr. Churchill then explained how he had been won over from his attitude or reserve regarding the American claims to full recognition of their justice and he boosted the eminent qualities of the future Secretary of State, Mr. Kellogg, who beamed his gratitude.

"The official participation of the United States in the Dawes plan operations carries incontestably

RAINS WET SOUTHLAND

More Showers Expected

Season's Total is Now 2.89 Inches, Marked Increase Over Last Year

Abundance of Snow Reported in Mountain Areas by Edison Company

Rain fell in Los Angeles and Southern California yesterday, and showers were expected to fall last night, with cloudy skies predicted by the United States Weather Bureau today.

Although only .02 of an inch of rain fell yesterday, it brought the season's total up to 2.89 inches, which is a heavy increase over last year's total of 1.43 inches on the same date.

The figures for this season's rainfall, however, are still well below normal for the date, 6.27 inches being recorded as the usual amount of rain to have fallen by January 14.

SPRING RAINS EXPECTED

No indications that the storm will be protracted were observed by Col. H. B. Hersey, government meteorologist, but he regarded the showers as an omen that Mother Nature is getting ready to deluge Southern California with the usual heavy spring rains.

With the exception of the East and Southeast portions of the Southland rain was general all over Southern California. At a majority of stations reporting a fall of an eighth to a quarter inch of rain fell. From almost all points in the San Joaquin Valley precipitation was fairly heavy, with a fall of practically half an inch of water.

The rain in the citrus district has allayed all fear of frost during the present cold spell. The air and ground have been warmed by the added moisture precluding freezing in the immediate future.

Smudging was carried on Tuesday night but growers took a rest from their labors last night.

SNOW ABUNDANT

At Porterville, official gauges reported .55 of an inch of rain which, added to the total, makes the season's record 5.23, as compared to .33 at this time last year. The Southern California Edison Company reports sixty-three inches of snow at Kaiser Pass, an elevation of 7000 feet. At Huntington Lake, on the 6900-foot level, eight inches of snow are reported.

Santa Barbara reported .03 for the last twenty-four hours, making the season total 3.33. At this time last year .60 were recorded. Skies cleared in this vicinity early yesterday morning with the weather forecast indicating clear weather.

EIGHT SAVED FROM PLANE OFF LAGUNA

Navy Craft Forced Down by Broken Shaft; Tug Sent from Los Angeles Harbor

Forced down half a mile off Laguna Beach yesterday afternoon and adrift for two hours in the Naval bombing and scout plane 2-P-7, Lieut. Walter Wedgefort and eight companions were rescued by fishing skiffs.

The plane, en route from San Diego to Los Angeles Harbor, was forced down by a broken camshaft at 1:30 p.m. Picnickers on a cliff sighted the craft and telephoned H. M. McCune, operator at Laguna, who, in turn, communicated with Naval authorities at Los Angeles Harbor. In the meantime fishermen went to the aid of the flyers, took them ashore and towed the plane to Boat Cove.

The Navy tug Fern was dispatched last night at 9 o'clock from Los Angeles Harbor to tow the plane into port.

The plane, which left San Diego at 7 a.m., was No. 2 of the V82 squadron on its way to join the battle fleet in Los Angeles Harbor. It carried, besides Lieut. Wedgefort, Daniel E. Nelson, pilot; D. K. Keyser, machinist's mate; B. M. Wetherall, rigger; D. S. Hayes, rigger; G. D. Clark, rigger; F. A. Boyer, radio electrician, and B. C. Hesser, machinist's mate.

For an hour and a half the craft was in danger of capsizing in heavy seas. The plane itself was not damaged, latest advices stated, except for the engine trouble, and was riding the breakers satisfactorily except for the ever-present danger of near-by rocks. The tug Fern also was having difficulty with heavy seas.

CHICAGO IN GRIP OF FOG, SMOKE, COLD

Darkness Causes Weather to Resemble Midwinter in Arctic Regions

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Arctic weather, with all the trimmings except the Aurora Borealis, chilled and slowed Chicago today. Fog and smoke combined to keep most of the city as dark as arctic midwinter and all morning, slowing traffic generally, while a temperature of 11 below zero at 6 o'clock nipped toes and ears.

Because of the darkness, street cars, elevated trains and motor cars had to move slowly, with headlights burning, except in the remoter residential districts. All transportation was behind schedule.

The cold seemed more extreme than it really was because of the high temperature of preceding days. After the mildness of Monday and Tuesday, today's 11 deg., seemed intensely cold.

Low temperatures will prevail tonight and tomorrow, the weather man predicted. Tonight's minimum will be about 10 above.

The Weather Bureau attributed the darkness to lack of wind. In the still air the fog acted as a restraining blanket for smoke, the forecasters explained, thickening the haze until it stung eyes and noses.

GIRL ELUDES MURDER NET

"Butterfly" of Bay City Hunted as Slayer of Her Mother May be in Los Angeles

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—With a day's start on the police, Dorothy Ellingson, the 16-year-old red-haired "jazz girl," who is sought as her own mother's slayer, was still at large tonight.

For nearly twenty-four hours the police have met dissapointment in their quest. By telegraph and radio a far-flung net has been spread in the hope of trapping her in flight. All known acquaintances have been interviewed by detectives. Search has been made in the haunts where night life flourishes. Lookouts were posted tonight among the bright-light places where, the police feel, Dorothy may seek to escape.

MUTE EVIDENCE

But despite every effort, tonight found the police no nearer arresting the girl than when they started their hunt Tuesday night—a few minutes after Earl Ellingson, Dorothy's brother, found his mother dead across her bed.

The ransacked clothes chest, the rifled pocketbook and penny bank, the missing suitcase, and the family conditions of the Ellingson home before the tragedy gave mute evidence of what had happened that morning. The girl, chided into a frenzy by her mother's efforts to turn her from the jazz path, had evidently obtained the revolver from the bureau drawer, where it was kept, and, standing in a doorway, fired a bullet into the back of her mother's head.

"There is no doubt but that the girl is guilty," said Detective Captain Matheson this afternoon. "Our task is not to solve the question of who did it, but to find the girl. She did it herself."

FAST LIVING

That task—"find the girl"—takes the police into the mazes of "jazz-mania." For months Dorothy Ellingson has been flinging herself ever more wildly into the abandon of fast living.

Liquor parties, beach parties, love parties, late hours—the tale is told in a diary the girl left behind. Only four days it covers, but those four days tell the story of the behavior which broke up the Ellingson home, and brought on violent quarrels between the girl and her parents. It was in such a quarrel, the police feel, that Dorothy shot her mother.

The names in the diary—names of men with whom Dorothy was playing last summer—gave the police one of the clews on which they are working. It leads to Los Angeles, where "Harry" and "Keith," two musicians with whom she attended parties here last August, now are. From one of these, a letter came to Dorothy only recently, the police learn, and in it, the writer pleaded that Dorothy join him. He promised her freedom to do as she pleased—knowing, perhaps, it would be a potent argument in view of the perpetual scoldings Dorothy received at home.

SAYS MASONS NOT PERILED

Scottish Rite Chief in Italy Avers Mussolini Law Will Not Hurt Organization

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ROME (Italy) Jan. 14.—The Italian Scottish Rite Masonry, which is under the same grand jurisdiction as the American Scottish Rite, has no reason to fear Premier Musselini's proposed law against Masonry, according to Signor Raoul Palermi, Grand Master of the Grand National Lodge of Italy, who was asked to give his views on the subject today.

Signor Palermi is well known throughout the United States. He is an emeritus member of the Supreme Council of Washington and Boston and a past representative to various grand lodges, including those of New Jersey, Missouri and Louisiana.

"Italian Masonry," he said, "has no difficulty in presenting to the government lists of its members and its program, which is contained in its declaration of principles. These principles are that a member is not bound by any rules which change his conscience regarding his duty as a citizen, a public servant or soldier, or in general his duy toward the world. We have long been planning to make a definite statement of our position toward the nation.

"Italian Masonry is outside the law, while Masonry in other countries is recognized by the State. Hence, in accordance with the proposed law we will realize our own plan of presenting the names of members and rules to the government. We have no reason to protest to the Masonry of the world or to ask foreign aid."

These mild declarations are not easily reconciled with the assertions of other Masons that masonry will resist bitterly any attempt by the government to suppress it. It all depends on the manner in which the proposed law is enforced.

On the one hand important Fascist elements have sworn death to Masonry. On the other hand, the Grand Orient Dispensation, which is much larger than the Scottish Rite, is preparing to fight for its life.

Experts of canonical law at the Vatican are closely studying the text of the proposed regulation of secret societies. The Vatican is excited over the character of the first paragraph of the legislation, primarily aimed at Free Masons.

It is held by the Vaticans' experts that Jesuits, Dominicans, Franciscans, and other holy orders come within the provisions of the regulations. Publication of their constitutions, membership lists, or internal regulations would be contrary to the canonical regulations, it is declared.

While the Vatican is sure that Premier Musselini is not aiming his campaign against the church, it would object seriously to such a law being placed on the statute books on the grounds that some future government might use it against the church. The provision that publication be made only on demand is not deemed sufficient to safeguard the religious orders. If the Vatican experts find their interests jeopardized, a protest from the Pope will doubtless be forthcoming.

School Boy Tells About Writing Death Letters

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Jan. 14. — A dozen blackmail letters received by wealthy residents of Boston, Cambridge, Lynn and Braintree were explained today when Hyman Nathanson, 13 years of age, a grammer school pupil, admitted to postoffice inspectors that he was the author. Hyman said he had seen the thing done in the moving pictures and thought he would try it.

The letters demanded on threat of death sums ranging up to $8000 and were signed "The Red League" and "the Brotherhood of Death."

The boy, who has been in this country only three years, was born in a Russian village near Vilna.

Because of his age no action was taken.

CALLES ORDERS RAIL CUT

Opposition of Union Employees Regarded as Only Obstacle to Sweeping Reorganization

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 14.—President Calles has ordered a sweeping reorganization of the National Railways of Mexico to effect the greatest possible reduction in the operating expenses of the system. He aims to bring about a saving of from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 pesos in the annual operating budget of the roads.

The reorganization order is the first step in the plan to place the railways on a paying basis and eventually to return them to their original owners in accordance with the Lamont-De la Huerta agreement.

A special commission already is at work on the reorganization and economy program, which is to be applied through the entire system. It is expected that this commission will be ready to confer with the railroad unions on the necessary reductions in personnel, at the end of the present month.

A peaceful settlement with the unions will overcome the greatest obstacle in placing the system on a paying basis. Though officials feel that the unions will ultimately realize the necessity for a reduced personnel, they anticipate strong resistance to the plan at present. The officials declare, however, that they are determined to carry through the reorganization and economy plan.

Income of the National Railways in 1924 was approximately 115,000,000 pesos. Expenditures were slightly above this figure, with the bulk of the expenditures being in the form of salaries to employees, who received approximately 80,000,000 pesos.

NEW EUROPEAN ERA PREDICTED

Kellogg Lauds Efforts of Envoys at Paris

Hails Paris Conference as Outstanding Event

Americans Silent as Debts Are Brought Up

great moral authority," said Mr. Churchill in felicitating America. "America is working again with the Allies in the most complete harmony."

The Japanese delegate thanked his colleagues for their "sympathy" but formulated reserves nevertheless. Then M. Theunis and Signor Stefani and the delegates of the little peoples spoke.

CHURCHILL LEAVES

Mr. Churchill bolted for the Gare Du Nord to catch the noon train for London after affixing a giant seal with big fingering next to his signature.

Mr. Kellogg is remaining here until tomorrow.

With everyone throwing bouquets at one another the important fact is overlooked that the settlement of the army costs—giving the United States $5,000,000 gold marks ($13,750,000) annually to pay off the $255,000,000 claim—is only valid for one year and the solution of reparations awarding America 2 1-4 per cent operative for four years.

Next year the whole solution of the army costs will be revised. By that time it is expected that the Ruhr and Cologne will have been evacuated and four years hence, when the Dawes plan is expected to be yielding fully and certain priorities have been extinguished, the reparations allocations must be altered.

FRENCH DISSATISFIED

The French are dissatisfied with the reduction of the allowance for armies of occupation to 160,000,000 gold marks ($40,000,000) annually of which France gets 110,000,000 gold marks ($27,500,000) and Belgium and Great Britain 25,000,000 gold marks ($6,250,000) apiece.

The French admit that this is far from covering the cost of their big effectives in the Rhineland and they sorrowfully state that they must defray the rest themselves.

The old French bugbear security, was plugged up again, the matter being postponed.

PARIS PRESS HAILS TONE OF CONFERENCE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Jan. 14.—The friendly spirit animating all the delegations and the determination to arrive at a practical result are selected by the press as the leading characters of the conference of Allied finance ministers which closed here today. The fact that the United States participated in the problem of apportioning reparations and has taken a direct interest in the execution of the Dawes plan, is dwelt upon by all of the newspapers, the Temps terming it of momentous political importance.

"Can we now hope," says the Temps, "that the government of the United States will use all of its influence in all circumstances, to oblige Germany to fulfill her obligations, and that American public opinion henceforth will have a wider conception of the vast problem of peace in its entirety and of all that is needed for the political and economic reconstruction of Europe?"

The Temps concludes with a warning against too great an optimism, declaring that "tomorrow as yesterday Germany will only yield in proportion to the constraint imposed upon her."

The Debats finds that the conference was somewhat niggardly regarding France's costs of occupation of the Rhineland compared to "the formidable sums demanded by the United States and Great Britain for the sumptuous upkeep of their occupational forces." It concludes that "the United States has won almost all along the line."

COOLIDGE ASKS AID ON CATTLE

industry is suffering through the lack of tariff protection from competition with hides and meat products from foreign countries, produced by cheaper labor and under different standards of production. There also is a need for protection in the case of other agricultural products, it is declared. The commission, however, found it advisable to defer the presentation of any tariff recommendations until the entire question of protection for agriculture can be studied.

The commission also recommended the adoption of a uniform policy of grazing on public lands and in the national forests. Regulation of grazing in the national forests has proved beneficial in improving the quality of the range and the producton of cattle, it is stated. Instead of continuing unrestricted grazing on the public domain it is proposed that the unappropriated public domain shall be placed under lease.

GRAZING PROBLEM

To determine the administration, rules, regulations and fees governing grazing, the commission suggests the appointment of a committee composed of one representative of the Department of Agriculture, one of the Interior Department and three others, two of whom shall represent the live-stock grazing industry, appointed by the Secretaries of Agriculture and Interior, acting jointly. Until a uniform plan of leasing is agreed upon it is recommended that there shall be no increase in fees charged for grazing in the national forests.

The commission made known its intention to submit recommendations at a later date on other legislation, transportation problems and methods of improving production and management.

CONFIDENT OF FUTURE

The commission declared that confidence in the future of the live-stock industry is warranted.

"In recent months there has been a very heavy forced liquidation of the cattle industry which has been caused in part by a shortage of feed, but principally by the calling of loans by private financing agencies," says the report. "During the war and immediately after many were encouraged to engage in the industry and extensive loans were made on cattle at excessive valuation. The action of the government in making advances to the live-stock industry through the War Finance Corporation has materially aided in absorbing the shock of deflation.

"Evidence at hand indicates that the breeding stock now on farms and ranges has been reduced to the point where future production will not be greatly in excess of normal demand. Therefore confidence in the industry is warranted and those adjustments which will assist in putting it on a sound and efficient basis should be made as speedily as possible. These adjustments should deal with finance, transportation costs, tariff and grazing."

GAS PRICE TO RISE IN EAST

Heavy Drain on Fuel Stocks Said to be Cause of Increase in Rate Set for Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Gasoline prices in most of the Eastern States will be raised tomorrow by the principal refining companies. The advance which is the first since the early part of November, reflects the terrific drain on gasoline stocks since June 1 of last year despite a 17 per cent increase in gasoline manufacture.

The Standard Oil Company of New York announced today that the price of gasoline will be raised 2 cents a gallon in New York, and the New England States, making the new tank-wagon price 17 cents a gallon and 20 cents at filling stations. Naphtha prices will be raised 1 cent a gallon at the same time. The Gulf Refining Company will advance the price of gasoline 2 cents in North Carolina and 1½ cents in South Carolina.

Similar advances are expected in oil trade circles tomorrow by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and other large refiners covering eastern territory.

Leading crude oil purchasing companies are reported to be drawing oil from storage to meet the demands of refiners, particularly in the midcontinent field, and California producers are said to be disinclined to making any large contracts for 1925 shipment of crude oil to the Atlantic Coast. Flush production in the new Wortham pool in Texas has increased to 155,000 barrels a day with indications that peak production may reach 175,000 barrels, but to date this has been handled without disturbance to price structure.

Gasoline stocks east of the Rocky Mountains have shown a steady decrease since May 31, last, when the peak figures of 1,649,953,755 gallons was reached. By November 30, the latest date for which figures are available, the country's reserve supply was reduced 516,785,099 gallons, or 31.3 per cent.

NATION WASTE HIT BY HOOVER

sung accomplishments that have made more for public welfare than most of the oratory for a year."

For four years Secretary Hoover has made the Department of Commerce what he calls "an economic laboratory" of reasearch into our distribution system. He says the outstanding problem of that system is:

"Can we reduce the margin between our farmer and manufacturing producers on one side and our consumers on the other?"

He believes it can be done without reduction of wages or of legitimate profits, and without governmental regulation.

How?

By the elimination of waste.

Hoover and his laboratory men have in four years held over 200 conferences with various trades and industries. The result is the disclosure of fifteen prime sources of waste in American business, many of the fifteen prime sources including three or four contributing sources.

CATALOGUE OF WASTE

I compact the Secretary's appalling catalogue as tightly as possible:

(1.) Waste from speculation and booms.

(2.) From excessive seasonal character of production and distribution.

(3.) From lack of information on national stocks.

(4.) From lack of standards of quality and grades.

(5.) From unnecessary multiplication of terms, sizes and varieties.

(6.) From lack of uniformity of business practices in terms and documents. (Result: Endless litigation.)

(7.) From deterioration of commodities.

(8.) From inadequate transportation and terminals, inefficient loading, unnecessary haulage.

(9.) From disorderly marketing of perishables, with attendant gluts and famines.

(11.) From bad credits.

(12.) From destructive competition.

(13.) From enormous expenditure of effort and money in advertising and sales promotion effort, without adequate basic information on which to base sales promotion.

(14.) From unfair practices of a small minority.

IMMENSE SAVING

Such wastes the secretary described as "not the small change of industry and commerce," adding, "there is scarcely a step in squeezing out these wastes which does not mean millions of dollars in annual saving."

He believes they amount in many lines to 25 or 30 per cent of the cost paid by the consumer, or producer of raw materials. "And," he added, "in the end the public pays the bill, for it is either charged into the consumer's price of goods at one end or subtracted from the wages of producers of raw materials, such as miners and farmers at the other.

"Avoid like the plague booms, the greatest waste in all our economic system. Without the boom there is no slump. The correction of waste lies in the prevention of booms. Our working people should dread a boom above all things. It means an afterclap of unemployment and misery. The best protection against them is information enabling the business man to realize, from shifts in credit, from movement in stocks, that the economic balance wheel is moving too fast."

For providing such information, the Secretary asserted, our government has the most completed service in the world.

Here was one of his lifters:

"Wastes in transportation by partial car loading, long routing, cross hauls, bad packing and reconsignment cost this country $500,000,000 a year."

Remedies in general and particular filled many minutes of the speech. Here again is an epitome merely:

(1.) Co-operative action.

(2.) Avoidance of high-pressure selling and marketing expenditure in unprofitable areas by finding out where those areas are. Today we do not know.

(3.) Continue intensively the establishment of standards for every standard established carries with it an elimination of millions of waste in production.

RAIN REPORTED THROUGHOUT STATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—As the result of a very heavy rainstorm which passed over the northern tier of Pacific States last night and today, practically the whole of California was visited by showers before the storm passed over the mountain ranges to the southeast. For the most part the precipitation in California did not reach half an inch, but at Eureka, just inside the main storm area, the rainfall reached the substantial figure of 1.04 inches.

A comparison of the figures in the appended rainfall table shows that in spite of frequent rains, the total seasonal rainfall to date is not up to normal in the great agricultural valleys of the State, only the northern coast counties reporting more than the average. The rainfall data for the twenty-four hours ended at 5 o'clock tonight follow:

CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT IS OPPOSED

Gov. Hartley in Message Sees Danger in Proposed Amendment

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Jan. 14.—In his inaugural message today, Gov. Roland H. Hartley expressed firm opposition to ratification by the Legislature of the proposed child labor amendment and declared the amendment would carry with it "a menace for the complete demoralization of youth through possible idleness and a relaxation or perhaps entire freedom of parental authority."

"Imagine a boy 18 years of age and not working," Gov. Hartley declared. "Why, that fellow wouldn't be fit to live."

Breaking into his set speech again, Gov. Hartley, referring to the proposed amendment, said:

"Can you fathers and mothers imagine that? I'll tell you that they would have a deuce of a time with me if I were young enough to raise any more children."

Gov. Hartley pointed out that many of the States of the Union have already prohibited the labor of children under 14 years of age.

MELLON ASKED FOR TAX RULING

Both Houses of Legislature Adopt Resolution

Bloc Formed by Opponents of Reapportionment

Leader Says Majority Will Oppose Redistricting

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—With organization work virtually completed, the Legislature settled down today to the introduction of bills and resolutions.

The Senate added its approval to the Assembly resolution asking Secretary Mellon to give force and effect to a ruling of the Attorney-General upholding community property tax returns in accordance with California law, with separate exemptions for man and wife. The joint resolution asks the immediate promulgation of this ruling so that tax returns for the March period may be made in accordance with it.

Scores of bills were introduced in both the Senate and the Assembly which entered upon the lull that usually follows completion of organization work. It is probable that little else will be done the remainder of the first part of the session, other than to introduce bills in ever-increasing numbers.

After adjournment, the reapportionment committee of the assembly met and organized. Walter Little of Hermosa Beach was elected vice-chairman to preside during the absence of Chairman S. V. Wright of San Luis Obispo. Rules adopted provide that to be reported out, a bill must have the affirmative vote of eleven members. There are twenty-one members of the Reapportionment Committee.

A simple majority at meetings when there are absentees would not suffice to pass a bill out of the committee.

OPPONENTS DRAW LINES

Antireapportionment forces, under the call of Assemblyman Van Bernard, have held a meeting, claiming that an informal poll shows fifty-one Assemblymen against reapportionment in any form. No official action has arisen to prove or disprove this claim and it is hardly expected any definite line-ups will be available until legislation begins in the second part of the session.

Among the bills introduced in the Assembly are two by Assemblyman Reindollar of San Rafael. One makes it unlawful for automobilists to carry dogs on the running boards or clinging to the hood; a second prohibits automobilists from picking up children on the highway and giving them "lifts."

Appointment of members to the Legislature by the Governor to fill unexpired terms would be authorized if a bill for a constitutional amendment to be introduced by Senator Allen of Los Angeles is enacted. He also will introduce a resolution memorializing Congress for legislation vesting a Governor of a State with power to fill vacancies in the House of Representatives by appointment.

A bill introduced by Assemblyman Lyons would make insanity a ground for divorce.

TO HEAR ABOUT BRIDGE

The Assembly extended an invitation to J. S. Strauss, Chicago engineer, to deliver an address in the Assembly chamber Thursday on the proposed Golden Gate bridge. A resolution will be introduced thanking the War Department for its interest in the project and for giving its approval to the proposal to span the bay.

Further restrictions on the possession of firearms which can be concealed about the person are proposed in a measure presented by Assemblyman Levey of San Francisco. Under his bill a person would be required to have a permit before weapon could be purchased, and a permit would be required to keep a pistol or revolver in one's home.

Among the bills introduced in the Senate was one by Lewis providing for the creation of a State board of examiners for the licensing of persons carrying on or teaching hairdressing. The Los Angeles Senator stated that all cosmeticians and cosmetologists would be under the supervision of the board should the bill become a law. Others by the same author provide for furnishing food to pupils and employees of school districts at not less than actual cost; for the creation of a State department of narcotics under a narcotic director, and a third to provide money for completion of the roof of the State armory at Exposition Park, Los Angeles.

AID FOR MOTHERS

Senator Roy Fellom started on its way a bill for a law empowering Superior Court judges to give State financial assistance to expectant mothers who are destitute, the cost not to exceed $250 each for the period of four months before and four months after childbirth.

Just prior to adjournment of the State Senator Young of Los Gatos and later of Santa Rosa eulogized the late Edwin R. Snyder, president of the San Jose Teachers' College, and adjournment was declared in honor of Dr. Snyder's memory.

DENVER, Jan. 14.—A bill to legalize sterilization of all "idiots, epileptics, imbeciles and insane persons" confined in State institutions of Colorado, after they have been declared capable of procreating others of their type, was introduced in the House of Representatives today by Dr. Minnie C. T. Love, Denver physician and Representative.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW TRUNK HIGHWAY TO CITY URGED

Road Down West Side of San Joaquin Valley Asked of Legislature

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—Creation of a third automobile trunk line to be known as the West Side Highway between San Francisco and Los Angeles would be provided by a bill which has been prepared by Assemblyman Foster of Fowler. Plans for the proposed legislation were decided upon today at a meeting of the West Side Highway Association of which L. A. Nares, Fresno, is secretary and the United Chambers of Commerce of Merced, Stanislaus and Madera counties.

Under the provisions of the bill, the State would be asked to appropriate $2 for every dollar that the highway districts raise for construction of the road. The author of the bill expects that oil companies of Kern county and large ranch owners of King county will aid the district in raising funds for the project.

A new highway would have to be constructed for only about half of the distance between the two cities, there being a paved road from San Francisco to Dos Palos in Fresno county. The proposed highway would extend from Dos Palos to Ventura, where it would join the paved road running into Los Angeles.

If the work should be undertaken according to present plans, the State would be entitled to approximately $800,000 from the Federal government, Foster stated, since forty miles of highway in Ventura county would run through government reserves.

The proposed highway is to run about thirty-five miles west of the main central highway between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

GIRL STAYS OUT OF MURDER NET

today, "that after firing the shot Dorothy scraped together what money she could and set out for Los Angeles to join this young man."

On that theory, the Los Angeles police have been asked to search for the girl. Detective Captain Matheson, however, believes Dorothy is hiding somewhere in San Francisco.

Policewoman Katheryn Sullivan, in charge of the hunt for Dorothy because she knows the girl from previous escapades in which she ran afoul of the police, believes Dorothy will eventually surrender of her own accord.

"The girl has always come to me when in trouble," said Mrs. Sullivan, "and I believe she will come now."

FRENZY OF FEAR

In this connection, a probable motive for the shooting is developed in the assertion that Dorothy's mother meant to turn the girl over to the probation authorities unless she behaved herself. The police build the theory that on Tuesday morning, after an altercation over Dorothy's actions, her mother threatened her with immediate "sending away."

Dorothy, in a frenzy of mingled fear and resentment and anger, shot her mother to prevent this step. That Mrs. Ellingson was apparently dressing when the shot was fired lends further weight to this theory, since police feel that she might have intended taking Dorothy personally to the policewoman, and was dressing for the errand even then.

MUSICIAN TELLS OF "JAZZ BABY DOT"

How Mrs. Annie Ellingson, the old-fashioned mother of Dorothy ("Jazz Baby Dot") Ellingson, sought to restrain her daughter's associations with men by requesting them to cease correspondence with the girl, was revealed last night by Keith Lord, cabaret musician.

It is apparent that weeks ago the mother, in connection with whose murder police are seeking Dorothy, tried not only to curb the girl's love of night life, but also asked the men she knew to cooperate to this end, even to the extent of not writing to Dorothy. Lord admitted that Mrs. Ellingson had written to him requesting that he refrain from further exchange of letters.

Lord is a banjo player with the Frisco Five Orchestra, playing at Sebastian's Cafe on Windward avenue, Venice. He said that he came to Los Angeles three months ago.

"I met Dorothy in the New Shanghai Cafe in San Francisco last August," he said. "I met her through Harry Chinits, another musician at the New Shanghai. Chinitz told the girl his name was Harry Lesser. I guess he didn't want her to know his right name so she wouldn't be calling up and bothering him.

"She was pretty and seemed very nice. She told me that she was 19 years old and was not living with her folks. I was out with her on three or four occasions.

"After I came to Venice, Dorothy wrote to me and asked if I thought she could get work here. She wanted to know about conditions here. I wrote back and said I thought she possibly could get a job, and that I believed she would like to live here, as I enjoyed it more than San Francisco.

"In one letter I offered to help her out in coming here by sending some money if she needed it. She wrote back that she thought her folks would help her out and also that a girl friend of hers had an apartment in Los Angeles where she might stay for a while. She said she hesitated about asking to live at this girl's apartment, however.

"Then I got a letter from her mother about a month or so ago, requesting me not to write to Dorothy any more. Since Dorothy had told me she wasn't living with her people, I wrote back and asked if the letter really was from her mother. I never got an answer. I sent her a card at Christmas. And that was the last of it."

IMPERIAL GRAPE MEN UP IN ARMS

Growers to Fight Proposed Bill Affecting Industry

San Joaquin Interests Urge Sugar Content Increase

Los Angeles Legislators to Push Charter Approval

BY KYLE D. PALMER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—Charges that the seemingly innocent proposal of Kern county and Fresno county grape growers to increase the sugar-content requirement of the grape standardization law of California is in reality designed to destroy one of the most important industries in Southern California — production of table grapes in the Imperial Valley for the early market in the East—were made here today by Assemblyman Isaac Jones of Ontario.

Assemblyman Jones, who is prepared to fight attempts to increase the sugar-content requirement for table grapes, asserted that the proposal of the Central California growers not only would destroy an industry that annually ships more than $1,500,000 worth of table grapes to the eastern markets, but would result in extensive economic loss through car shortages, congestion of shipments and the dislocation of the labor supply.

Under existing requirements the minimum sugar content for table grapes is 17 per cent. The original proposal of the Kern and Fresno growers contemplated an increase to 19 per cent, but this demand, it is understood, may be modified in view of energetic opposition from the south and a substitute proposition be submitted calling for an increase to 18 per cent.

VITAL TO GROWERS

While the general public may find no direct interest in this technical discussion of sugar-content percentages, according to Mr. Jones, the issue is of vital importance to hundreds of growers and, if decided in favor of the San Joaquin Valley growers, may result not only in loss to individuals, but in the removal of the Imperial Valley table-grape industry to Arizona.

Grape growers from all sections of the State met in Sacramento today to discuss the sugar-content question and, following extensive debate and reference to a committee for recommendation, the matter was referred to the University of California research department for further investigation. A majority of the committee of growers favored the increase and a minority of three submitted a dissenting report.

Grapes grown in the Imperial Valley, while possessing a lower sugar content at a certain stage of development than grapes growing farther north, have a much lower acid content and hence are more palatable than northern-grown grapes of higher sugar content.

The fight among the growers is almost wholly between the growers of Kern and Fresno counties and the growers of Imperial Valley, the Napa and Sonoma growers concerning themselves exclusively with the interests of the juice-grape industry.

The California standardization law requires a minimum sugar content of 17 per cent for all table grapes shipped out of the State, but permits juice grapes to be shipped having an average sugar content of 17 per cent.

Because of early development in Imperial Valley, grapes grown there mature and are shipped from three weeks to a month ahead of the San Joaquin grapes, which ordinarily begin to move eastward concidentally with the conclusion of the Imperial season. This condition has prevented serious shortage of cars under ordinary conditions and likewise has permitted the transfer of labor without loss either to the workers or the growers.

Should the higher content proposal be accepted by the Legislature, in the opinion of Assemblyman Jones, Imperial Valley grape shipments will be retarded at least two weeks, with a consequent overlapping into the San Joaquin shipping season.

It is the contention of Mr. Jones and the Imperial Valley growers that the southern county industry may not be properly considered as in economic rivalry with the San Joaquin grape production and that any successful effort to cripple production in the south will result in loss to the State as a whole.

CHARTER ACTION URGED

Possibility of extended delay in legislative ratification of the new charter adopted by the Los Angeles electors is causing concern to the Los Angeles Assemblymen and Senators and Senator Harry A. Chamberlin, who is in charge of the matter, has sought the aid of City Attorney Stephens and the Attorney-General's office in an attempt to overcome difficulties in the path of immediate ratification.

Former Judge Robert M. Clarke, president of the Board of Freeholders of Los Angeles, today wired Senator Chamberlin urging prompt ratification and volunteering to come to Sacramento if his services should be needed.

"I am sure you realize," wired Mr. Clarke, "that it is of vital importance to the city of Los Angeles that there be prompt ratification of the new city charter as adopted by the people of this city. The majority in favor of the charter reflects the almost unanimous view that the plan of government provided is an important step forward. If, as chairman of the body that drafted the charter, I can be of any assistance to you or the Legislature in explaining its provisions or in aiding in its speedy ratification, please call upon me."

Fear has been expressed that unnecessary delay in ratification during the first half of the present legislative session might result in further difficulties following the constitutional recess and in complications possibly affecting the validity of the new charter at the municipal primary election next May.

FREE URGES SUGAR BEET PEST FUNDS

California Man Requests House, Senate to Provide $10,000 for Study

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Representative Free of California, in a statement today, urged the House and Senate conferees on the agriculture appropriation bill to retain a Senate amendment to increase by $10,000 the funds for the study of insects and diseases affecting the sugar beet. The Department of Agriculture, he said, estimates that the leaf hopper alone caused a loss of $1,000,000 in the Salinas Valley in California in a single year, and that all diseases and insects produce a loss of at least $30,000,000 a year to the industry.

The department is endeavoring to produce a leaf hopper resistant beet, he said, and the results so far have been encouraging. The department wished to continue its investigation in this direction, he said, and although it might cost a few thousand dollars at present, it probably would result in the saving of millions later. The Senate amendment must be agreed upon by the House to remain in the bill.

SUPT. WOOD ENTERS BUDGET TOTAL ROW

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a statement today took exception to the State Board of Control's declaration transmitted in the Governor's message that in the new $'ate budget 40 per cent of the expenditures will go for education. Wood asserted that the total State expenditure over the next biennial period, including maintenance expenditures and highways and expenditures for all supporting agencies, will be in excess of $155,000,000 and of this amount the schools will get 40 per cent.

STOCK GROWERS GIVEN POINTERS

Washington Official Says They Need Efficiency

Unbusinesslike Methods of Cattle Men Shown

Forbidden Counsel Scores Transportation Act

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Jan. 14.—Nine-tenth growers of the nation urged to practice greater economy in their business by Will Barnes, assistant forester, of Washington, D. C., in an address before the annual convention of the New Mexico National Live Stock Association here today.

"Of all the great industries of America, the cattle raisers are among the only ones that are on the upward grade," he told the meeting.

After a review of the industry and its problems, Mr. Barnes continued:

"There are two or three outstanding points where the cattlemen of the present day can meet the ever increasing costs of production by improved management, which will go a long way toward closing the existing gap between income and outgo. The answer is an increase in the calf crop.

"We but to study the figures of calf crop through the States to realize there is something radically wrong when we compare the range calf crop with a breeding cows is as low as

INCREASE SHOWN

"Recent service has gathered very impressive figures along this line, handling the range cattle industry. They run back over a period preceding 1924. The figures and tabulations show that where the average calf crop on the open range is fifty-five per cent of the breeding cows; in the Pacific Northwest it is 70 per cent, and in New Mexico and Arizona, forty-one. In the Southwest only 50 per cent of the owner's calves go up to cows is returned. Based on the investment, between forty-one out of every 100 breeding cows produce calves for him each year.

"In the old days, while no close records were kept, our calf crop in Texas averaged fully 75 per cent in the large herds. In Arizona it was higher. There are several substantial reasons why our calf crop should not increase, for it is due wholly to unbusinesslike methods of the majority of range stockmen in handling their herds."

Taking the "next point for interest is the question of 'free grass,' Mr. Barnes continued:

"In the old days when there was plenty of fresh range, the custom of holding steers to advantage was not a vital one, as a major portion of range cattle were marketed as threes and fours. As the ranges began to be fenced, we began to sell our long yearlings, and today there can be no question but that the man who sells his stuff at 15 or from eight to ten months old is the man who will get a profit on his year's business, if anybody does."

"A travesty on justice," was the way Sam H. Cowan of Fort Worth, counsel for the American National Live-Stock Association, characterized the workings of the Transportation Act and railroad rates charged shippers under the act, in an address before the convention.

"The shippers' rights are made subsidiary to those of the farmers," he said.

"Such was never the law until the Transportation Act was passed, because neither by common law nor by statute could a rate be considered reasonable which was in excess of what was just and fair for the shipper and the public to pay."

GAS TAX IN EFFECT

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 14.—There has been little complaint registered here against the new State gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon. The levy, which was effective on January 1, is expected to bring in $4,000,000 yearly to be used for good roads.

SHOALS BILL UP TO HOUSE

Senate Passes Underwood Leasing Act, 50 to 30, After Six Weeks of Wrangling

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—With final approval of the Underwood private leasing bill, 50 to 30, the Senate today got itself out of the parliamentary tangle into which it became enmeshed yesterday, and so washed its hands of the whole Muscle Shoals problem, temporarily at least.

The measure, after a tempestuous six weeks voyage in the Senate now goes to the House, which at the last session passed a bill accepting the offer of Henry Ford, since withdrawn. The procedure there remains to be determined. The bill either can be sent direct to conference, or can be referred to the Military Committee.

Friends of the measure are bending their efforts now to have it sent to conference between the two houses with a view to obtaining final Congressional action before this session expires on March 4, while opponents are laying their lines to have it referred to a committee in the hope that there will be no final action by this Congress.

Senate approval of the Underwood measure was brought about by a coalition of administration Republicans and a group of Democrats and came after Senator Curtis of Kansas, the majority leader, had conferred with President Coolidge at the White House.

Immediately after the Senate met, the Underwood bill was accepted for a second time, 46 to 33, as a substitute for the Norris government operation plan which had been approved yesterday, 40 to 39, over the Jones proposal to refer the problem to a commission with instructions to report next December.

With the Underwood bill back before the Senate, Senator Jones, the Republican whip, re-offered his proposal which displaced the Underwood bill yesterday but it was rejected, 43 to 15, ten of the administration Republicans who supported it yesterday deserting it today for the Underwood plan.

Although Senator Norris previously had announced that he would not again offer his bill to the Senate, opponents of the Alabama Senator's leasing bill did not give up the fight. Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, offered a substitute proposing to refer the Muscle Shoals question to President Coolidge for settlement without Congressional restriction. It was voted down, 59 to 29.

With this measure out of the way, the question came up on the final passage of the Underwood bill and this prevailed after Senator Norris had made a last plea to the Senate to withhold its approval. Opposing the Underwood bill on the final vote were thirteen Republicans from Western States; sixteen Democrats, most from Southern and Western states and one Farmer-Labor. Thirty-four Republicans, fourteen of them from Western States and sixteen Democrats, three of them from Western States, voted for the bill.

The Underwood bill, as finally approved, would provide for the leasing of the gigantic government power and nitrate plant on the Tennessee River to a private corporation for not more than fifty years, with government operation until a lease had been negotiated by the President.

The terms of the lease would be on a minimum basis of 4 per cent annually on the cost of construction of Dam No. 2, and of the hydroelectric machinery installed there. The lessee would be required to produce 40,000 tons of nitrate annually during the life of the contract after the fifth year from its effective date.

This nitrate would be converted into fertilizer during peace time, but in the event of war the government would have full authority to commandeer the property on five days' notice and convert it for the production of nitrate for explosives.

An added provision relating to nitrates, forced into the original measure during the whirligig proceedings yesterday, would provide the fertilizer experimentation for a period of six years, at the end of which the lessee could report back to Congress, if the facts in the situation warranted, that it was not feasible to manufacture nitrates for fertilizer without a loss. Congress then would determine the future with respect to this feature of the project.

University Site Body Will Hear Projects Today

Members of the committee investigating proposed new sites for the University of California, Southern Branch, are to meet at 10:15 a.m. today in the directors' room of the Security Trust and Savings Bank to hear the arguments in favor of twenty-six university locations which have been suggested, according to Henry W. O'Melveney, chairman of the committee.

Three of the proposed sites have been viewed by the committee, Mr. O'Melveney said, and the committee desires to hear the merits of all the others before further steps are taken to decide on a new location. In addition to a large committee, the resident regents, including Mrs. J. F. Sartori, Dr. John R. Haynes, George I. Cochran and Edward A. Dickson, are working on the proposed new site.

MARRON IS SENTENCED AND FINED

Ex-Assemblyman Given Two-Year Term and Must Pay $10,000 in Rum Case

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—Former State Assemblyman Edward Marron was found guilty of conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition Act late today, and sentenced by Federal Judge John Partridge to serve two years in the penitentiary and pay a fine of $10,000.

With Marron there were convicted two of his employees and two members of the police department, who were sentenced as follows: Police Sergeant Joseph Gorham, two years, $2500 fine; Patrolman Patrick Kissane, two years, $1000 fine; George Birdsall, thirteen months, $1000 fine; Charles Mahoney, $500 fine.

In the case of Mahoney the jury recommended that he be only fined, and a sixth defendant, Walter Brand, also one of Marron's employees, was acquitted.

The defendants were indicted following the charge that liquor was being dispensed at a store operated by Marron. The place was located on Kissane's beat, and his name appeared on a book seized by the arresting officers. Evidence was offered at the trial to show that Sergt. Gorham was present on one occasion when a drink was alleged to have been purchased, and made no effort to arrest either purchaser or dispenser.

PHYSICIAN'S WIFE DIES FROM GAS

Mrs. F. S. Chambers Said by Police to Have Ended Life at Rest Home

Mrs. F. S. Chambers, 36 years of age, wife of Dr. F. S. Chambers, physician, with offices at 417 Hollingsworth Building, was found dead in bed early yesterday morning at the Urban Rest Home, 3527 White House Place, with a gas tube in her mouth, indicating, police reported, that she committed suicide.

Mrs. Chambers had gone to the home suffering from a slight illness a short time ago, according to Mrs. M. E. Mack, proprietor.

A nurse, Miss Grace McDonald, told the detectives that early yesterday Mrs. Chambers had requested her to move her bed closer to the gas heater, complaining that she was cold. Mrs. Chambers was found dead some time afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers lived at 4350 Van Buren Place. The body was taken to the Bresee undertaking rooms.

JORDAN IN CITY FOR CEREMONY

Peace Award to be Given Friday Afternoon

Outlines Views on World Move Against War

Strenuous Program Ahead of Noted Educator

"Diplomacy is like a game of poker; nature changes when the guns are laid away," said Dr. David Starr Jordan, winner of the Raphael Herman $25,000 peace prize, last night, at the home of M. P. Waite, 2181 Hobart Boulevard. Dr. Jordan arrived from San Francisco last night.

The peace plan submitted by Dr. Jordan, which contains less than 5000 words, will be printed in the form of a book. This little book will then be distributed throughout the world, copies going to the hands of teachers, newspapers and given the broadest circulation.

The presentation ceremony will be conducted at the University of Southern California auditorium tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Dr. Jordan does not claim there is anything new in his peace plan; only the arrangement is different. One phase of its value lies in the fact that it does not have to go before Congress; and it is practicable.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING

"No single system or plan will ever bring peace," said Dr. Jordan. "A better understanding between nations is the biggest factor in bringing permanent peace. When the legality is taken out of war, and it is outlawed, as duelling has been, then we will begin to arrive at a solution of the peace problem. We must not only have the understanding that exists between neighbors but we must also be good neighbors. Jealousy and hate must go. It isn't some one thing that Congress can do or that any government can do; it is the getting together that smooths out these difficulties.

"Conferences are helpful because, though half the nations attending may be ill-disposed toward one another at the beginning, the meetings around that green baize-covered table — they always have that kind of covering — promote human relationships and understanding."

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

"If the League of Nations is a joint high commission without punishing power, then it will be an advantage for the United States to join it, but we will never be a determining factor," Dr. Jordan replied when asked his opinion on this point.

He is keenly opposed to any plan that has a punitive purpose and expressed his dissatisfaction with the protocol because it contains a punishment clause.

Dr. Jordan said he will use the interest of the $25,000 award for the promotion of world peace, investing the principal and holding until such time as it can be devoted to the best purpose. He does not intend to turn the money over to any society or fund. The noted California educator will be guest of honor at several social functions during the next two days, the first of which occurs at noon today when the Optimists Club will tender him a luncheon at the Biltmore.

NOTABLES ARRIVE

Prominent men from the East are here for the presentation ceremonies. Channing H. Cox, former Governor of Massachusetts, and Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the Education Journal, which will publish the first complete draft of Dr. Jordan's plan, arrived here yesterday. Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, president of the World Federation of Education Associations, under whose auspices the contest was conducted, will reach Los Angeles tomorrow morning. He is to give the main address at the presentation.

The Chamber of Commerce has arranged a luncheon in honor of Dr. Jordan, Dr. Thomas and Mr. Herman for tomorrow noon. It will be held at the Elite and more than 500 reservations have been made. The program is in charge of R. W. Pridham, president of the body, who will preside.

William Gibbs McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, will act as chairman at the presentation ceremonies tomorrow. In addition to the main address by Dr. Thomas, short congratulatory speeches will be given by Henry M. Robinson, Col. Milton A. McRae and Dr. Robert A. Millikan, three of the national jurors who declared Dr. Jordan's plan the best of those submitted.

MEMORY OF FRANKLIN TO BE HONORED

Editors and Printers Are Arranging Banquet; Other Observances Planned

Benjamin Franklin's birthday, Saturday, will be celebrated this year by a memorial banquet given jointly by the Southern California Editorial Association and the Los Angeles Club of Printing House Craftsmen.

Following in the footsteps of eastern communities which for many years have celebrated this anniversary, the printers and editors of Southern California have dedicated themselves to the task of bringing members of the craft and laymen as well to a greater appreciation of the work of this wonderful American.

Judge Benjamin Franklin Bledsoe will be the guest of honor and speaker at the Franklin banquet, which will be given at The Elite Saturday evening. Don Tyler, national victor in the oratorial contest last year, will repeat his oration "The Constitution" and musical numbers will be furnished by Harold Proctor, tenor; Florence Myers Engle, soprano, and Fred McPherson, baritone.

Every class in the Los Angeles schools will observe Franklin's birthday in some appropriate way. His philosophy will be reviewed in many pulpits next Sunday and some two hundred newspapers in Southern California will dedicate their editorial pages to Benjamin Franklin on the two hundred and nineteenth anniversary of his birth.

NIGHT RIDER NOTE FOUND IN OFFICE

Chiropractor Receives Warning Similar to One Sent Burbank Man

A threatening note similar to that received last Saturday by Jay Henry, Burbank grocer, was found by Dr. C. C. Peterson, a chirpractor with offices in Room 416, Arcade Building, yesterday, and was turned over to police for investigation.

The note, said to have been in a woman's handwriting, read, according to Detective Lieutenants White and Lyons:

"Your time has come. You and yours. We will visit you soon. The Night Riders."

It was left on a table in his front office, Peterson said, while he treated a patient in a rear room. He could give detectives no clews to the identity of the writer.

While Burbank police were guarding Henry's home yesterday for fear the Night Riders, as threatened in a note found tacked to the door of Henry's store, would harm him or his family, two setter dogs disappeared from his home mysteriously. Police believe the dogs may have been poisoned by the same persons who wrote the note. The disappearance of the valuable dogs, it is said, hits the possible theory that the note was the work of practical jokers.

The Burbank investigation is under the direction of Chief of Police Long and Detectives Stanford and Marygold.

Mrs. Howard's Obsequies Set for Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary A. Howard, wife of Judge Clarke Howard of this city, will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the undertaking parlors of Bresee Brothers, 855 South Figueroa street.

Mrs. Howard died yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Hurd, 1200 West Sixth street. She came to Placerville in 1884 from Waukegan, Ill., by the way of the Isthmus of Panama. She was first married to Truman Wilcox and after his death became the wife of Judge Howard.

Besides her husband and daughter, Mrs. Hurd, Mrs. Howard leaves another daughter, Mrs. H. W. Robbins; a son, Robert B. Wilcox, and three grandsons, F. Stoddard Wilcox and Warren and Richard Robbins.

TESTIMONY MISQUOTED

In a report yesterday of the hearing on the petition for alimony and custody of their 5-year-old child, filed by Mrs. Genevieve Louise Holton against Malcolm M. Holton, in the court of Superior Judge Gates, B. H. McDougall was quoted as relating on the witness stand some facts about a party in a school yard attended by Mrs. Holton and others. McDougall denied last night that he mentioned the party, but said this testimony was given by another witness. He said his testimony related to occurrences in the Holton home.

Cured His Rupture
I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you will write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 60 L. Marcellus Avenue, Manasquam, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—[Advertisement.

PALMER MAY BE TRENT WITNESS

Former Custodian Agrees to Appear in Hackfeld Case

Announcement is Made by Chief Defense Counsel

Honolulu Radio Censor Will Also be Called

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—A. Mitchell Palmer, former Alien Property Custodian, probably will be called by the defense as a witness in the Hackfeld sugar suit on trial here, in which former stockholders in the once powerful German sugar company in Hawaii are seeking an accounting on the ground that property worth $17,500,000 was seized during the war and sold for $7,500,000. The announcement was made during this afternoon's session in Superior Court by Attorney Oscar Sutro, chief defense counsel. Mr. Palmer has agreed to appear as a witness "if his health permits," Sutro said. Otherwise depositions are to be taken.

Walter Denegre, naval radio censor in Honolulu during the war, and Bradley Palmer, an associate of A. Mitchell Palmer, as Alien Property Custodian, also will be called, defense counsel intimated.

In further support of the plaintiffs' contention that Richard H. Trent, president of the Trent Trust Company, Ltd., as trustee for the Alien Property Custodian, conspired with leaders in the so-called Hawaiian "sugar ring" in turning the Hackfeld properties over to competitors at a price much less than actual value, it was brought out that the Audit Company of Hawaii, in which members of the "sugar ring" were heavily interested, was assigned the commission of auditing the records and accounts of the Hackfeld companies following their seizure. Trent said he saw nothing improper in this procedure.

MAKES ADMISSION

Holding firm to his contention that his sole object in recommending to Palmer the "unscrambling" of the reorganization of J. E. Hackfeld, Ltd., was to effect a reorganization "along purely American lines," Trent admitted that $7,500 of the 40,000 shares were in the hands of persons whose Americanism was unquestioned at the time he made his suggestion to Palmer. Trent refused to admit that the obvious course was to have furthered the sale of the remaining shares held by enemy aliens, as proposed by W. F. Dillingham, W. F. Frear and associates identified with the so-called "Dillingham reorganization."

Documentary evidence was introduced showing that Trent, early in these negotiations, suggested to Palmer the advisability of disposing of the seized Hackfeld properties at public sale, although the legality of such action still is unsettled by the courts or by Congress. Trent explained that he believed sale of the properties to be the best course because "anti-German sentiment in Hawaii in 1918 was so bitter that the islanders would not tolerate holding the properties in trust and turning them back to the owners at the expiration of the war, together with the enormous profits accrued."

Sale of stock in American Factors, Ltd., which subsequently took over all the Hackfeld assets, was not advertised outside Hawaii, Trent admitted. Previous testimony of the witness showed the American Factors' stock was offered the public only after one-half the total issue had been pledged to a syndicate comprised of the three principal competitors of the Hackfelds, i.e., Alexander and Baldwin, C. Brewer & Co., and Castle & Cooke.

Trent also admitted suggesting to Palmer that corporations be permitted to subscribe for stock in American Factors and further recommended that the 500-share limit suggested by Palmer be raised to 2000, as the amount any one individual be permitted to own.

The hearing will be resumed tomorrow before Judge Frank J. Murasky.

HEARING OPENS IN RUM MURDER

Self-defense Plea Hit by Location of Wound

Court Guarded Against Mob of Spectators

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 14.—A blow at the self-defense plea of Irving Denton and L. C. Bunton was delivered by Dr. Franklin Nusum at the preliminary examination of the two men for the murder of George Turner, so-called king of bootleggers, this morning. Dr. Nusum, who performed the autopsy, testified that the death-dealing bullet entered Turner's body from the left side, while the defendants have asserted that Denton shot from directly in front of Turner after the latter had pulled his own gun.

W. J. Ford, Los Angeles attorney, was retained to assist in the defense this morning and appeared in the justice court of C. E. George with W. P. Butcher, Jr., and Coleman E. Stewart, local attorneys retained by the defendants.

COURTROOM FILLED

C. K. Harder, chief inspector for the State Motor Vehicle Department, and E. L. Bruck, Los Angeles officials of the department, who have been appointed by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division, to investigate the Zimmerman "courtesy note" which was found on the body of Turner, were given reserved seats in the courtroom, while hundreds of eager spectators stormed the Courthouse just to get a glimpse of the defendants.

After principals and witnesses had been seated the courtroom quickly filled and three deputy sheriffs guarded the doors against the swarm that demanded entrance.

Owing to delay in opening the hearing only one witness was called by Dist.-Atty. Ward this morning.

Testimony intended to show that Denton and Buntin had gone to Turner's liquor cache near Summerland prior to the shooting for the deliberate purpose of hijacking it, was given during the hearing this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff John Longawa. Longawa said both defendants admitted this to him on the day following the killing.

The prosecution had not finished its case tonight when adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Henry Lambert, one of the youths who first discovered Turner's body; John J. Twitchell, who made the first investigation and Longawa, the first officer to arrive, were on the stand most of the afternoon.

Vincent E. Wood, a prominent automobile dealer, revealed a close acquaintance with the slain man when he testified that he was known to him both as George Turner and William R. Keefe and that he had heard him called "Dutch" Keefe.

The asserted confessions of both defendants were fully recited by Longawa over frequent objection of defense counsel. According to the deputy's testimony, Denton freely admitted he fired the fatal shot but said it was in self-defense.

The overcoat said to belong to Denton, was identified by Twitchell as one he saw in an automobile at the scene of the killing and he was positive that fifteen minutes later when he had returned to his butcher shop in Summerland to telephone the Sheriff he saw this same car speed by in the direction of Santa Barbara.

PROSECUTION WITNESS

Twitchell was a valuable prosecution witness and withstood the rapid-fire cross-examination of Attorney Ford without faltering. He also laid the foundation for the prosecution upon which Longawa later proved the existence of a cache of liquor within 400 yards of the killing.

According to the testimony of Longawa the two defendants in separate cars went to the cache on the night of the killing intending to hijack it, but upon seeing a third car drive up where their automobiles were parked, went back, believing it to be the Sheriff. There they encountered Turner and fired after the latter had drawn his gun, according to testimony.

According to attorneys the preliminary examination probably will be concluded tomorrow afternoon.

Harder and Bruck, the motor vehicle department investigators of the Zimmerman note, left for Los Angeles tonight to complete their investigation.

WRIGLEY'S SON TO BUY SPEEJACKS

Deal on for Yacht Which Went Around World on Ill-Fated Honeymoon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—The ninety-foot power yacht, the Speejacks, which made a trip around the world in 1921 carrying its owner, Albert Y. Gowen, and his wife, now divorced, Mrs. Jean Bouchet Gowen, will soon be the property of Philip Wrigley, son of William Wrigley, baseball magnate and chewing-gum manufacturer. Mr. Wrigley will go to New York Saturday to dicker for the yacht, and hopes to complete the purchase that day.

"If I am successful in concluding the purchase, the boat will be brought to Chicago as soon as possible," said Mr. Wrigley today, when asked about the proposed purchase. "What will be my first cruise? I can't say. It depends upon when I have time to take one, and how long a time I have for the trip."

The Speejacks was built at the order of its present owner, Mr. Gowen and measures ninety feet from bow to stern, with a seventeen-foot beam. Its gross tonnage is 100. It is sumptuously outfitted and furnished, and is considered one of the finest power boats in America.

Its world cruise, which was supposed to be a belated honeymoon for Mr. Gowen and his bride, but ended in the filing of a suit for divorce by the latter, was fraught with adventure. It covered 50,000 miles of ocean, and put in at many foreign ports.

SCOTCHMEN MOVE FOR FULL PINTS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLASGOW, Jan. 14.—The canny Scotsman has found that the pint bottles of ale, of which he is particularly fond, do not contain a full pint. So a measure is being agitated throughout Scotland to have the present "reputed" pint abolished in favor of the imperial measure. It might be mentioned the imperial measure is larger than the "reputed" pint—but the price remains the same.

Destruction of Liquor Stopped by Gov. Morely

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, Jan. 14.—Gov. Morley late today stopped the destruction of 200 gallons of liquor by John R. Smith, ousted chief of the prohibition forces of the State, a few minutes after Smith had attempted to destroy it.

Smith was relieved of his duties December 30 by the State Civil Service Commission, but was allowed to remain in office by Gov. Sweet.

When word leaked out around the State House this afternoon that Smith was planning to destroy the confiscated liquor, the Civil Service Commission rushed a letter to the Governor's office declaring that the position of Chief of the State Prohibition Forces of the State was vacant.

The Governor's office then notified Mr. Smith that he had no authority to destroy the liquor until a court order was obtained. Mr. Smith was apprised that he was not connected with the prohibition force in any way. It was said at the Governor's office that the appointment of his successor would be made tomorrow

BRITISH BURGLARS TAKE ONLY SILVER

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Jan. 14.—A master mind of a counterfeiting gang has linked his forces with burglars, is the police theory following a series of breaks in widely scattered sections of the British Isles in which only silverware was stolen. Other valuables, even diamonds and pearl necklaces, were left undisturbed.

Police can only assign this motive to the silver thefts as thousands of fake silver coins have been finding their way into circulation recently.

GIRL WEARS PAJAMAS IN CLASSROOM

Co-ed is Suspended When She Dashes to Session in Nocturnal Garb

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GALESBURG (Ill.) Jan. 14.—Knox College students were roused today when Miss Gladys Hackman, a junior, was suspended because she attended class in pajamas yesterday. Miss Hackman, who lives at Peru, Ill., awakened yesterday at 8:30 a.m., half an hour after her first class of the day had started. Desiring to reach the class, she donned shoes and stockings and covered the pajamas with her overcoat. She reached class late, but no one knew she had pajamas on under the coat, which was closely buttoned around her.

It was such a good joke that she later confided to a friend. Then the news spread and the authorities heard of it. They considered the matter briefly and announced Miss Hackman's suspension. Fellow-students were indignant at the suspension, maintaining the girl should have been commended for not cutting class. As far as one could see, there was nothing immodest about her garb. Miss Hackman asserts she will appeal her suspension.

If Quick Starting Was Enough

Any Good Gasoline Would Do!

Any gasoline can be made quick-starting—and most of them are. But there's much more than this to the matter of a proper motor-fuel.

FOR EXAMPLE: Non-detonating gasoline is quick-starting, but it has other and more important qualities. Its explosion progresses—with resulting power that is smooth!

A sort of "rain of impulses" falls upon the piston from the explosion of Non-detonating Union Gasoline.

And those impulses continue throughout the entire length of the piston's stroke.

This permits the motor to accelerate with a swift, vibrationless pick-up and to attain an even, gliding, streamless speed.

"Knocking" on hills, and in heavy pulls, also is minimized. Likewise wear and tear. The non-detonating thrust is strong, and saves the straining of the detonating crash.

Non-detonating Union Gasoline is refined from the best crude oils by one of the largest and best equipped oil companies. That is insurance of high quality, and your motor's best performance when this fuel is used.

Sold through Union Service Stations and independent dealers everywhere.

NEUTRODYNE popularized broadcasting

only radio system originally designed to receive music and speeches

IF YOU are among those who have been waiting for the ultimate in radio, a brief review of the facts should clear up many points in your mind as to what's what in receiving systems. Let's thumb through the pages of radio history and see what we find.

Radio, the modern miracle, went through the experimental stages faster than any other industry on record. A stabilized radio industry now finds four main systems of reception, the first three of which were originally designed for radio telegraphy and later adapted for modern broadcasting.

Then came Neutrodyne

The broadcasting of music and speeches as a public entertainment in the home was begun in 1920. Engineers immediately sought to adapt the three existing systems to the new conditions.

L. A. Hazeltine, Professor of Electrical Engineering at Stevens Institute of Technology, took the factors as represented by the new conditions and, by mathematics, worked out an entirely new system of broadcast reception.

The set built from Prof. Hazeltine's pencil figures worked perfectly the very first time! The principles established by this first Neutrodyne are the identical ones embodied in every Neutrodyne set which has since been built.

Corporation formed

In order to protect the public from fraudulent Neutrodynes, the Hazeltine Corporation was formed, and Professor Hazeltine entrusted his great idea to just fourteen hand-picked, licensed manufacturers. These fourteen radio builders are grouped into one association, known as the Independent Radio Manufacturers, Incorporated. They are listed below. No other manufacturers may use the genuine Neutrodyne principle!

Neutrodyne for satisfaction

The Neutrodyne system is as selective as a telephone switchboard. You set the dials at predetermined numbers and get the very station you want to hear, if the station is broadcasting at the moment. You get that station always at the same dial-setting.

Neutrodyne tonal quality is a thing apart. It reproduces with such realism that the illusion is created of being present at the original concert or lecture, miles away. Nor does the Neutrodyne set up squeaks and squawks. Mark this—if all sets were Neutrodyne, there would be no squealing.

If distance lends enchantment

If you cannot get a distant program with your Neutrodyne, take it for truth that nobody can get it with anything! Greatest of all is Neutrodyne's unfailing dependability. It always "comes through." You can invite friends without hesitation. You won't have to alibi or apologize. Be sure the set you buy is Neutrodyne. Do not confuse NEUTRODYNE with any other "dyne." Look for the Neutrodyne label. Uses either wet or dry batteries, and outside or indoor aerial.

Cold Snap Aids Miners; Larger Pay is Guarded

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MARION (Ill.) Jan. 14.—Hamson county banks have taken extra precautions to protect tomorrow's pay-roll money. This is the largest sum in many years. Its total is estimated at $600,000. The pay for February probably will exceed this figure.

The cold wave that hit the Middle West in December gave all miners work and their families very few idle days. Some mines have been forced to work Sundays in order to meet demands.

One or two of the mines that have been shut down for several years are making plans to resume work next week.

OFFICIALS ACT IN U.S.C. WAR TODAY

EXPECT RESIGNATION OF HENDERSON THIS MORNING

Conference Between Grid Mentor, Warren Bovard Leads Up to Move for Final Action

BY BRAVEN DYER

The present athletic administration at U.S.C., which has found Elmer C. Henderson, will end its regime this morning. Although no official announcement as to the change has been made, it is said that Trojan officials are to meet in the office of Lee Phillips, prominent alumnus, at the Pacific Mutual building at 10 o'clock this morning and when the confab breaks it is almost a certainty that the resignation of "Gloomy Gus" will be in the hands of those who want it.

Elmer Henderson

During the day during which the fate of men apparently hovered over the U.S.C. sector things began to happen. Not that anything happened, but it was not night. Forward, backward, at the Phillips home, at the Pacific Mutual building for those who were in the know, the day was one of conferences. Then, as the time for publication drew near, it was announced that the meeting would be postponed until this morning.

This morning will evidently bring things to a head and an announcement in regard to Henderson's removal will no doubt be made.

Henderson did not see Henderson Saturday until last night, as the latter was busy attending a series of meetings during the day while the coach was out playing golf. It is presumed that Bovard went to Henderson to talk matters over in which an amicable settlement might be made. Reliable authentic sources have it that U.S.C. wants to pay the coach his salary for the next two years and also give him a bonus, which would make the total he is to receive $14,-000.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

If U.S.C. does get Knute Rockne out here—and such a possibility must be admitted in view of the rumors and statements which are filling the sky like smudge after a frosty night—the Trojans can tell Prof. Von KleinSmid and Bro. Stonier to go way back and sit down and listen to somebody talk that can talk. Knute Rockne as a spellbinder can make either of the aforementioned speechmakers look as helpless as a deaf and dumb man with boxing gloves on in the dark.

Rockne would clean up one evil that lingers at U.S.C. and that is the one of alumni interference in athletic affairs. The boys who like to tell about the way they used to play football way back in the old days of the flying wedge will either keep their mouths shut or Mr. Rockne will coach someplace else. AFTER OPEN GOLF TITLE

Abe Mitchell, the hard-hitting professional from England, has a real desire to take the California open championship for a sea voyage, and all the experts agree that he has a mighty good chance of doing it. He is one of the favorites in the State tournament which opens today on the links of the Olympic Club in San Francisco.

BATTLE FOR OPEN GOLF TITLE BEGINS TODAY

MacDonald Smith Rules Favorite to Retain State Championship in 72-Hole Tournament

BY HAY CHAPMAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—The stage is well set for the fifth annual open championship of California, with a purse of $2500, which will commence with thirty-six holes play on the Olympic Country Club's two courses at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. The second round will start at noon, affording all players an interval of one hour for rest and refreshment. The players will start their second round with the same partners. Each pair will play both the ocean links and the lake course tomorrow.

The sixty-four players making the best total for tomorrow's thirty-six holes will be eligible for the final thirty-six holes to be played Friday, both rounds to be played over the lake course.

Charlie Sullivan will start the 112 competitors, the first pairs teeing off simultaneously from the first tees at 8 o'clock.

The gallery will probably favor George Duncan and Capt. Bullock-Webster, the California amateur champion, who leave the first tee of the ocean links at 9 o'clock. Ten minutes later Willie Hunter, perhaps the strongest hope of Southern California, accompanied by Eddie Twigg, will drive from the same tee. Abe Mitchell, one of the longest drivers in the world, will play with Johnny McHugh, who is hitting a longer ball than ever before, and they will take their first knock at 9:45. These two long hitters will doubtless attract many spectators.

MacDonald Smith still reigns as popular favorite to retain the title, which he won a year ago at the Los Angeles Country Club, when he conquered a strong field, leading Eddie Loos by one stroke, Abe Espinosa and Harold Samson by two strokes. Joe Kirkwood was fifth, four strokes behind the winner.

Mac will start tomorrow morning with George Nickel as playing companion at 9:20.

Upon the weather, and especially the wind, much depends on what sort of scoring will be accomplished these two days. It will take very fine golf to beat 300, although the par for the four rounds is 290.

SET DATE FOR BIG REGATTA IN JUNE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The annual intercollegiate regatta probably will be rowed on Monday, June 22, at Poughkeepsie over a three-mile course on the Hudson River with one of the largest fields in the history of the classic taking part in the varsity race.

This was indicated today in connection with announcement by Maxwell Stevenson, chairman of the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, that the annual meeting of the stewards will be held here the 22nd inst., to frame the regatta program.

LANDIS REINSTATES YANKEE BALL STAR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 14. — H. L. Haines, former outfielder of the New York Americans, tonight was reinstated by Baseball Commissioner Landis and was placed on the roster of the Yankees. Haines had been sent to the Louisville American Association last year, but was placed on the ineligible list when he refused to remain with the club, the deal falling through.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—James Crowley, star backfield man of the Notre Dame University football team, who is in a hospital here suffering from nervous and stomach disorders, suffered a relapse last night, his physician, Dr. John Galwey, announced today. He responded to treatment readily and was well on the mend today.

SANDOW IN ROW WITH 'BIG' MUNN

Strangler Lewis's Manager Doesn't Want Nebraska Man Called Champ

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Billy Sandow, manager for Ed Lewis, former wrestling champion, arrived in Chicago today, but up to a late hour tonight had not called upon Wayne Munn, Lewis's conqueror.

Sandow is en route to New York in an effort to straighten out Lewis's proposed tour of Europe, which became slightly "jimmied" by Ed's defeat.

He reiterated his threat to enjoin Munn from using the title "world's champion," but said the tour business came first. Lewis, according to Sandow, was today taken from the Kansas City Hospital to his home. The ex-champ is wearing a plaster cast on his back and it will be some little time before he wrestles again.

Kaufmann's counter to Sandow's threat is a demand that Lewis turn over to Munn the $10,000 championship belt. He hints he'll go to court over it. The belt went over to Stanislaus Zbyzko when he beat Lewis in New York and returned to the Strangler when Lewis beat the Pole later.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 14.—Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former heavyweight champion wrestler, had so far recovered from injuries suffered when he was defeated by Wayne (Big) Munn that he was able to walk about his home here today.

POLOISTS DIVIDE HONORS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Eastern and Middle West polo teams divided honors today in the first two games of the intercity indoor polo tournament here, Cincinnati defeating Philadelphia 15½ to 6½, while Brooklyn defeated Detroit 15½ to 9.

SCRAPPERS MUST EXPLAIN "WALKOUT" TO "COMMISH"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—The first test of the new State law regulating boxing will be made here Friday when six boxers from the San Francisco Bay district and the promoter of a boxing card which failed to materialize at Petaluma last night, are to appear before the State Athletic Commission and explain the nature of a "walkout" by six pugilists in the "egg city" last night.

William H. Hanlon of Sacramento, member of the Athletic Commission, stated here today that the boxers and the promoters had been notified to appear before the commission.

The Petaluma show was canceled last night because of the "run out" by six of the eight scheduled to appear on the bill. Walter Yarwood, secretary of the Athletic Commission, attended the "show" and announced that the boxers probably would be suspended. The six boxers named are Joe Herman, San Jose; Mickey Gibbons, Bud Anderson, Johnny Francis, Bobby Hollis and George O'Rourke, all of San Francisco.

Jess Adams is the promoter.

World Champs Sign For Vernon Fights

MAIER IS TO KEEP VERNON

Tiger Owner Not Expected to Sell Very Soon

Seraphs Have Strings Out for Two Twirlers

Lane, Vitt, Baum Look Over Bee Training Camp

BY ROBERT E. RAY

That Ed R. Maier would continue to own the Vernon franchise, at least until the middle or tag end of the coming season, was the consensus of opinion of baseball men following the completion of the annual Coast League meeting here without any announcement of the sale of the Bengals.

Bill Lane, it was said by one in the know concerning the offers to Maier, offered the Bengal owners the largest wad of cash for the Vernon franchise and it was turned down. By waiting until later to sell, it is a wide-spread opinion that Maier will have to take for his club considerably less money than he was offered by Lane.

The rumor that John Powers, former Angel owner, was going to purchase the Bengals was spiked yesterday with the announcement that he was not satisfactory to the Wrigley interests. Wrigley can prevent whomever he does not want from buying from Maier by refusing them permission to play in the new Angel park. Without an agreement to play in the Los Angeles park, the Vernon franchise is not half as valuable and those in the market for ball clubs are well aware of the fact.

It was also rumored yesterday that Walter Johnson and Jim Boldt would combine and purchase the Seattle franchise. Red Killefer, manager and part owner of the Indiana, killed this one by saying that he and Lockhard did not have their club on the market.

Bill Lane, having resigned himself to his fate of being the owner of the Salt Lake club, accompanied by Manager Oscar Vitt and Secretary "Spider" Baum, traveled down to Long Beach yesterday to look over things. The Bees will train at Long Beach and also play their first home week of the schedule in the municipal park there. It is expected that the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce will give Lane a guarantee for the privilege of having the Bees play at Long Beach.

Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Angels, announced yesterday that the Seraphs would in all probability trade Walton Cruise, the slugging outfielder purchased during the middle of last season from the Boston Braves, to an American Association club for a right-hand pitcher. Reichow said he was not yet ready to announce the hurler's name, but hinted that he was a veteran and one able to step right out to the Coast and pitch capable ball. Reichow also said that Marty Krug had the strings out for a southpaw twirler that worked in the international loop last season.

With the signing of Pete Thompson, local catcher, who had a tryout with the Cleveland Indians last year, by Marty Krug the Angels now have five backstops. At the most they will keep three and the question is, which ones are to get the ax. Gus Sandberg, Thompson, Ed Spencer, Joe Jenkins and Butch Byler are the receivers now on the Angel reserve list.

Tom Hickey and Harry A. Williams, president of the American Association and Pacific Coast League, respectively, will meet today in the offices of the former to sign the agreement making it possible for the winners of the two AA loop races to meet at the end of every season for the next five years in a "little world's series."

Back in 1919 Vernon and St. Paul met at Washington Park in one of these "little world's series" affairs with the Tigers winning out. The American Association has been after revenge ever since then and almost got it last fall when Seattle and St. Paul were to clash at Seattle. The Saints won the series opener decisively, but then rain came along and halted the whole thing.

Now that Manager Bill Essick is fairly certain for whom he is going to work, don't be at all surprised if the "Silent One" announces some trades or purchases in the next few days. Essick is not yet satisfied with his line-up and has deals on whereby the Bengals should profit.

As the San Francisco club owners recently announced they were going to build a new ball park to supplant Recreation Park, George Putnam and Charley Graham, part owners of the Seals, were out at Washington Park yesterday looking over the plans for the new Wrigley plant to see if they could pick up any new ideas.

JOE RIVERS TO FIGHT TONIGHT

Joe Rivers, who holds the distinction of being the only boxer ever to appear with a champion in a double knockout, will attempt to make a comeback tonight when he tackles Miguel Angel Baca, a tough lightweight, in the main event of the smoker being staged by the Atlas Club at 844 South Lucas street.

There will be six other four-round preliminaries. Bert Colima is to appear in a new role as referee.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

The little matter of supremacy between Fidel La Barba and Jimmy McLarnin is still unsettled as far as the average fight bug is concerned. Those who believe McLarnin was entitled to the decision on Tuesday night are equally convinced that La Barba did not put up the style of scrap that would bring home the bacon against a foe like the "Dublin Flash."

Personally, we feel that La Barba's tremendous margin of superiority in the eighth round more than offset whatever fine shade McLarnin may have obtained through his crafty boxing up to that point. Our round-by-round score sheet shows five for La Barba, four for McLarnin and one even—the first round—when neither boxer put a glove on his opponent.

Had La Barba torn into McLarnin early in the fight as he did in the eighth round it is very likely that he would have finished the racket before the ten rounds were up, or at least earned the decision. But up until the eighth round La Barba scarcely used his right, and he kept jabbing and hooking away with his left at a boy

MICKEY WALKER TO SCRAP HERE

Welterweight Champ is to Face Bert Colima

Kid Kaplan, Bud Ridley in Clash February 10

Paul Berlenbach, Knockout Flash, is Billed

BY PAUL LOWRY

Getting the jump on rival promoters and those proposing to promote, Jack Doyle has signed two world champions and lined up a championship contender for three twelve-round no-decision bouts at Vernon within the next two months.

The two fights featuring world champions are:

February 10—Louis ("Kid") Kaplan, new featherweight king, vs. Bud Ridley of Seattle.

February 24—Mickey Walker, cook of the walk in the welterweight division, vs. Bert Colima, the pride of the Pacific Coast.

The championship contender is Paul Berlenbach, the knockout sensation who was scheduled for a bout with Mike McTigue for the light-heavyweight championship last year, but was refused permission to box him because the New York Commission felt that Gene Tunney deserved first crack at the Irishman. He will probably fight early in March.

Berlenbach is coming out here next month, and it is believed Doyle will endeavor to hand some good Coast boy for him to tangle with in the enlarged Vernon cauliflower-ear palace.

Until Berlenbach, who won the national amateur heavyweight championship of the A.A.U. in 1921-22, ran into Bridgeport Jack Delaney and was kayoed in four rounds last March, he had a string of knockouts to his credit that looked like the interest on the German debt. He has come back since and one of his most recent

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Oakmont, 9; Santa Ana, 6.
Redlands-Palos Verdes postponed.

In spite of the moist climate which greeted the golfing contingents of the various country clubs yesterday, all but three of the matches in the intercity series were played as scheduled, and commendable scores were turned in in spite of adverse conditions. The Los Angeles Country Club's victory over the Flintridge brigade at Beverly was the outstanding event of the day, for Maj. Karnes and his cohorts advanced to first place by winning, 12 to 3, while Rancho dropped to third position by losing to Midwick at Midwick, 8½ to 6½.

The Hollywood-Annandale contest was postponed because of the weather, as was the Palos Verdes-Hacienda match and the Brentwood-La Cumbre affair, although all other clubs competed per schedule.

BEVERLY WINS

At the Los Angeles country Club the visitors were downed, 12 to 3, as follows: Everett Seaver and C. H. Palmer, Jr., finished all square with Bud Toscum and Ralph Reynolds, each combination winning 1½ points; Harlow Hurley and Frank Tatum defeated E. Coffin and Joe Hegeman, 2½ to ½; J. M. Arnell and Maj. W. L. Karnes of Los Angeles defeated Standish Mitchell and A. C. Thompson, 2 to 1; C. E. Smoot and Maurice McLoughlin defeated A. B. Cosby and L. Higgins, 3 to 0, and George C. Thomas, Jr., and George Barmore won from A. W. Maise and H. Robbins of Flintridge, 3 to 0.

RANCHO SLIDES

Midwick's revamped team turned in an 8½-to-3½ victory over Rancho in the match at Midwick in the following manner: Von Elm and Dr. Moulton (Rancho) defeated R. E. Hunter and E. S. Armstrong (Midwick,) 2 to 1; A. D. S. Johnston and G. P. Toms (Midwick) defeated E. Merritt and Bundy (Rancho,) 2 to 1; Eric Pedley and J. L. McDonald and Dave Jacobs (S. G.) 3 to 0; R. Tatum and F. Elliott (W) defeated Bacon and Getty (S. G.) 2½ to ½; Cook and Plank (S. G.) finished all square with B. Blackburn and R. Estes (W;) J. Chapman and W. D. Whelan (W) defeated McCann and Cheney (S. G.) 3 to 0.

California and Virginia staged a hard-fought battle on the former's links. C. M. Buck and J. Mescal (C) defeated A. C. Holladay and C. Cody (V) 3 to 0; R. Cawsey and D. Smith (C) defeated F. Hicks and C. M. Jones (V) 2 to 1; George Turnbull and G. D. Hodge (V) defeated G. Morgan and F. M. Slade (C) 2½ to ½; W. E. Kerrigan and C. P. Binder (C) defeated L. Bixby and A. C. Oakmont won three matches, halved one and lost one to Santa Ana's representatives at Oakmont, winning 9 to 6. J. S. Hayward and F. P. Davis (O) defeated W. G. Harris and G. B. Shattuck (S. A.) 3 to 0; T. D. Meddick and C. P. Barman (O) defeated R. Reed and A. C. Twist (S. A.) 2½ to ½; H. Skelton and B. H. Appure (O) defeated G. W. Cox and J. F. Parsons (S. A.) 3 to 0; M. B. FIELDS NO LONGER AMATEUR

The Olympic featherweight champion, on the right, yesterday joined the ranks of the professional leather punchers and will fight under the management of "Gig" Rooney. Rooney is in the center of the picture with Joe Schlocker, another of his boys and also an ex-L.A.A.C. athlete at the left.

JACKIE FIELDS TURNS "PRO"

Sole Hold-out Among Olympic Games Ring Champions Hearkens to Lure of Gold

Jackie Fields, the Olympic featherweight champion, is the latest of George Blake's boys to turn professional. He has signed a five-year contract with Willis "Gig" Rooney, according to an announcement by the latter yesterday and probably will be seen in action in a local ring in about two weeks.

Fields is the fifth Athletic Club boy Rooney has taken under his wing, the others being Joe Schlocker, lightweight; Al Allegrini, middleweight; Julius Jessick, lightweight, and Johnny Grella.

While Fields won the featherweight crown at the Olympic games last summer from a host of older boys he is too young to put on a steady bout diet and Rooney plans to use him only once every two or three months.

Fields is one of the cleverest boys Blake ever turned out and under brainy handling bids fair to develop into a topnotch money fighter.

In all probability the tidbit that will be offered up to fight lovers in the next fortnight or so will be a bout between Fields and Joe Salas, who won the national featherweight title from a big field which included Fields at Boston last summer. Tom Kennedy of Hollywood is said to be wild to land this bout, as are other rival promoters.

Nationalista and Navarro Mix at Harbor

Young Nationalista and Sailor Navarro, two classy little Filipinos, are booked for what promises to be eight bloody rounds of real scrapping in the main affair at the Chief Petty Officers' Club, Los Angeles Harbor, tonight.

In the semi-wind-up Young Burmay, who is just about as tough as they make 'em, will face M. O. Kelly. Burmay and Kelly are two of a kind in that they are both sluggers, and it would not be surprising to see the bout stop before the full six rounds are over. The rest of the card follows:

Special event, four rounds—Babe Harris vs. Max Campas, 126 pounds.
Second bout, four rounds—Sailor Ostler vs. Sailor Mohler, 126 pounds.
First bout, four rounds—Sailor Mato vs. Young Bellamy, 115 pounds.

COMMISSION IS SLATED TO MEET TODAY

Boxing Board Plans to Take Up Only Routine Business in Confab

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—When the State Athletic Commission meets here tomorrow business will be largely confined to routine affairs, according to advices received by Secretary Walter Yarwood from Seth Strelinger, chairman.

It is not believed there will be any action on important matters unless such action is precipitated.

A set of rules which has already been printed will be adopted and the commissioners will clean up such problems as the finances of organization.

It is said that few applications will be acted upon. There was some delay in securing the printed forms, and although they have been forwarded to applicants, few have been received in return as yet.

It is hardly deemed likely that the commission will define its policy as regards allowing champion boxers to appear in this State. Strelinger has announced himself as opposed. Bill Hanlon says he hasn't made up his mind and the attitude of Commissioner Almgren has not been explained.

Definite action is expected Friday on the boxers who "ran out" on the Petaluma show last night. They have been ordered to appear before the commission Friday, and unless they have some good excuses they will be refused licenses.

Paddock Will Display Wares in Exhibition

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLAREMONT, Jan. 14.—Coach Robert Strehle, Pomona College track mentor, announced today that Charles Paddock, internationally known sprinter, and former U.S.C. star, will run an exhibition race against several Sagehen sprinters, Friday, the 23rd inst., on the local track.

Paddock will also show his starting form to the ten or more sprinters the Sagehens have on this year's varsity and frosh teams. He will also give them suggestions on their running form, helping them in starting the season right.

Paddock's appearance will open the track season at Pomona. It is possible that two events of the Intra-Mural track meet will be held on the same date. Freshmen track men are already out in suits and varsity stars will open intensive practice February 1.

Spanish Teams Clash Behind Locked Doors

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BARCELONA (Spain) Jan. 14.—For the first time in history, at match for the football championship of Spain will be played tomorrow, with only the players and the officials inside the grounds. The gates will be locked and no spectators will be permitted to witness the play. The teams which will strive for the championship are those of the Club Espanol of Madrid and the Club Barcelona.

The Governor of the province refused to permit the public to attend, because of fear of trouble between Spaniards and Catalonians, among whom there is considerable bitterness.

FAST BASKETBALL IN KINGS COUNTY LOOP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Jan. 14.—The Kings county league of the California Intercollegiate Federation bids fair to present some peppy, hard-fought basketball games this year between the teams from Hanford, Lemoore, Corcoran and Coalinga. All the schools are playing A, B, and C teams. The first league game of the season will be played next Saturday at Coalinga between the Coalinga team and Crip Toomey's Hanford Hi bunch. On Friday of next week Hanford Hi mix with the Taft Hi at Taft, and the following day the Hanford Hi meet the Bakersfield teams at Bakersfield. Out of the three practice games, Toomey's men made a good showing, winning from Selma and Visalia, with results of a game against Lindsay yet to be announced.

BABE HORRELL MAY BE ROMAN MENTOR

Babe orrell, captain of the 1924 University of California football team, and rated as All-American guard by Walter Camp, may succeed Bruce Kirkpatrick as football coach at Los Angeles High School, when the latter quits his post in February, according to reports flying around yesterday. It was stated that Horrell wants to take charge of some California team. Since Kirkpatrick will be in the clerical department at Fairfax High, it will be necessary to find a successor. Horrell is being considered.

Hollywood Five Out to Topple Jefferson

DEMOCRATS IN TOUGH BATTLE

Leader Win Will Throw Loop in Muddle

Manual Arts Quintet Faces Lincoln Tossers

Polytechnic, Franklin Meet in Other Tussle

Having put themselves back in the running of the city basketball race by walloping Poly Tech's yellow-jackets Tuesday, Byron Cochran's lanky Hollywood forward, and his cohorts will attempt to further position more secure by defeating Jefferson's classy quintet in the fourth round feature on the Movie City court tonight.

Hollywood is rated as one of the strong teams in the city loop, despite the fact that Manual Arts holds the measure in their initial tilt.

Any team who will grab off the city leaders will cut a great deal on today's contest. If Coach Paige's Cubs fail to succumb to the Hollywood attack, it is quite likely that the Democrats will finish in the race for the hunting. On the other hand, the Foothill-ites may come out on top tomorrow, but will be thrown into a mud-dle with Poly, Jeff, Hollywood and Manual Arts recorded equal victories to date. Each team will get the silverware, but Hollywood undoubtedly has one of the strongest teams in the city this year. As shown by the way it has come through the Manual Arts and Lincoln defeats, the Democratic squad is playing its best ball of the season, two other victories would provide some insurance for a tie. Lincoln is next to Manual Arts and Poly is booked to meet Polytechnic in the latter's gym.

Coach Hale Blair's Toilers are also in the running by virtue of their showing to date; however, if Lincoln should turn in a bad day it would not be surprising to see the Ratliffites defeat the Artisans.

Jefferson is one of the strongest quintets in the league, should have no trouble with Franklin, the latter seeming to be the weak sister of the circuit this season.

"FLEET SPORTS"

Baseball will be ushered in by the Battle Fleet Saturday afternoon at Trona Field, when the nines from the U.S.S. Colorado and U.S.S. Idaho and the U.S.S. West Virginia and U.S.S. California tangle. On Sunday afternoon the U.S.S. Oklahoma horsehiders will meet the squad from the U.S.S. Maryland, while the U.S.S. Pennsylvania and U.S.S. New Mexico teams will also clash.

The West Virginia-California game, which will be played after the Colorado-Idaho struggle, is expected to be the high-powered event of the day. The West Virginia, a new ship in the fleet, brings her baseball team here with an almost perfect record of competition against East Coast teams, while the California lads finished at the top of the heap in the fall competition. The first games will start at 1 p.m., both Saturday and Sunday, with the second tilts getting under way as soon as the field is cleared.

The nasty sea knocked up by the northwester at the harbor yesterday failed to stop several Leatherneck whaleboat crews from pulling practice jaunts for the annual marines' challenge cup race, which will be pulled Saturday morning in the outer harbor. Eleven ships are expected to have entries in the mile and a half, classic to start at 10 o'clock.

There will be two important wrestling and boxing smokers in Battleship Division Four Saturday night, the two of them deciding the ring and mat championships of that division. The athletes from the U.S.S. Mississippi will meet the grapplers and mitt slingers from the U.S.S. California on board the latter ship, while aboard the U.S.S. New Mexico that ship's teams will mix with the U.S.S. Idaho squads.

The teams finishing winners in the smokers will meet the boxers and wrestlers of the U.S.S. Pennsylvania, champions of Battleship Division Three, about the 21st inst., it was announced by Commander E. W. Washburn, Battle Fleet athletic officer. The champion teams of Division Four and Division Five, i. e. the West Virginia boxers and the Tennessee wrestlers, will come together soon after the return of Division Five from San Francisco late this month.

Tomorrow night, at the Trona Field gym, the basket tossers from the U.S.S. California and U.S.S. Mississippi will meet in what promises to be the crucial game of the Battle Fleet season. The Californians have gone through to date without a defeat, while the lads from the Iron Man ship have dropped but one contest and are hounding the Prune Barge squad for first place.

OBSERVATIONS BY BILL HENRY

mands is to be let alone and he'll take the credit or the blame for what happens.

The wild Norwegian is a one-man coach. He has assistants to put the boys through their calisthenics and take some slight portion of the detail work from his shoulders but if any knowledge of any kind is due to be imparted to a member of the squad Knute gets out there and imparts it himself—which is a pretty good way of being sure that the player gets the right dope.

If Rockne should come out here and grab off the Trojan squad which hangs over to next year the chances are that the Trojans of 1925 will be a very different looking outfit from the Trojans of 1924 and likewise from the Notre Dame eleven of this year. Football such as the all-conquering Irish used this year isn't taught in a single season and the chances are that the Rockne eleven of 1925 would be playing a much simpler brand of the gridiron sport.

All the smart-crackers who have been worrying because Gus didn't use Frenchy Le Febvre and Bill Cook all year would just be hopping around like a flea on a frying pan waiting to see if Rockne used them, forgetting all the time that possibly Rockne would be using an entirely different system to which these players would be perfectly adapted whereas they possibly didn't fit very well into Henderson's idea of running a football team.

The sudden "popping" of the story that Henderson was due to depart from the position of football coach at U.S.C. has created more real excitement than anything that has happened here for weeks. One reason for the excitement is the absence of definite statements from anybody with the result that everybody has allowed his imagination to run riot and probably three-quarters of the rumors are without foundation.

Coupling of the Henderson situation with the triangular row between U.S.C., California and Stanford seems to be a little far fetched although, in the absence of any denial, it might be reasonably inferred that the two propositions were connected in some way. In all the statements and allegations we've ever heard from the Northerners Henderson was only mentioned incidentally.

It does seem evident, however, that the Trojans have definitely decided to dispense with Henderson's services and that it is not due to any wishes on the part of the demon coach. The best that Henderson has said is that if they think his resignation would do the school a favor he'll step right out—otherwise not. Likewise it seems pretty certain that Knute Rockne has practically agreed to come here. A statement that would settle the matter once and for all would quiet a lot of unnecessary noise and allow the football fans to go back to work trying to figure out cross-word puzzles.

ACT TO END TROJAN WAR

treat Henderson right, not only because he has done a lot for the university, but also because only by so doing, can they put Knute Rockne, the man sought to replace "Gloomy," in the right frame of mind. Rockne, it is said, won't come unless things are arranged here to suit Henderson.

A. J. Wallace, president of the board of trustees of U.S.C., issued a signed statement which is apparently released in an effort to quiet for the time being the various rumors which have reported everything from Henderson's resignation to the sign of Bill Henry as head coach. The statement asserts that Henderson has not been asked for his resignation. It also denies that Henderson is to go in order that peaceful relations may be restored with California and Stanford. In closing it states that when the board of trustees has anything else to get off its collective chests the public will be duly informed.

WANT TO BE FAIR

In talking with athletic officials at U.S.C. yesterday it became more evident than ever that Henderson is apparently going to be let out. Nobody would come right out and say so, but they did say that the university intended to treat Henderson right and that there was no desire to do him any harm in any move the officials might make. Practically everybody at the Methodist institution is emphatic in their declaration that Henderson has done a lot for the school and for this reason they want to adjust things as amicably as possible.

On all sides there is emphatic denial that the break with the Bears and Cardinals has anything to do with the apparent desire to remove Henderson. Reports have it that California and Stanford have demanded that U.S.C. oust the grid coach before any healing of the breach can be made. That apparently is not so. According to one official, the movement for Henderson's resignation and the truce with the northern institutions just happened to occur at the same time. They claim the false reports are not fair to Henderson and some drastic action may have to be taken in order to clear the matter up.

H. J. Stonier, secretary to the president at the Trojan institution, who went north with Bovard, was still in the Bay City, according to advices given out here last night. It is presumed that he is in conference with northern authorities in hopes of patching up difficulties.

Wallace's statement follows:

The board of trustees may or may not be conversant with all angles of the athletic situation, but this at least is true: that Coach Henderson has not been asked by the University of Southern California board of trustees for his resignation, nor has the question been up between the board and him.

The possibility of a reorganization of the athletic forces has been under consideration for many time, but quite without relation to such difficulties as have arisen between the two northern institutions and our university. Whatever may be done toward a reinstatement of the triple agreement, it must be understood that these matters are in no wise related to the future reorganization of the athletic staff of the University of Southern California.

Mr. Henderson's contract with the board of trustees is binding and in force, and the board recognizes that he has rendered a great service to our university, and his interests will be protected throughout.

When the reorganization plans of the athletic staff have been completed, a further statement will be issued to the public.

[Signed] A. J. WALLACE,
President Board of Trustees, University of Southern California.

CARD CAGERS IN SOUTH

Stanford Casaba Wafters Tackle Pomona Tomorrow Night and Meet Grizzlies Here Saturday

Andy Kerr and his Stanford University basketball crew will give Southern California cage fans a couple of chances to see them in action this week, facing Pomona on the Sagehen court tomorrow night, and then tangling with the local University of California Grizzlies at the Manual Arts pavilion Saturday evening.

According to all available dope, the Cards are not as strong this season as they have been the past two years, the ineligibility of Gordon Steele, their star center, hurting their chances of doing anything wonderful on the court during the coming season. With Steele unable to play this year, the Cardinals have had to search the ranks of the sophomores for a capable center. Jayred, who played good ball for the frosh last year, has been selected to fill Steele's shoes.

Capt. Dave "Cow" Oliva insures Stanford of having a good back guard, while Harry Shipkey, when he gets over the effects of injuries suffered in the Notre Dame grid encounter, will take care of the other guard position. Shipkey, however, will probably not be available for either of the games this week, so Mitchell will perform in his stead.

Ernie Nevers, the 200-pound Stanford fullback, who proved such a whiz on the court last winter, is another star still crippled with grid injuries. Ernie is packing a couple of weak ankles and will be given as much rest as possible in the practice season. Nevers may take part in both the Sagehen and Grizzly encounters should the going prove tough for the Cards, but otherwise Price, a former Long Beach star, and David will hold down the forward berths.

In their last practice game the Cards had a terrific time defeating Santa Clara, the final score being 15 to 13. The Bronchos were leading, 6 to 3, at the half, but could not hold their slight advantage. All this would seem to indicate that the Sanford outfit is not possessed with an extremely formidable offense, but maybe it was the Broncho defense which gives that impression.

Judging from the overwhelming defeat they suffered at the hands of Whittier last week, the Sagehens should not prove extremely tough for the Cards, but they may surprise and upset the dope. The Grizzlies, however, should give the visiting Reds a great battle, with both fives having an even chance for victory.

CLAIM GALFUND IS TOUGH

Welterweight Who Faces Billy Wells at Hollywood Friday Has Easterners Dodging Him

Harry Galfund, who boxes Bermondsey Billy Wells a six-round main event tomorrow night at Hollywood is the biggest surprise package that has been seen in Southern California boxing circles in many months.

Galfund is so good that it is said all the top-notch welters in the East are ducking him. Charley Harvey, manager of Billy Wells, speaks thusly: "We made a bad match when we signed to meet Harry Galfund at the Hollywood American Legion stadium Friday night. Little is known of Galfund on this Coast, but in the East he is considered one of the best welterweights in the country."

Charley Harvey and Billy Wells know all about Harry Galfund and how good he is. That is why Wells is training like he would for a championship bout. Harvey isn't taking any chances on dropping the verdict to Galfund.

The bout will go six rounds to a decision and the winner is in line for some sweet bouts, as there are any number of eastern welterweights headed for this Coast, among them being Mickey Walker.

There is every indication that Walker will be seen at the Hollywood Legion stadium before many weeks. Negotiations for a Walker bout are under way. If Wells wins decisively he may get a shot at any number of good ones. The main thing is to win Friday night.

In addition to the classy main event there are six four-round shots on the card. The four-rounders will again have their chance, Johnny Grella hasn't been able to break into the main-event class yet, but he is in the semi-wind-up Friday night. His arch enemy on this particulars occasion will be Herman Auerback, welterweight champ of Utah. Just how good Herman is no one knows, but if he gets over Grella he will find that his services are in demand.

wins was one over Young Stribling of Georgia.

Sandwiched in between the Kaplan-Ridley and Walker-Colima frays will be a scrap between tough Bobby Barrett, the sensational Philadelphia lightweight, and Dode Bercot, a rugged southpaw from the Northwest who has fought here before. Barrett is said to be an exceptionally tough egg and went out of his way a couple of classes to be knocked out by Mickey Walker last November. The Barrett-Bercot match is slated for the 27th inst.

It is not improbable that Berlenbach will meet Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia. Loughran weighs 160 pounds, and is about ten pounds lighter than Berlenbach, but held McTigue in a no-decision bout last year, and is rugged enough to stand the gait. Loughran has several no-decision battles with Harry Greb to his credit and is rated as a tough customer. He is scheduled to set sail for California next month.

Huffman Stops Eddie Trembly at Wilmington

Eddie Huffman brought the scheduled eight-round Wilmington main event to a sudden halt last night when he stopped Eddie Trembly cold in the third round. By stopping his opponent Huffman wound up a classy card and incidentally got revenge on Trembly, who defeated him some weeks back.

In the semi-wind-up Sailor Ritchie King, claimant of the all-Navy featherweight championship, defeated Sailor Masterino after six rounds of slam-bang battling.

In the fourth battle of the card Ray Moore stopped Sailor Franks, substituting for Sailor Borday, in the opening round with a series of rights and lefts that left the gob in a helpless condition. The referee stopped the uneven scrap.

Duke Potter scored another technical kayo over Young Hutchinson in the third round of the third bout, which was one of the bloodiest battles ever seen at Wilmington. Hutchinson started strong, but tired and was out on his feet when the referee halted the go. In the second fight Sailor Buddy Siegel won all the way from Ted Barton, who showed a world of gameness in sticking the limit with the hard-hitting seaman. Eddie Orsetti knocked out Jimmy Bolle in the third round of the curtain-raiser, though it looked as if Bolle simply flopped when the going began to get rough.

CENTRAL LEAGUE TO OPEN PLAY TOMORROW

The Central League prep school basketball season will get under way tomorrow, with games scheduled at Glendale, Monrovia, and South Pasadena. Glendale and Alhambra and South Pasadena are putting much-feared teams into the battle, and a hot contest for the league banner is looked for.

The complete schedule for the unlimited division of the league follows:

January 16—Alhambra at Glendale, Citrus at Monrovia, Covina at South Pasadena.
January 23—Monrovia at Alhambra, Covina at Citrus, Glendale at South Pasadena.
January 30—Monrovia at Glendale, South Pasadena at Citrus, Alhambra at Covina.
February 6—Alhambra at Citrus, Glendale at Covina, Monrovia at South Pasadena.

SUNDAY CLASH MAY FIX TITLE

Vikings Favored in Feature Soccer Battle

League Nearing End of Long Winter Schedule

Hollywood Men Play Scots; Thistles-Sons Meet

As the teams in the city soccer loop enter the home stretch with the Los Angeles Athletic Club and Hollywood tied for first position, the paramount question in the minds of most of the fans is "Can the Vikings stop the Mercurians next Sunday?" Reviewing last week's game, in which the leaders battled to a draw, and in which it was demonstrated that neither team possessed the punch to put over a win, so evenly matched were they, it appears as if some of the other entries will have to do the needful to break up the tie.

The Vikings have been singled out as the most logical team to accomplish this. While at present on even terms with the Sons and Scots, they are playing a better brand of football than either of these squads, and have, in fact, beaten both of them in recent games.

VIKINGS FAVORED

A glance at the dope sheet shows that the Vikes defeated the Sons, 2 to 0, and that the Sons held the L.A.A.C. to a 3-goal tie, and defeated Hollywood, 1 to 0. This record would seem to give the Vikings an edge on their rivals for this coming Sunday, and, according to the gossip in soccer circles, a defeat for the Mercurians would not occasion much surprise.

While the Vikings' chances of finishing on top may seem rather slim since they are now 7 points behind the leaders, or three and a half games, they give promise, however, of being a big factor in deciding the issue. If they can turn back L.A.A.C. Sunday, it will give Hollywood an excellent opportunity to forge to the front as the Movie City men play the Scots, a team they are favored to beat.

This advantage, even should it arise, might be but temporary, however, as the Vikings play Hollywood once more before the season has run its course, and inferentially a team that is capable of beating L.A.A.C. might be considered strong enough to put the skids under Hollywood.

For the moment, however, interest is centered on the attempt of the Vikings to send the L.A.A.C. tumbling from top of the league next Sunday. Kick-off will be at 3 p.m., and it is likely that a larger crowd than witnessed last week's games, which was a record for the season, will be in attendance.

Two other games will be played, the first in the morning between the Thistles and the Sons, and the second timed for 1 p.m., between the Scots and Hollywood. The Thistles signalize their return to the fold after a lapse of three weeks, during which time they have been rebuilding their team. According to J. Bain who has been nominated manager, the Thistles will be a much improved outfit.

All Over Wins in the Mad at Tia Juana Oval

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 14.—A rainstorm which changed track conditions resulted in All Over, a brilliant mudder, copping the feature event at Tia Juana today. Only four horses went to the post. The distance was one mile and one furlong.

When the showers came just before the race there was a rush of money on All Over, which was backed to .60 to 1. All Over trailed the field until the first turn and then got out in front and stayed there. Tracer, at outside prices, was second and the popular Cherry Tree, third. Eminent was the fourth entry.

Jockey McHugh boosted his record by bringing in three winners. Timely Thoughts, in the third; Hyanpom, in the fifth and Hilarity, in the seventh.

A bad spill in which five horses went down marred the sport. As the horses were leaving the barrier in a mile and seventy-yard dash of the second race, a blinding rainstorm suddenly came up. Swinging into the first turn Eyebright, with McCormack up, became confused, cut across the field and fell. Four others, Nas-Ta-Bags, Eunice Bailey, Tag Day and Lady Winfrew, fell over the prostrate runner, all losing their riders. Jockeys Craig and Hicks were badly cut by flying hoofs and had to be removed to the hospital. Other riders got off with a shaking up. The winner turned up in Silver Maid, owned by Arthur Brent. This one sped into a six lengths lead, thereby escaping all interference, and won as she pleased. She paid better than 6 to 1.

First race, five furlongs: Dr. Hare (Craig,) won; The Underwood (Pedley,) second; Harrigan's Hair (Wilson,) third. Time: 1:02.

Second race, mile and 70 yards: Silver Maid (Brent,) won; Sweet Mama (Fisher,) second; Billy Glenn (Edwards,) third. Time: 1:48.

Third race, five furlongs: Timely Thoughts (McHugh,) won; Sweet Mama (Tracy,) second; Lilita Shasta (Fisher,) third. Time: 1:02 1-5.

Fourth race, mile and one furlong: All Over (Edwards,) won; Tracer (Chacon,) second; Cherry Tree (Sherrin,) third. Time: 1:54 2-5.

Fifth race, mile and one furlong: Hyanpom (Gilbert,) won; Linsky (Edwards,) second; Gustafson (Murphy,) third. Time: 1:53.

Sixth race, five and one-half furlongs: Mimeta (Schaefer,) won; McCulloch (Schaefer,) second; Milk (Murphy,) third. Time: 1:08.

Seventh race, five and one-half furlongs: Hilarity (Gilbert,) won; Dr. Corbett (O'Donnell,) second; Rainer Belle (Pfeiffle,) third. Time: 1:08.

MINE BOY TO MANAGER

BUCKY HARRIS'S STORY BY HIMSELF

This is the eleventh installment of the autobiography of Stanley Harris, youngest major-league baseball manager in the history of the game and the victorious strategist and one of the outstanding players in the 1924 world series, in which his Washington club won the pennant for the first time. The rise of Harris from colliery boy to big-league manager in eight years is one of the most remarkable life stories America has ever produced.

Chapter 11

I FACE A BIG LEAGUER

BY STANLEY (BUCKY) HARRIS

Within three years from the time I marveled at the work of Donie Bush I played against a major league club myself. The New York Yankees booked a game to Scranton on an off day while on the way from the west. I had improved enough to get a chance on the club of minor leaguers and semiprofessionals selected to oppose them.

BUCKY HARRIS

Jimmy O'Neill, a member of the famous baseball family, played shortstop on our club. He later was with Washington and would have made a name for himself in the big leagues but for a long and serious illness. He was a far better shortstop than I. They put me on third base. I would have played any position in order to get a chance to perform against the major leaguers.

That was the first time I ever saw Roger Peckinpaugh in action. He impressed me quite as much as had Bush. He started three double plays. I marveled at his deftness. Nothing was farther from my thoughts than that he and I would some day be working side by side, and, along with Joe Judge, get in the record books for two-ply killings.

Peck was a great infielder then. He is a better one today. Few shortstops in the history of the game have had his uncanny knowledge of batters. He has a wonderful pair of hands, can throw accurately from any position, and is always a dangerous man when at bat in a pinch. Above all, he has the truly great player's temperament. He never quits. The greater the emergency the better he arises to it. I need only refer to his playing in helping Washington win its first pennant and world series to make my point clear. Unless I am greatly mistaken, he has several more years as a star ahead of him.

But to return to my first appearance against a major league club. I didn't get into the game until the last four innings. For a time it didn't look as if I would be used. I was on the bench in uniform, however, and that meant I was getting somewhere in my ambition. When Bill Coughlin, manager of the Scranton club, told me to "Get in there and let's see what you got," I couldn't have been more pleased had he willed me a fortune on the spot.

112 POUNDS OF HOPE

The game was only an exhibition contest to the Yanks. I know none of them even asked the name of the gawky, awkward 112-pound lad who took his place on third base at the beginning of the seventh inning. But to that youngster it was the most important day of his life. I was at last actually in a game with big leaguers.

I have had my share of thrills since, such as earning a regular berth with Washington, being named as the youngest big league manager in the history of the game, winning a pennant and topping it off with a world's championship. I can truthfully say none of them could touch the joy I felt when I was ordered to "Get in there and let's see what you got."

Truth to tell, when the game ended with the Yankees 5-to-2 winners in ten innings, I didn't think I had very much. I was nervous as a cat, and tried to hide my feelings by a constant stream of chatter. Fortunately, I didn't have a hard chance. Only two balls were hit at me. Frits Maisel contributed one and Hughie High the other. Both should have been easy outs.

Nervous as I was, however, I just did get them going to first. Tony Walsh was playing the initial sack for us. He saved me on both plays. Maisel was a fast lead-off man, as I knew by reputation, and I hurried my throw on him. When the ball left my hand I was sure it was headed for the stands. Tony had to jump high. He came down with his foot on the bag just a stride ahead of Maisel. Later he made almost the same sort of a play to retire High.

"Dazzy" Vance, now the star of the National League pitchers, had just come up with the Yanks at the end of the Nebraska League season. He had had a good year with Hastings. He pitched the last four innings against us, relieving Ensign Cottrell. I faced him twice. His speed had me tied in a knot the first time. The second time up I rapped sharply over second. Peckinpaugh robbed me of a hit by a great stop and a wonderful throw. I felt good to think I could even connect against big league pitching.

I must have shown some of the earmarks of a professional prospect, for immediately after the game Coughlin tried to sign me to a Scranton contract. He didn't have a blank form handy, and wrote out the terms of an agreement on the back of an envelope. They called for $135 monthly for six months if I made good.

At the time I was a full-fledged weighmaster in the Butler Colliery and making a bit more than $12 a week. Coughlin's proposition would net me more than a year's work in the mine—provided, of course, I made good. I didn't think of possible failure, but I wanted to talk the matter over with mother, Merle and Tony Walsh before I decided. I had all the winter in which to make up my mind. Coughlin agreed to the delay.

I informed Tony of the proposal on the way home. He told me it was a good thing I hadn't sewed myself up with Scranton. "I heard Hughey Jennings had a scout there looking you over," he said. "Maybe you'll get a chance with the Tigers next spring."

Later I heard the scout reported to Jennings that I was too small for the big leagues. That night, however, I was treading on air when I reached home. I told my mother all the good news and gave her the $20 I got for playing to buy a dress. She banked the money for me. That night she and I celebrated by going to the movies.

MARINE BOARD TO OPEN DRIVE

Manager of Exchange at Port Tells of Plans

Increase of Steamship Lines' Patronage is Aim

Yachting Party Returns With Tale About Whales

Forty million dollars are being expended in Los Angeles yearly by steamship lines, according to Maj. C. A. James, manager of the Marine Exchange of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Portentous as it is, the exchange is not content with the amount, and one of its projects outlined for the new year will be the opening of a campaign for increased disbursements in the purchase of ships' stores and supplies by the steamship lines calling at this port.

Maj. James said this campaign is one of several projects contemplated by the exchange this year, and made possible through the appropriation by the Harbor Commission two days ago of $300 a month for the exchange for the fiscal year starting last July.

BAY CITY FAVORED

Indicative of greater possible expenditures here, Maj. James points to the fact that although more ships visit Los Angeles than San Francisco, lines spend approximately $30,000,000 in the northern port.

"A large part of the expenditures being made at present at Los Angeles are for fuel, oil and other bunkers," James said. "It is our program, however, to launch a campaign with all steamship lines for purchases from local merchants of ship stores in a degree more in keeping with the amount of business, both passenger and freight, which this port is now providing to these lines calling here."

Other important projects for the exchange, developed to buxom proportions in its short existence of one and a half years, will include the publication soon of a comprehensive port directory, embracing various interests related in any way to shipping, for wide distribution among world ports. For the first time, it is said, a directory will be issued with names of many business firms and shipping enterprises, which at present can be located only by reference to various telephone and other directories.

LOCAL DRIVE, TOO

There also will be undertaken an extensive campaign among shippers and receivers of freight, both in the uptown and the harbor districts, for the handling of shipments on a cost and freight basis, so as to bring about payment of several hundred thousand dollars a year to local insurance underwriters, which is now going to underwriting firms in other cities.

A powerful marine glass, which meager revenues heretofore forbade, now will be purchased for proper sighting and notification of ship arrivals at this port. It will cost $300.

According to Maj. James the operation of the Marine Exchange to date has met with a deficit of approximately $16,000, which has been carried by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce out of other purposes. He expressed the hope that with the expiration of the Harbor Commission appropriation June 30, the exchange may be entirely self-supporting from revenues derived through special service given the shipping interests.

YACHT PARTY BACK FROM PLEASURE CRUISE

A school of seventy-five big California whales which swam so close to the yacht Sea Urchin that those aboard could almost reach out and pet them, was described yesterday by F. S. Aregood, owner, on return of the craft from a pleasure cruise to San Quentin, Lower California, yesterday. The whales followed the yacht for hours, playing tag with each other directly astern of the boat. The party was gone thirteen days, motoring to Ensenada and taking the boat there. They brought back tales of unlimited quail, ducks and geese, and of landing a couple of big yellowtail and bluefins. The party was composed of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Aregood, Mr. and Mrs. John Lowenbruck, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Leonard and H. H. Townsend, all of Hollywood.

SAN PEDRO CHAMBER AGAINST SENATE BILL

San Pedro Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday went on record as opposing a bill now in the United States Senate, which would place all vessels above fifteen gross tons, propelled by any mechanical power other than steam, under laws governing the steamboat inspection service. It is said it was hoped the bill would work hardship on local fishing and tug boat interests. Other persons, however, who have studied the bill, say it would merely subject fishing boats to life-saving provisions on vessels already under inspection, and place motorboats in the same class as steam vessels, and would not affect the local fishing boats or tug boats.

The new British motorship Awarul, largest afloat, to dock here from England on the 20th inst., is due to touch in Victoria, B. C., where she will inaugurate a new service for the United Steamship Company, Ltd., of New Zealand, between Australasia and British Columbia. She is to stop here for bunkers. Aboard the vessel are 450 passengers, including several noted British shipbuilders, who are headed by Sir Alexander M. Kennedy, managing director of the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company of Scotland, which built the motorship. Engaging in said to be watching the trip with much interest, as its success may revolutionize future construction of vessels abroad, heretofore dominated by the steam ups.

Eight intercoastal freighters and coastwise lumber carriers, which have been bar-bound at Coos Bay, Oregon, for the past few weeks, have crossed the bar, according to word received here yesterday, and are expected to pass the latter part of the week. They include the Garland Intercoastal freighter James B. Duke, the Transmarine freighter Socrates, both with lumber for the Atlantic Coast, and the Los Angeles-bound lumber carriers Astoria, Trinidad, Quinault, Oregon, William Dollar and the Forest King. The motorship Loma, Capt. S. Benson, escaped across the bar as the storm approached and is now discharging lumber here. Capt. Benson said it was one of the severest passages in years.

Raymond G. Smith, former instructor of pathology at Amherst College and later engaged in plant eradication work at Oahu, has joined the local staff of the State Bureau of Plant Quarantine to an inspector, it was announced by A. P. Blanchard, inspector in charge, yesterday. He succeeds C. M. Jamison, who left the first of the week to become entomologist for the state of Georgia.

The Canadian Pioneer to dock next week from Antwerp with a full cargo for European merchandise at the first vessel in a new service operated by the Canadian government merchant marine between Antwerp and British Columbia, she will discharge 1000 tons here. Following her will be the Canadian Importer and other steamers, now sailing from Victoria every five weeks.

The Stanley Dollar will inaugurate the Dollar Line's new terminal, Berth 238-A, Terminal Island, on the 19th inst., when she arrives from the east coast with a capacity cargo. The vessel will discharge 1000 tons here, according to R. E. McDonald, dock agent of the line. Both passenger and freight steamers of the line will use the new terminal following the Stanley Dollar, McDonald said.

HOUSE PASSES M'FADDEN BILL

Measure to Revise Banking Law Goes to Senate

Proposed Act Expected to Aid National Institutions

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The House late today passed the McFadden bill, which would revise the national banking law.

As sent to the Senate the measure carried the Hull amendments, dealing with branch banking, all of which were accepted by Chairman McFadden of the Banking Committee, author of the bill.

The bill was passed by a standing vote of 172 to 63, after the House, by a roll call of 235 to 90, had rejected a motion by Representative Black, Democrat, Texas, to recommit the measure for addition to it of a series of amendments, sponsored by him and Representative Steagall, another Democratic member of the Banking Committee, which previously had been turned down. One of the amendments adopted today, offered by Representative Wingo of Arkansas, ranking Democrat on the committee, struck out a section which made the following acts crimes punishable under Federal statutes: Conspiracy to boycott, blacklist or cause withdrawal of deposits from banks holding membership in the Federal reserve system; robbery or burglary of a member bank; making intentional false statements for the purpose of obtaining credit from a member bank, or fraudulently dissipating or selling personal property upon which there is a mortgage to a member bank.

Mr. Wingo and supporters of his motion contended that all the crimes enumerated were punishable under State laws and that prosecution should be left to the State courts.

The bill, the banking policy of which has been indorsed by the National Association of Credit Men and the American Bankers' Association, is designed to put national banks on a better competitive basis with State institutions, particularly with regard to maintenance of branches, as reported to the House, the measure gave national banks the right to maintain intracity branches where State banks are permitted to do a branch banking business, but the amendments put forward by Representative M. D. Hull, Republican, Illinois, which the House accepted, placed restrictions on the maintenance of these branches.

Among other things, the Hull amendments provide that in States hereafter legalizing branch banking, national banks must obtain authority from Congress before establishing branches to meet State banking competition. In such instances, State banks would be denied privileges of the Federal reserve system until national banks were accorded the right to compete with branches on an equal footing.

Passage of the McFadden bill paved the way for consideration tomorrow by the House of the $39,000,000 rivers and harbors authorization bill.

RAILROADS URGE CUT IN INTEREST

Executives' Counsel Talks to Senate Committee

Plan Suggested as Means to Avert Great Disaster

Secretary Mellon Agrees on Reduction Benefit

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Reduction in interest rates on debts to the government by several railroad systems as a means of "keeping the country from a great financial disaster" was urged today before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee by Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the American Railway Executives' Association.

The systems mentioned were the New York, New Haven and Hartford, the Boston and Maine, and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Secretary Mellon agreed with spokesmen for these roads that the government should cut the interest rate by 1 per cent or more.

"All the government's interests would be benefitted by stabilization," the Treasury head said. He disclosed that the three roads owe the government $194,000,000, and that other roads owe a total of $161,000,000.

H. E. Bryam, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, said that unless his road can obtain an extension of the $48,000,000 bond issue next June, it was faced with a receivership.

The McLean bill, which was to fix the interest at 1-4 of 1 per cent above the average interest paid by the government on its borrowings, he said, would assure bond holders that the road would be able to keep up the interest on bonds and enable the road to approach them for a renewal.

Since 1917, Mr. Bryam said, his line has earned interest on its indebtedness in only one year, 1923. It owes the government $55,000,000.

Secretary Mellon told the committee that a reduction would be suitable since the cost of borrowing money to the government is steadily decreasing.

SAFIR TELLS OF PAYING MEANS

Mental Processes in Bribe Case Outlined

Witness Says Money to be Split Five Ways

Rosenblatt Testifies of Letter to Felder

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Samuel M. Safir, Chicago sales manager and promoter, explained on the witness stand in Federal court before Judge Walter C. Lindley this afternoon something of the strange mental processes that led him and his associates in the Glass Casket Company defense in 1923 to part with $55,800 to strangers who promised to fix their case for them in Washington and New York.

Safir, who is under sentence to two and one-half years in Atlanta prison, was the first to reveal this conspiracy in which Gaston B. Means and Col. Thomas B. Felder, criminal attorney, are charged with accepting this money to bribe former Atty.-Gen. Daugherty and United States Attorney William Hayward of New York. Mr. Hayward is a former secretary of the Republican National Committee.

It was stated today in testimony by Safir and by Samuel Rosenblatt, who was cross-examined nearly all day by Attorney Frank P. Walsh, that this $55,800 was to be split five ways, according to the tale Means told them.

THREE NAMED

Three names were mentioned. They were Daugherty, William J. Burns and Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Mellon, as well as Mr. Daugherty, may be called in this case by the defense.

"After our arrest in Chicago," said Safir, "I employed Attorney Joseph O. Kostner and then came on to New York. I had an attorney here, Tom McGrath. Kostner called me on the 'phone while I was in New York and told me that Rosenblatt was in touch with someone in Washington who could settle the case. I told Kostner to use his own judgment about going to Washington.

"A few days later Kostner, Rosenblatt and the others came to New York. They had been to Washington. Kostner said it sounded like a fairy story but that he had been to the White House or the Capitol or somewhere and had met Gaston Means, with his feet on the table, and all they wanted was money to fix it. He said Means objected to attorneys because after Morse had been released from Atlanta, after a large figure had been agreed, upon, he walked into Means's office and put his finger to his nose and would not give him a nickel.

AGREE ON FIGURE

"I called in our associates for a conference and Kostner told them all about it and the percentage which each was to pay was agreed upon. We suggested that Kostner go back to Chicago and find out more about Means. We were not going to put up anything until books and papers were returned. Kostner, called from Chicago and told about the demands of Elmer Jarnecke for $20,000 at once for Means. Kostner cut them to $10,000. I went to my wife and brother and borrowed and the others did the same and we got busy and got the money. Then came this Felder proposition. He was to be taken in to make it all look regular. I found out through a friend that he was very close to Daugherty.

"We saw Means in New York. He was busy on a liquor case. Kostner followed him to make sure he went where he said he was going. He said he could kill all complaints against us when we were operating again and he could get the privacy of the grand jury and ask for a no bill. He talked of other cases that he had handled. He wanted the rest of the $55,800."

STORY STOPPED

"He told of the five-way split and said that each one had to chip in to the Republican national fund. Kostner said it looked like we would have to pay the $55,800. While we were in Mr. Felder's office a 'Mr. A' of Chicago was announced. Felder told us that was Mr. Ader."

Safir's story was stopped here for the day.

Rosenblatt explained how he came to write a letter to Felder on December 7, 1923, in which he stated that he had employed Felder only in a professional way and that he had not paid him to do anything improper.

RACE-TRACK QUEEN HERE TO FORGET

English Woman, Recently Divorced, Lured by Tales of Palm Beach

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Britain's only woman bookmaker, who says she handles annually $25,000,000 of other people's money in race-track betting transactions, came to America today bound for Palm Beach where she hopes to play hard enough to dim the memory of her recent divorce-court experiences.

She is Mrs. Helen Vernet, who, although she confesses to more than fifty years, has the vivacity of a girl. She has just divorced her husband, a member of the London Stock Exchange, whom she considers, after fourteen years of marriage "one of the loveliest and most charming men in the world." She took a sporting view of it.

"We just couldn't make a go of it, and when that happens I think it best to separate," she said simply. She said she would spend a few days in New York and then make for Palm Beach in search of warm weather and surf. Explaining that she was a "bit of a spendthrift" she speculated on the length of her stay at the Florida resort.

"I hear it's expensive," she said, "If I get a streak of spending I may have to start for home in a week. I often go broke. Other years I have gone to Monte Carlo on holidays, but I always lose and go home without a penny. But it's all in the game."

Bookmaking, she said, was "jolly good sport." She became a bookmaker twelve years ago when she found she could not make enough money in her modiste shop. She originally accepted bets from women only, but she asserted she now had far more customers among men than women.

ATTACKS ON CALIFORNIA ANSWERED

Propaganda Concerning Tourists and Taxation in State Arouses Lack

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—M. D. Lack, secretary of the State Board of Equalization, today took cognizance of what he declared was propaganda published in newspapers of neighboring States to the effect that tourists were warned "that they can be taxed in California on all they own" under a new law.

In a statement Lack declared "the fact is there was no law adopted by the people at the last election which brings into taxation any property that has not been taxable for many years. Neither does this nor any other law of California make the securities or intangible property of 'nonresidents,' 'tourists,' 'sojourners,' or 'temporary visitors,' as these articles style them, taxable in this State.

"The purpose of the constitutional amendment referred to is to relieve securities of California residents (securities of nonresidents not taxable) of a very large percentage of the tax to which they are now and for many years have been subject."

CAPITAL BUILDING PROGRAM INDORSED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary Mellon, in a letter to Representative Elliott of Indian, acting chairman of the House Public Buildings and Grounds Committee, indorsed the bill proposing expenditure of $25,000,000 annually for six years for public buildings and grounds. Mr. Mellon added that he was authorized to say the measure was "not inconsistent with the financial program of the President."

NEW ANGLES IN DAVIS CASE

Investigation Into Asserted Sale of Pardons Is Continued; Other Releases Under Fire

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Jan. 14.—Investigations by State and county officials, seeking to throw light on the alleged illicit bartering for pardons under the administration of former Gov. Jonathan M. Davis were continued today on a sweeping scale. But as yet, no formal charges have been filed other than the bribery proceedings started Monday against the former Governor and his son.

The Attorney-General's staff has turned over to the county attorney a collection of affidavits, assembled in its investigations and the two offices are co-operating in gathering evidence.

One of the angles under the searchlight is the avenue by which Volney O. Johnson, convicted banker of Auline, Kan., obtained his parole from former Gov. Davis shortly before Christmas. A member of the Attorney-General's staff left today to look into reports that Johnson "bought his way" out of the penitentiary.

Affidavits charging that Ernest Bartholomew of Wichita was offered his release from prison for a consideration of $1250 were turned over to Ed Rooney, assistant county attorney, today. Bartholomew, who was the son of a wealthy furniture merchant of Wichita, was paroled the 9th inst., the day after his father, according to the charges, paid the money.

Reports that the affidavit involved "Democratic State officials" were declared false by Attorney-General Griffith. He said no State officer was named. It was asserted at the County Attorney's office that D. C. Johnson of Kansas City, former Kansas penitentiary guard, who was linked with the expose of the alleged bribery of Gov. Davis's son by Fred Pollman, had received the money from Bartholomew.

BRYAN CHARGED BY STATE ENGINEER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Jan. 14.—Nebraska's Republican Legislature today showed no disposition to act on charges made against Charles W. Bryan, Democratic former Governor, by George E. Johnson, former Republican State Engineer. Mr. Johnson had challenged Mr. Bryan to prove before a legislative committee his charge of irregularities in the State road department two years ago.

In a letter to the Legislature, read to the House this morning, Mr. Johnson alleged Mr. Bryan had violated the State Corrupt Practices Act in connection with the gubernatorial campaign in 1922 and accused him of making "a great many thousand of dollars' profit" in the sale of coal by the State.

Former Gov. Charles W. Bryan this afternoon classed as "absurd," the charges made in a message to the House, this morning by Representative George E. Johnson that he was guilty of serious improprieties before and during his tenure of office.

The Modern Bed!

No Space Wasted—Out-of-the-Way During the Day

There's no space to spare in the home of today. Why let old-fashioned beds take up all the room? You only use them at night. Get a modern bed—that can be rolled out-of-sight.

The only difference between a Holmes Roll-A-Way and an old style bed is the portability of the former. The Roll-A-Way is as comfortable—as substantial—as you can ask. Yet it can be raised or lowered with one finger. A child can roll the bed to a closet or another room.

For fifteen years the Holmes Disappearing Bed Company has manufactured beds of all types. And we assure you that no other bed equals the Roll-A-Way for strength, comfort, convenience and economy.

You can examine the Roll-A-Way Bed—priced at $55.50, $62.50 and $72.50—in the Holmes display rooms at 618 S. Main Street, on the ground floor of the Pacific Electric Depot. A complete exhibit of all types of disappearing beds—well worth a visit.

CANADIAN SCHOOL ATTENDANCE HIGH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—Canada believes in education. Census bulletins show that 89.10 per cent of all children between the ages of 7 and 14 in the Dominion, or 1,344,371 out of a possible 1,503,346 youngsters, attended school last year.

A growing tendency toward lengthening the period of attendance at school, the bulletin points out, is shown by figures which set forth that 61.7 per cent of all persons in Canada between the ages of 5 and 19, or a total of 1,633,917 young people, were registered in educational institutions during the year.

Ontario has the best educational record in the Dominion. Out of 452,750 children in the Province between the ages of 7 an 14, 415,347, or 91.8 per cent, attended school. Divided into urban and rural scholars, the urban percentage was 92.6 and the rural 89.6.

When Nature Needs Urging

Most drugs force nature, do not assist her. This is wrong. It is unnatural and harmful. The intestinal tract becomes trained to look for this forcing. It becomes lazy, will not perform naturally. A dangerous habit is created.

Nature herself has provided a harmless means of assisting herself. From the earth pours forth a spring of remarkable mineral water—Veronica Water. Like all pure water Veronica is harmless for it is bottled just as it comes from the springs—nothing added or taken away.

Veronica gently assists nature—no griping or weakening after-effects. No habit is formed—doses may be decreased rather than increased. The food waste is passed from the body, the intestinal tract is cleaned thoroughly and nature is allowed to start her healing powers. At the same time Veronica has a tonic effect on the entire system for Veronica contains nine of the twelve mineral salts required by the human body.

Veronica is sold by all drug stores.

ARIZONA DEFERS LABOR MEASURE

Constitutional Amendment Goes to Committee

Labor Members Try to Rush Act Through House

Revision of Educational Levy is Proposed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 14.—The House today refused to be rushed by labor members into pushing through approval of the child-labor amendment to the national Constitution. It was sent to committee in the regular order. The Senate did the same with its child-labor resolution.

Most important of the new bills was one by Senator Lines of Graham raising from $25 to $35 per pupil the State's contribution to common-school education. The latter sum would pay about half the present cost, leaving the balance on the counties.

New House bills prohibit bakeries from taking back stale bread, a health measure, and permit public officials to answer suits at law without provision of bond.

On behalf of the Episcopal church Harold Baxter presented a letter asking that all persons seeking to contract marriage shall submit statements with reference to possible divorce in the past for the protection of clergy, who otherwise unwittingly might unite persons in manner contrary to the canons of the church.

In the House J. C. Callaghan, former State Auditor, is assistant clerk, and Kirby L. Vidrine, formerly of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles, is reading clerk.

The home of Nicolas Valenzuela caught fire last night while the family was asleep. The wife awakened to find flames surrounding them. She and her husband snatched their two children and managed to escape, though the woman fell at the threshold and was slightly burned.

According to Weather Bureau reports the barometer is falling throughout the State and the thermometer is rising, with prospect of a rainstorm. At Flagstaff the temperature rise for the day was 13 deg. No rainfall thus far is reported in the State.

BEAUTY SHOPS GIVE MEN AID

Long Beach Association Asks Law to Keep Women from Barbers

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

LONG BEACH, Jan. 14.—Aid from an unexpected source was offered today to the men of Long Beach who have been banished from their favorite barber shops by the feminine bobbed-hair contingent.

Officers of the recently organized Long Beach Hairdressers and Cosmeticians Association announced that they were drafting an ordinance to exclude women from barber shops.

The ordinance will be presented to the City Council for adoption shortly. It will be accompanied by a resolution explaining that the presence of women in clipper-and-shears palaces annoys the men and doesn't add a thing to the men's conception of feminine charm.

OLD-TIME SHERIFF AGAIN IN OFFICE

VETERAN PEACE OFFICER OF TEXAS DRAFTED FROM RETIREMENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Jan. 14.—In 1904 Woody Townsend, a young man from the "forks of the creek," was elected Sheriff of Bastrop county, Bastrop, Tex., and for ten years was re-elected practically without opposition. During his tenure in the Sheriff's office of Bastrop county, he was unanimously elected president of the Texas Sheriffs' Association, and was not only regarded throughout Texas as a superior and fearless peace officer, but his name was known in many of the border States.

He voluntarily retired from the Sheriff's office in 1914, since which time he was superintendent of the Harlem State prison farm and held other positions of trust. And in 1924 he came back, the people of his native county "conscripted" him to again serve the county as Sheriff. He was nominated by the Democrats in the July primaries and received the unanimous vote of his people in the November election.

Last week he took the oath of office, twenty years having elapsed since he was first sworn in as Sheriff of Bastrop county.

Christine of the Hungry Heart

by Kathleen Norris

The story so far: After a few years of marriage Christine Knight, young, beautiful and rich, realizes that she is desperately unhappy. However, because she does not believe in divorce, she decides to make the best of her life with her adored little daughter Betty-Lou and her spendthrift husband Stuart. So she and Dr. Alan Montaigle, who have recently met, and found themselves in love with each other, decide not to see each other again. Then one day Stuart, driving with the woman whose beauty calls his attention, runs into his mother's car and almost kills Christine. Alan Montaigle hurries to her side and, by working night and day, pulls her back to life. She divorces her husband and marries Alan. But a few years find her jealous of the time her husband spends on his profession—especially on the Vianneys; young Ivan Vianney, wounded in the war, is one of his special interests.

The old happy hurry in her blood, the old delicious vitality and the quivering ecstasies, the trembling glowing beauty, the liquid sparkle of her eyes and the husky, poignant notes in her voice—she had forgotten what these meant. What if it were only Ivan Vianney, four years younger than she, still subject to moods of bombast and egotism and despotic selfishness, who called them into being?

Enough that they were; and that life was so suddenly full and enchanting, so well worth living again.

In late May there was a change; Chris was not sorry. What Ivan could give her, he had given, faith in herself, and joy in life. If now he was to leave her, for awhile, and to leave America, and to make his long-planned trip to southern waters, to Rio, and Barbadoes, and Valparaiso—what harm? Their friendship could progress no further without danger. "One of us is deaf, part of the time, and the other is dumb, part of the time," he had told her, "but we can't expect both of us to be deaf and dumb all of the time!" and Chris remembered and liked the little phrase, and had given the matter more than a little conscientious thought.

She did not pray so much in these days, she told herself, as think. Thinking cleared the way for acting, and it was for her, the wife, the mother, the woman of the two, to act here.

So she was quite composed, in the hot Saturday morning when the "Vauban" sailed, Kate, and his father, and little Peter, Alan, and a few of his new friends, saw him off for the south seas. The big boat, and the piers, and the rocking, dirt-strewn waters of the dock, were flooded with brightness and movement in the moon light. Christie determined to refrain from the usual platitudes about wishing that she might go, too.

But oh, to be sailing again! To be one, as Ivan himself phrased it, "of the chosen instead of the called!" when the big bugle sounded. To breathe that deep sigh of starting, and begin to assort postcards, and distribute plaid and books! To dream, "Lunch—and then nothing—and tea—and nothing—and dinner and days of nothing—nothing—nothing!" To look at the gliding disappearing boundaries of the harbor, and feel the boundaries of one's own life slipping away too, into sweet blue space and sunshine and clear green water, and sky!

"Come back deaf and dumb!" she said smiling to him, when the bad moment came.

"And blind," he added, grimly and thickly, seeing nothing, nobody else, as he held her hand, and looked straight down into her upraised blue eyes.

"And I will be the same," promised Chris, "and they will shut us into a blind asylum together!"

"Even that—" he said choking.

"My dear," she said, maternally concerned, "I shall be sorry—if it's more pain than joy!"

"It's all true," he said slowly, as once more they leaned on the rail, temporarily forgotten by the rest of the party, and looking down at the last luggage being hurried into the hold. The hatches were closed, some of the gang-planks raised, and the visitors were streaming reluctantly back across the first-cabin bridge. "You'll be having luncheon uptown, in thirty minutes," he said, and stopped. "It's all true," he said again, sombrely, "the thing I've laughed at, ridiculed—the thing I've said should never come into my life!—it has come—it's all my life—it's all there is!"

"Oh, hush!" Chris said, trembling. She turned, and blindly determinedly, made her way back to the others. But a moment later; "Good-bye, dear, dear boy!" she said. And she raised her face to his.

She was all in white, delicate plain linen, immaculate little low shoes, and narrow-brimmed hat. And from the hat, framing her wonderful face, her loosened hair and earnest blue eyes, a thin veil floated in wide delicate angles. The little hand she laid on his arm . . . was alive and warm, in its wrinkled soft glove; he put his big arms about her, and shaking, with the blood in his face, he bent and kissed her.

"That was mighty sweet, and sort of spontaneous and—I don't know, sisterly, of you, Chris!" Alan said, as their car threaded its way uptown. "To kiss poor old Ivan good-bye!"

"He looked very rain-in-the-face, when that last second came!" Kate said, somewhat shaken herself. Chrissie was in high spirits, and kept them all laughing and entertained, at luncheon.

The happy mood lasted for several days, but when it ended, life became once more hard and dull for Christine. The family moved back to Friends Crossing, there were last year's friendships to resume, there was opening day at the club, and the first tennis and the first races.

Alan came out Fridays, and liked a game of bridge Friday nights. Saturdays he idled, rarely going into town, but usually telephoning for a conscientious hour when he did not do so. And Saturday night—he was always healthily weary, dirty, glad to get early to bed.

Sundays were the great day, the day of which other women, visiting women who must be amused for endless hours, while the men played golf, said to the bored and unresponsive Chris, "Really, your life here is too wonderful; You have everything. This exquisite home, and the children, and the wonderful servants, and the club to help out in any emergency—and Dr. Montaigle so sweet, in his own home, and getting so much fun out of tennis and golf—like a big boy.

And these were the days when the men, in an innocent and surface sort of fashion, liked to flirt with her. They were good husbands and fathers, there was no harm in them. But handsome Len Underhill, or sentimental Edgar Malthy would bore her to extinction with their admiration.

"Going to save me the supper dance?"

"Maybe!"

"Do you know it's going to make a difference to me, whether you do or not?"

"Oh, Ned—don't be a goose!"

"I see it all! Alan won't let you flirt with me."

"Alan wants me to save my steel for something worth while!"

"Yes, but suppose I made it worth while?"

A treacherous drop in the voice here, and a serious glance, Chris would shake her head, in superiority, in warning. But inside she was utterly untouched, utterly wearied, utterly aloof.

"Twenty-eight!" she reminded herself, fearfully. "Thirty-eight—Mrs. Bennet is 38. Forty-eight—I suppose Mary Sampson is about that! What shall I do?"

APACHE TRAIL SHIFT WILL BE MADE SOON

SECTION FLOODED BY NEW ARIZONA DAM TO BE ABANDONED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Jan. 14.—By the end of this week that part of the Apache Trail highway which passes through the area to be flooded by the Mormon Flat reservoir will be abandoned. A new road has been constructed along the hillside to the south and paralleling the newly created lake. The Mormon Flat Dam now is backing water, which will be sent through the Roosevelt turbines at the rate of 650 second feet, until the dam's present storage capacity has been reached, at a depth of ninety-two feet. Completion of the structure is expected within a month.

No power is to be generated at Mormon Flat and the storage capacity will not be large. It is to serve as a catchment basin for water that has been used for power generation at Roosevelt, when such flow shall exceed the irrigation needs of the Salt River Valley. The same result will be accomplished by the Horse Mesa Dam, up stream, though this latter dam is to be much higher, will hold much more water and will have a large power generating plant.

BISHOP BROWN'S CASE NEAR END

Church's Attorney Finishes Argument to Board

Accused's Views Likened to Jungle Worship

Decision of Church is Matter of Discussion

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND, Jan. 14. — The trial of the Protestant Episcopal Church was contrasted with the asserted heretic teachings of Bishop William Montgomery Brown today in the concluding argument by Charles L. Dibble, church advocate, before the church's board of review. This completed the case of the "prosecution." Tomorrow Joseph W. Sharts, chief counsel for the defense, will finish his argument, thus clearing the way for the finding of the appeal body, and the possible sentencing of Bishop Brown.

Bishop Brown's ideas are no better, in last analysis, than the fetish worship of the jungles, Mr. Dibble said. Everything is related to the material world and nothing to the spiritual, he averred, and illustrated by saying: "When we spoke in our brief of the life of the spirit after death, his counsel rejoined that we must have been referring to ecto plasm, or something of the sort. They could not comprehend the spiritual as an objective reality, for the spiritual is unknown to them."

STONE WORSHIPER

Mr. Dibble declared that a fetish worshiper who bowed to one stone would be no better off if he bowed to a million, or to a universe full of stones. If recourse is had to bishop's idea of a trinity of matter, force and motion for a conception of deity, he argued, it could be found when a stone is hurled, with force, through the air.

He quoted from the book, "Communism and Christianism," to show that the defendant had himself called his belief in matter "atheistic rationalism."

"You are reading from the book in order to show that Bishop Brown utters doctrines contrary to those held by this church?" queried Bishop William Leonard, head of the court.

MATERIAL THINGS

"I am," replied Mr. Dibble, "and also to show that he would not, as his counsel hinted yesterday, preserve God in the hearts of men, for he would burden men's minds with a trinity in which matter is the father, force the son and law the holy spirit. He gives us this material thing and says: 'That's all there is; there isn't any more.'

"If that be religion, I want none of it."

Mr. Dibble maintained that the record of the trial court showed that the defendant had been given a detailed claim that he had contravened church doctrine by four denials—of the existence of God, the doctrine of the trinity, the earthly existence of Christ and "the divinity of Christ and His present intercession for us."

He declared that the church had, and rightly, formulated its doctrines in the creeds, catechisms and other parts of the Prayer Book and had not sacrificed its claim to Catholicity by such action.

DOGMA DEFINED

"Formulated doctrines are but the expressions of religious experience," he added, "just as so-called natural laws are expressions of scientific experience in the fields of research. And you can call a formulated doctrine a dogma if you wish without making it what the defense here called a 'debased doctrine.' A dogma is no more imposed upon us by the church than a natural law is imposed upon us by conscience. A dogma is not true, because the church says it is true, but the church says it is true because it has become convinced of that truth by religious experience."

Mr. Dibble denied that the Nicene Creed had been dominated by the Emperor Constantine.

"Constantine may have been the despicable character that the defense painted yesterday," said Mr. Dibble, "but even so he was no worse than Trotsky or Lenin, or the other disciples of the school of thought to which this defendant has attached himself.

NICENE CREED

"The Nicene Creed had its start in a town 150 miles south of Nicea, the village of Bethlehem, and all we know about God came from that place for Christ said: 'He that hath seen me hath seen God.'"

The church advocate discussed, too, the phrase, "resurrection of the body," as found in the Apostles' Creed.

"The word 'body' was 'flesh' in the original Latin," he said. "The Nicene Creed speaks of 'the resurrection of the dead.' It might be thought that here are three versions of one doctrine, but the outstanding fact is the word 'resurrection.'

"Someone asked St. Paul as this defendant has asked here, how the body could be raised up and Paul replied: 'Thou fool! When thou sowest thou scatterest not the body that shall be, but bare grain and God soweth seed as pleases Him.' That is as far as this church goes."

JURISDICTION DOUBTED

Mr. Dibble closed with an appeal to the court to bear in mind the million of church members throughout the world who have relied upon the teachings of the New Testament and the doctrine of immortality for their guidance in this life.

"You will shatter their every hope if you permit this defendant to continue his teachings with the authority of a bishop of this church," he said. "He has declared Christ a myth and Christianity without Christ becomes insanity. With Christ the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

Mr. Sharts wound up the day's proceedings with a final presentation of the defense position on the legal aspects of the case. He emphasized especially the claim that bishops are mutually independent in matters of doctrine and that therefore no church court had a right to bring his client to trial.

BULLDOG FAINTS JUST LIKE GIRL

Goes Dead Away After Being Strapped to Operating Table

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SPOKANE, Jan. 14.—A dog—and a bulldog at that—fainted dead away on the operating table here yesterday, Dr. Bernard Johnson, a veterinarian, said today.

"The pup had been strapped to the table and a muzzle adjusted," he said. "As I was gathering up my tools it proceeded to fall into a perfect faint. No sick girl ever went out more quickly."

The dog was revived by dashing a bucket of water in its face.

Minnie was dismayed by Letcher's easy familiarity as he came through the dressing-room. "Well, look who's with us!" shouted Letcher—"What's your name, sweetie?"

What price would you pay to become a Movie Star?

IF you were young and beautiful but unknown and poor—what sacrifices would you be prepared to make to gain fame? Would you be willing to pay the price that Minnie Flynn paid?

She had lived eighteen wistful years in a tenement—she clerked in a Ninth Avenue department store—she thought Shakespeare wrote scenarios for the movies. That was Minnie, young, lovely, only wanting her chance.

And, the very next year—Hollywood—a $1,000 a week contract—that was "June Day," moving-picture star.

How did she do it—who saw in the shabby girl a type that would be adored by a million theatre-goers? Could she refuse the hand that had really lifted her out of the slums?

Would you say "NO" in her place?

Se Introducirán Grandes Economías en Los Ferrocarriles de Méjico

MEJICO, enero 14.—El presidente Calles ha ordenado una completa reorganización de los Ferrocarriles Nacionales de Méjico, para lograr una importante reducción en los gastos que demanda el funcionamiento del sistema. Su intención es que se ahorren de 15,000,000 a 20,000,000 de pesos en el presupuesto de gastos que demanda anualmente la administración de las líneas ferrocarrileras.

La orden de reorganización es el primer paso para llevar a cabo un plan que dé por resultado que los ferrocarriles rindan utilidades, y con el tiempo devolverlos a sus dueños originales, de conformidad con las estipulaciones del tratado Lamont-De la Huerta.

Ha empezado sus trabajos una comisión nombrada especialmente para hacer la reorganización de los ferrocarriles y un programa de economías, que será aplicable a la totalidad del sistema. Se cree que a fines del presente mes, la comisión habrá terminado sus preparativos y podrá empezar sus conferencias con las Uniones de trabajadores ferrocarrileros, para tratar lo relativo a reducir el personal empleado para el funcionamiento de las líneas.

Si se logra un arreglo pacífico con las Uniones, con ello se logrará que desaparezca el obstáculo más grave que se presenta, para hacer costeable el sistema. Los funcionarios, aun cuando creen que las uniones de obreros acabarán por convencerse de la necesidad de hacer la reducción de personal que se ha proyectado, anticipan la opinión de que harán una resistencia muy fuerte, en contra de los planes ideados. Pero, por otra parte, los mismos funcionarios declaran que están dispuestos a llevar a cabo la realización de estos proyectos, a toda costa, para introducir las economías que se consideran completamente indispensables en el caso.

Los ingresos de los Ferrocarriles Nacionales de México, durante el año de 1924, importaron aproximadamente 115,000,000 de pesos. Los gastos fueron un poco mayores que las entradas. La partida mas importante de los egresos fué la que correspondió a los sueldos pagados a los empleados, que fueron $80.000,000 de pesos.

Ha Sido un Exito la Conferencia Financiera de París

PARIS, enero 14.—Hoy quedó el protocolo que contiene los acuerdos a que llegó la Convención Financiera reunida en esta Capital. El embajador de los Estados Unidos en Inglaterra, y futuro secretario de Estado en el Gabinete del presidente Coolidge, Sr. Kellog, que concurrió a las conferencias referidas, ha felicitado a los convencionistas por el éxito obtenido en las discusiones de los importantes asuntos resueltos, y ha predicho que se avencina una nueva era para Europa, que redundará favorablemente en todas las naciones del mundo.

Los acuerdos tomados por los convencionistas, han sido con el objeto de hacer un equitativo reparto de los pagos que haga Alemania a las naciones aliadas, en virtud del funcionamiento del plan Dawes. Segun las bases convenidas entre los representantes de las partes interesadas, ha quedado eliminada la cláusula en que se fijaba un límite de $250,000.000 a las reclamaciones americanas, por daños sufridos en la guerra europea. Conforme a lo convenido hoy, los Estados Unidos tendrán derecho a un 2 1-4 por ciento de los pagos anuales que haga Alemania, segun el mencionado plan.

Los delegados de los Estados Unidos, Francia, Inglaterra y Bélgica, aprobaron unanimemente los acuerdos; solamente Italia y el Japón, por medio de sus representantes, se reservaron el derecho de hacer interpretaciones posteriores, sobre los acuerdos; y el representante de Rumania formuló una protesta, por no haberse concedido a su gobierno la participación que deseaba.

Una Lluvia Que Alegra Todos Los Corazones

Ayer tuvieron los habitantes de Los Angeles la alegría de decibir una benéfica lluvia, que por muchos días habían deseado. El temporal alcanzó a todo el Sur del Estado de California, y aun cuando no ha habido aguaceros de verdadera importancia, los agricultores, principalmente, han recibido con júbilo la ayuda que les legó del cielo.

El pluviómetro registró una precipitación solamente de .03 de pulgada, en la lluvia de ayer; lo que hace un total en la temporada de 2.89 pulgadas, que es mucho mejor que el año pasado, puesto que en este mes solo se habían registrado entonces 1.48 pulgadas.

Todavía no se alcanza la normalidad, en temporada; para ello sería necesario que el pluviómetro hubiera marcado 6.27 pulgadas, que es el promedio normal de precipitación, hasta el 14 de enero. Pero los pronósticos son favorables y se espera que pronto se establezca un nuevo temporal, que ayude a recuperar lo perdido, en la seca se experimentó el año pasado.

La Guardia Urges Strict Application of Law; Asks Grand Duke Boris Quiz

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Rigid application of immigration regulations to "roaming royalists who come to the United States to prey upon the credulity of social climbing dupes" was urged by Representative LaGuardia, Republican, New York, in a letter today to Secretary Davis.

The letter asked especially that the case of the former Grand Duke Boris of Russia, reported en route to New York, be investigated to ascertain who paid his steamship fare and whether he is likely to become a charge upon the public.

"But a few weeks ago" Mr. LaGuardia added, "members of the same family came to this country and have since left. Subsequent to their leaving it was learned that they were assisted silens within the meaning of the law; that their passage was paid for by others, and that had they remained here they would have been likely to become public charges.

"Moreover, I believe the department would be justified in ascertaining whether these repudiated, unemployed and shiftless dukes and archdukes are not coming here with the intention of overthrowing our republican form of government in the hope of establishing a monarchy."

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys must try to filter out; they weaken from overwork become sluggish, and the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, sour stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, start drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody likes to make a mistake by having kidney flushing any time. Advertisement. Meals have your physician examine your kidneys at least once a year.—(Advertisement.

HUGE PARK WON BY FREDERICKS

Committee Favors 5000-Acre Tract for County

Tract Will be Addition to Big Pine Playground

Bill is Expected to Pass House Within Week

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Capt. John D. Fredericks, Congressman from the Tenth California District, won a 5000-acre park for Los Angeles today as an addition to the county park, Big Pines, twenty-five miles from San Bernardino. The county of Los Angeles, which has now spent several hundred thousand dollars in development of this mountain park on land owned by the county consisting of an area of over 500 acres, will have perpetual use of the 5000 acres of Angeles Forest Reserve for the development of outdoor enjoyment for the people of Southern California.

The House Committee on Public Lands this morning voted unanimously to report favorably the bill for this purpose drawn by Congressman Fredericks and with the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture and the administration its passage this session is assured. It will make one of the most wonderful free playgrounds and recreation centers in California immediately possible. It has an elevation of 5000 feet or more and affords wonderful outdoor possibilities all summer and winter sports in great number in the days when snow abounds in this section.

PASSAGE SEEN

The bill is expected to be passed in the House within a week or so under the House rules, which permit bills recommended by this committee to have the right of way. Congressman Fredericks appeared before the committee this morning and made a winning plea for this great outdoor park for the people of Southern California. All of the recreation work heretofore concentrated on the county land will be extended to include this additional 5000 acres under the direction of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors with provision for all water, land and winter sports. A big recreation house has already been erected and additional camps and playgrounds have also been planned on a much more elaborate scale with the additional forest area provided for in this measure.

The bill as agreed to by the committee is as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the Secretary of Agriculture is hereby authorized, in his discretion, upon application by the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, California, to designate and segregate, for recreation development, not to exceed 5000 acres within the Angeles National Forest, California, which, in his opinion, are available for such purposes, and to issue to the said Board of Supervisors, for the benefit of said county, a free permit authorizing the improvement, maintenance and use of such lands for free public camp grounds under conditions which will allow the fullest use of the lands for recreational purposes without interfering with the objects for which the national forest was established. Such permit or permits shall remain in full force and effect as long as the county complies with the conditions therein and maintains the areas so designated as free public camp grounds. Lands so designated and segregated under the provisions of this act shall not be subject to the mining laws of the United States."

APPROVES MEASURE

The letter of Secretary of Agriculture Gore approving this measure is as follows:

"Reference is made to your request of May 29, 1924, for a report upon the bill H.R. 9494 to request the Secretary of the Interior to issue patent in fee simple to the county of Los Angeles, in the State of California, for a certain described tract of land for public park purposes, and Secretary Wallace's reply of June 4, 1924, promising a field examination and report.

"Field examination promised has been made and the department is prepared to submit its recommendations regarding this measure. The land is desired by the county of Los Angeles for use as free public camp grounds in connection with 560 acres of adjoining land similar in character owned by the county. The value of land in this locality for recreational purposes is very great and the county has paid $60,000, so I am advised, for the 560 acres acquired by it. The national forest land has a good stand of merchantable timber of medium grade and quality but its chief value consists in its scenic use in place, rather than its utilization by lumbering operations.

IN SYMPATHY

"The department is in entire sympathy with the use which the county of Los Angeles proposes to make of the land, but believes that the fixing of the value at $1.25 per acre and the granting of the land is an unsound form of legislation to apply in cases of this kind within national forests, and would favor a substitute measure, a copy of which is inclosed, for the one now before your committee. This is consistent with the legislation providing for a similar use of forest lands by the city of Butte, Mont., in the Deer Lodge National Forest under the act of April 28, 1922 (42 Stat. 501.) and also to the town of Globe, Ariz., in the Crook National Forest, under the act of May 29, 1924 (43 Stat. 242.)

"The language makes more explicit the permanency of use by the county and is so worded as to meet certain doubts and objections raised by the county's legal department. The form of legislation suggested by this department is understood to be satisfactory to the county. It is quite probable that the county will desire to utilize other lands for similar purposes in connection with future road development elsewhere in the national forests. For that reason the maximum area is placed at 5000 acres, which gives a margin of 1400 acres for future development without the necessity of future special legislation."

WATER DISTRICT ELECTION TODAY

System for Mulholland Drive Land Up to Voters

Million-Dollar Bond Issue Contested by Citizens

Engineer Makes Threat to Laurel Canyon Faction

Whether Laurel Canyon and other sections abutting on Mulholland Drive, a tract of 11,746 acres, shall have water by means of a $1,400,000 district bond issue, will be decided today in a special district election that is being hotly contested. One of the issues involved in the election is the validity of a section of the proposed new city charter, which appears to provide that the principal and interest of such bond issues shall be met by the general water revenues and not by district taxation.

What was construed by some as a threat by Chief Engineer Mulholland to shut off the water from Laurel Canyon if the bond issue fails, and statements that if the issue is defeated it will be years before the section can get water main extension, adds interest to the campaign.

Opponents of the bond issue have in the main declared that 2000 acres of inhabited area, principally in Laurel Canyon, will pay 75 per cent of the cost and 10,000 acres of subdivisions not yet inhabited will get most of the benefit. They have proposed the creation of two separate districts, one for Laurel Canyon and one for the balance of the territory, which they asserted would result in a more equitable division of the cost. An alternative plan for bringing water from the Weid Canyon dam to Laurel Canyon was also proposed. This was vetoed by Engineer Mulholland as impracticable.

RELY ON OPINION

Those in favor of the bond issue are relying largely upon an opinion by City Attorney Stephens, that the section of the new city charter is valid and that it provides that the district will not have to pay the bonds unless the water department defaults. This opinion is said to be concurred in by W. B. Mathews, special counsel for the water department.

The City Council and the water department are also said, by the proponents of the bonds, to have agreed that no more special improvement districts will be created and that Improvement District No. 36 will be the last. A prediction of the results of the election made by one proponent of the bond issue reads in part:

"We must either carry the district as it stands or drop the entire program of serving Mulholland Highway with water. In case the district fails to carry, the alternative in the case of small areas represented by subdivisions or individual owners, will be to attempt to get the water board to extend the existing water service by laterals with booster pumps and pressure tanks over restricted areas, which can be done only at very high cost and which as a matter of principle is looked upon with disfavor by the water department.

"As to the suggestion that the 15th inst. election be called off and District No. 36 be dropped, the answer is, for reasons stated above, that this will block completely any general water system installation in either the Laurel Canyon area or in the general district of the hills. As to the suggestion that two new districts be formed, neither the City Council nor the water board will authorize any new water districts in view of the charter provision; therefore, this plan is hopeless."

This proponent also asserts that even if the charter provision is held invalid, Laurel Canyon will not pay a disproportionate share of the cost. The district from Cahuenga Pass to Laurel Canyon is developing rapidly, it was said, and dozens of other subdivisions are coming on the market. Instead of 75 per cent of the outlay, only about one-third will be charged against Laurel Canyon, it was declared.

TEMPORARY SERVICE

Laurel Canyon is at present receiving "temporary service" under an agreement between the city and the Laurel Canyon Land Company, of August 13. What has been called Mulholland's threat was made in a letter to the Hollywood Foothills Improvement Association September 27, in which he said:

"It should be distinctly understood that this service was granted pending the installation of permanent service . . . under the Municipal Improvement Act of 1916, and the service is subject to discontinuance at any time within six months from date of installation. Furthermore, in the event these bonds are not voted by the district the service will be discontinued forthwith."

The present water system in Los Angeles extends only to 350 feet, which is below the level of the proposed district. The new district will require reservoirs at 1460 feet elevation, it is said.

Crew Removed When Stranded Submarine Tips

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHATHAM (Mass.) Jan. 14.—The crew of the submarine S-19, which was stranded on the outer bar of Orleans harbor early Tuesday morning in a dense fog, was removed to waiting Coast Guard cutters tonight after efforts to haul the undersea boat from the bar had resulted in a heavy list to port. Further efforts to move the S-19 will probably be made at high tide early tomorrow, it was said.

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—The submarine S-19, grounded on the outer bar of Orleans harbor in a fog early yesterday, was keeled over to an angle of 35 degrees tonight as the result of efforts of the tug Resolute from the navy yard at Brooklyn to haul her off, according to a radio message received at the Boston navy yard tonight. It was stated that it had been necessary to have the submarine's crew removed.

EXCHANGE HEAD IS RE-ELECTED

Frank H. Pettingell Starts Eleventh Term

Citizens' Trust Elects Two New Directors

California Bank Approves Old Board and Officers

For the eleventh successive term, Frank H. Pettingell yesterday was chosen president of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange at a meeting of the board of governors. He was first elected in 1915, and has served longer than any other chief executive of the exchange. The entire list of officers carrying over from last year was re-elected.

The officers in addition to Mr. Pettingell who again will serve this year, are John Earle Jardine, first vice-president; A. C. Wagy, second vice-president, and James R. Martin, secretary-treasurer. H. H. Lee was reappointed assistant secretary and manager.

Mr. Pettingell's administration of the affairs of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange has attracted wide attention. Assuming his duties in 1915 when the total transactions were slightly over $2,000,000 in value, his aggressive polices placed in effect that year, were largely responsible for a widening market that brought the valuation of trading at the end of 1915 to approximately $3,000,000.

At the close of last year, the value of all transactions reached the huge figure of $65,000,000, an increase of 2166 per cent in ten years. The percentage increase indicates that the stock exchange is capitalizing every opportunity to extend its services to investors and speculators.

Mr. Pettingell's tenure of office has been marked by the introduction of every important system and device known to the modern organized exchange. The stock clearinghouse is a model of its kind, and the introduction lately of the ticker service, the first west of the Mississippi, lifted the exchange in point of facilities for service head and shoulders above its competitors on the Pacific Coast.

In ethical practices, the trading operations in the last few years have been marked with a minimum of complaint, in sharp contrast with some of the other stock exchanges of the country, whose members have come within the pale of the law.

Mr. Pettingell is the fifth president of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange since its organization in 1899. W. L. Hardison was the first executive, serving to 1901. He was succeeded by Warren Gilelen, who held office to 1909. The next president was Col. John B. Neville, and his single year of administration was followed by a three-year term for D. C. Sullivan, who was Mr. Pettingell's predecessor.

Llewellyn Chosen

Following the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Citizens' National Bank Tuesday, the stockholders of the Citizens' Trust and Saving Bank convened yesterday afternoon and elected two new directors and re-elected the old board. Dave Llewellyn, vice-president of the Llewellyn Iron Works, and Charles G. Andrews, prominently identified with real estate interests, are the two new directors.

The complete list of directors elected is as follows:

George W. Wallace, chairman of the board; James R. Alexander, Charles G. Andrews, Dr. W. W. Beckett, Clark J. Bonner, J. Ross Clark, W. H. Crocker, M. F. Connell, Sidney Day, H. M. Dauglas, Gerrettsen Dulin, J. E. Fansett, J. M. Hale, William J. Hunsaker, William A. Innes, C. Sumner James, Harold Jones, F. E. Keller, Abraham Lehr, Dave Llewellyn, F. X. Pfaffmar, Samuel K. Rindge, Calvin M. Seeley, Spencer Thorpe, George W. Walker, Dan Williams.

President J. Dabney Day reviewed the business of the bank for the past year and reported a steady and substantial growth in the combined resources of the Citizens' National Bank, the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank and the Citizens' National Company. The figures now total over $101,000,000, which is an increase for the year of approximately $10,000,000.

Following the meeting of the stockholders, the directors convened and elected the following officers: C. Sumner James, vice-president, was given the additional title of manager of the trust department. H. B. Thomas was promoted to be trust officer. J. W. Bachman, in addition to holding the office of assistant secretary, was appointed assistant trust officer in charge of trust business at the Broadway office.

Chaffey Speaks

The annual meeting of the stockholders of California Bank took place yesterday with a large part of the 500 stockholders present. President A. M. Chaffey informed the stockholders on the bank's activities during the past year, and short talks were made by several of the executive officers and branch managers.

The following directors were re-elected:

Henry J. Bauer, Lewis E. Bliss, E. P. Bushnell, A. M. Chaffey, George Chaffey, Leo E. Chandler, F. R. Chase, W. H. Cole, Howard E. Dudley, W. M. Dunn, H. J. Englebrecht, J. E. Fishburn, A. M. Gibbs, R. C. Gillis, E. M. Gotham, G. Allan Hancock, George Hanna, Paul G. Hoffman, George A. J. Howard, A. E. Huntington, George E. Jess, A. N. Kemp, A. J. Pickrell, O. M. Stephen, Raymond W. Stephens, James O. Steward, E. A. Taylor, E. R. Wood, W. D. Woolwine.

Immediately following the stockholders' meeting the directors convened and re-elecetd th present officers for the coming year:

President, A. M. Chaffey; vice-presidents, G. Allan Hancock, A. N. Kemp, George A. J. Howard, Leo E. Chandler, A. E. Huntington, H. M. Gotham, H. J. Englebrecht, W. C. Dorgin, Lewis K. Bliss, J. Perrin, G. L. Alexander; cashier, T. E. Iver, Jr.; comptroller, Gordon C. Smith; junior vice-presidents, J. B. Chaffey, H. E. Hudson, A. Lanoz, R. P. Lesser, M. K. Salmon; junior vice-president and secretary, H. M. Coffin; treasurer, C. J. Thomas.

Ten assistant cashiers and five assistant secretaries were re-elected.

In speaking of California Bank's growth, President Chaffey said:

"Particular attention was given in the year just closed to the strengthening of the bank's position through the building up of the highest type of depositors. Much thought and effort has also been given by our officers to the most efficient operation and many economies have been effected."

With total resources of over $75,000,000, the California Bank operates thirty-eight branches in and around Los Angeles.

M'FADDEN WINS FIRST TILT

Banking Measure Passed by House; Stiffer Time Forecast in Senate; Branch Fight Bitter

BY EARLE E. CROWE

One forward step in the legislative progress of the McFadden banking bill was taken yesterday when the House of Representatives passed the measure, and sent it on to the Senate. Early dispatches said that the bill as finally approved included the amendments proposed by Hull of Illinois, which appear to make the branch banking provisions a little more stringent on the State banks than originally intended.

The McFadden bill has aroused bitter factional turmoil between State and national bank proponents for the past several months, principally because of the clauses referring to branch banking. Apparently the bill was written to liberalize the National Bank Act, unchanged for sixty years, in order to permit State and national banks to compete on a more equitable basis. Some of the State bank opponents of the measure have stated there is no objection to free and equal competition, but they profess to see a veiled danger to the rights guaranteed them by the Federal Reserve Act

SENATE FIGHT EXPECTED

There is some doubt if the bill will have as easy a time in the Senate as it had in the House The opponents are understood to have massed their attack for the Senate hearings, although the supporters of the bill in the upper house are confident of success, according to news reports. One important difficulty in the way of the opposition party is that Washington is innately favorable to anything "national" in which the government has a hand. The appeal that the national banking system will be broken down if the McFadden bill is not passed has won many friends for the measure.

Many bankers have severed long-standing friendships in arguing the merits and drawbacks of provisions dealing with branch banking. The two parties are as wide apart as the poles. The banker who has persistently and enthusiastically forged link after link in his chain system, and still has his fire hot, is naturally reluctant to stop when the possibilities for expansion are not yet exhausted. Particularly so, when it is apparent that some of his competitors have already penetrated farther afield. On the other hand, the independent national banker looks on branch banking as speculative hysteria, and the forerunner of financial smashes.

Beyond doubt the framers of the McFadden bill were looking out of the corners of their eyes at California when the branch banking clauses were written. These clauses very positively say that branches in the future shall be confined to the limits of the city in which the parent institution is located. The intention is plain, in fact, too plain for some California banks. But for two of the outstanding examples of branch banking in this State, the McFadden bill is of little concern.

WORK FINISHED

Both the Bank of Italy and the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Saving Bank are in a position where they can smile at the rigorous lines drawn around branch activities. Each entered the game at an early date and now has built a permanent system with which it is eminently satisfied. They are content to step aside and let their competitors wrestle with the restrictive passages in the banking bill. Each system now includes approximately eighty-five branches, the Pacific-Southwest only covering about half of the State, while the Bank of Italy's ramifications are State-wide.

If the McFadden bill passes the Senate and becomes a law, branch banking will be prohibited entirely except in those States where the laws permit such practice. In these States, branch activities will be confined to the municipal limits for both State and national banks. National banks now are permitted only to operate "offices," which do only a "teller's" business.

One of the Hull amendments included in the bill as approved by the House seems to give a slight edge to the national banks. Originally, the measure provided that after the passage of the act, should any State not now allowing branch banking pass legislation permitting such activities, the national banks shall not have their facilities extended, and State banks shall not avail themselves of this privilege and still retain their membership in the Federal reserve system. The Hull amendment grants permission to the national banks in such cases to establish branches with the approval of Congress.

CLAUSES REVISED

The clauses of the bill intended to modernize the National Bank Act are generally regarded with approval. One of the most important permits national banks to hold real estate for a longer period of time than now authorized. The loan limit remains the same at 10 per cent of capital and surplus.

Under the present law, national bank charters are issued for ninety-nine years. The bill recommends that charters be indeterminate in length. A distinction is drawn between an indeterminate charter and a perpetual charter.

Another paragraph will authorize the chartering of banks in cities with a population of 50,000, with a capital of $100,000. The present law places the limit at $200,000.

Other provisions refer to the declaration of stock dividends, permission to appoint a chairman of the board, to allow rediscounting with the Federal reserve system of notes secured by government bonds in excess of the 10-per-cent limitation; to authorize national banks to engage in the safe-deposit business, either by operating safe deposit facilities directly, or by owning stock in such a company, and to enable national banks to engage in the buying and selling of investment bonds.

BOND MEN FORM NEW INVESTMENT COMPANY

Formation of a new investment firm dealing in government, municipal and corporation bonds was announced yesterday by Bayly Brothers. The partnership includes Harold Bayly, president; J. W. Dunham, vice-president; Roy D. Bayly, treasurer, and Wells Morris, secretary. The firm will operate under the name of Bayly Brothers, Inc.

Messrs. Bayly have been conducting a general investment business under the name of Bayly Brothers, and own a seat on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Mr. Dunham for six years has been associated with Drake, Riley and Thomas, and has been a vice-president for the last two years. Mr. Morris was connected with the Security Trust and Savings Bank for several years, and for six years has been associated with Blyth, Witter & Co.

INTEREST IN FACTORIES DISCUSSED

Security Bank Appraiser Advises Giving Facts on Local Manufacturing

John P. Kennedy, chief appraiser of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, addressed the Commercial Board of Los Angeles at a luncheon yesterday at the Biltmore Hotel. He spoke on the importance of arousing the interest of Los Angeles school children in the manufactures of Los Angeles.

"Statistics show," Mr. Kennedy said, "that the average young man flounders about for several years before he finds an occupation suited to both his inclinations and his talents. We can be very helpful to the business men and women of the future who are now in our intermediate and high schools, if we give them some idea of the industries and manufactures of their own city. Not only will they have a broader idea of what opportunities there are here, but some of them may develop an interest in some local manufacture which otherwise they might drift into only after learning by experience that other things suited them less well."

It was at the Security banker's suggestion that school children were encouraged to visit the Los Angeles-made textile exhibit at the Biltmore. Many hundreds of students thronged the exhibit yesterday. Like many adult citizens, they had been ignorant of the fact that more than 300 institutions are engaged in the textile business here.

ADEQUATE security for principal and dependable earnings to provide for interest and maturity requirements—these are the prime essentials of the sound building bond.

CARONDOLET FIREPROOF GARAGE, Inc., First (Closed) Mortgage Leasehold, 7% Serial Gold Bonds, due 1927-1939 incl., fully meet both these requirements.

The Bonds are secured by a first mortgage on the Company's leasehold interest in the southwest corner of Sixth and Carondolet Streets, together with the modern Class "A," reinforced concrete garage and stores building to be erected thereon at a guaranteed cost of $312,000.

This entire building has been leased to responsible tenants for a thirty-year period at an annual rental which assures a net annual income after all prior charges of over FOUR times the maximum annual interest charges, and over TWICE the maximum yearly interest and maturity requirements.

Priced at 100 and interest, these bonds offer a generous 7% income, exempt from California Personal Property Taxes.

EXEMPT FROM PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES IN CALIFORNIA

An issue secured by a first mortgage trust indenture on an 8-story and basement Class "A" reinforced concrete garage and store building to be erected on property held under a 99-year ground lease at 742-746 South Hope Street in Los Angeles, having a frontage of 80 feet and a depth of 172 feet.

The D'Humy Motoramp principle is to be employed in the construction of the building, insuring not only a rapid means of storing and discharging cars, but also eliminating the necessity for automobile elevators and the heavy operating expense incident thereto. The immediate proximity of the city's principal shopping district and many of its principal office buildings combine to make the site particularly desirable for garage purposes.

Under the trust indenture the principal amount of bonds to be outstanding is limited to 50% of the cost of the completed building. Bond proceeds are to be held by the Trustee and disbursed on architects' certificates for building purposes only, and none of the bond money is to be used until the Company has spent at least $200,000 of its own funds toward actual construction.

The Company estimates its income and operating expenses as follows:

INCOME	PER YEAR	EXPENSES	PER YEAR
Storage—		Ground Rent—
400 contracts @ $12.50 per month	$ 60,000	First 10 years $1500 per month
200 transients @ 35c per day	25,200	Next 5 years $2000 per month
Sale of gasoline, oil, tires and accessories, gross profit	36,000	Average	$ 20,000
Washing, polishing and lubricating service	18,000	Taxes and insurance	12,000
Store Rentals—48 feet @ $20 per foot	11,520	Payroll	42,000
		Light, water and power	3,600
		Miscellaneous	12,000
Total	$150,720	Total	$ 89,600

Surplus applicable to meeting charges for interest and retiring principal of this issue of bonds $ 61,120

Greatest annual amount necessary to meet bond interest and principal charges $ 23,000

To provide a fund for the payment of interest, the Company is required on the first day of each month to deposit with the Trustee a sum equal to 1-12 of the annual interest payable on all bonds outstanding; and to provide for the retirement of the principal of the bonds, on December 1, 1925, and on the first day of each calendar month thereafter the Company is required to deposit with the Trustee a sum equal to 1-12th of the principal of all bonds maturing on the first day of December next following.

Among the Company's stockholders are Union Oil Company of California, Mr. Roy R. Meads, president of Pacific Horseshoe Tire Co., Mrs. R. A. Dallugge, capitalist, Mr. C. W. Irwin, president of Wholesale Properties Corporation, Mr. Chas. F. Smith, vice-president of J. P. Smith Shoe Company of Chicago, Dr. Walter R. Crane and Mr. Elmer Wreden of the Grand Central Market.

The Company is required to provide insurance against loss by fire or earthquake in an amount equal to the full insurable value of the building and also to insure against any loss of rental suffered in consequence of damage by fire or earthquake.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Price Level Sags

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Bond prices crumbled today under heavy selling, which was influenced by a stiffer time-money situation, the unsettlement in the stock market and a growing tendency to take profits. Speculative operations were retarded by a scarcity of time funds, which were available only in small amounts below 4 per cent.

Reactionary movements in the railroad group were especially noticeable in the Denver and Rio Grande and St. Paul issues. Failure of the Denver directors to take action toward an early payment of interest on the new 5 per cent bonds led to a cancellation of most of the gain which had been built up in anticipation of such a move. St. Paul obligations continued to lose ground on a warning of a possible receivership unless interest rates on government loans were reduced.

Numerous soft spots developed in the industrial and public-utilities sections, with losses of 1 to 5 points registered by Federal Light 5s and 7s, Magma Copper 7s, International Paper 5s, Eastern Cuba Sugar 7½s and Virginia-Carolina Chemical 7s.

Liberty Bonds and foreign obligations were irregular.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and the total sales of each bond. This report is over Associated Press wires and is specific transactions the closing is omitted when it is the same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.

HOW? Instructions on Form 1040A and Form 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? Two per cent normal tax on the first $4000 of net income in excess of the personal exemptions and credits. Four per cent normal tax on the next $4000. Six per cent normal tax on balance of net income. Surtax on net income in excess of $10,000.

Reduction of the income tax was effected by the Revenue Act of 1924. A rate reduction, however, was not the only benefit afforded by this legislation. Increase in the exemption for married persons and heads of families, a 25 per cent reduction on "earned income," and other changes are of immediate interest to every taxpayer. As an aid, therefore, in the preparation of income tax returns for the year 1924, the Bureau of Internal Revenue has prepared a series of articles on the new act and the regulations governing its administration, of which this is the first. The salaried man, wage earner, professional and business man—in fact every class of taxpayer—will be fully informed of their requirements and privileges. Taxpayers are advised to preserve these articles as a guide in the making of their returns.

Returns are required of every single person whose net income for 1924 was $1000 or more or whose gross income was $5000 or more, and of every married person living with husband or wife whose net income was $2500 or more or whose gross income was $5000 or more. Divorcees or married persons separated by mutual consent are classed as single persons. Married persons living together are required to file a return if their aggregate net income was $2500 or more or the aggregate gross income was $5000 or more.

Husband and wife living together may include the income of each in a single joint return, or each may file separate returns showing the income of each. Where a joint return is filed, the tax is computed on the aggregate income and all deductions and credits to which either is entitled is taken from such aggregate income.

If a wife does not file a separate return or join with her husband in a return, the husband is required to include in his return all income received by the wife in payment of wages, salary, or from the sale of products of her labor. In the returns of married persons must be included also the income of dependent minor children.

It should be remembered that a husband and wife living together need make no return unless their aggregate net income for 1924 was $2500 or more, or the aggregate gross income was $5000 or more. Last year returns were required of such married persons whose aggregate net income was $2000 or more.

BAD CHECKS

The forgery detail of the Los Angeles Police Department detective bureau yesterday issued the following bulletin on spurious check writing:

"Los Angeles merchants are warned regarding the activities of a bad-check writer who recently has been very active. His method of operation is quite original. He selects some grocery-store proprietor who is desirous of selling out his business and, after inquiring into the merchant's proposition, agrees to purchase the store and gives a bad check, usually for about one-third of the purchase price.

"He says that he will remain in the store for a few days in order that he may familiarize himself with the business, and also he points out that the merchant may thus have an opportunity to learn for himself that the check given by this crook is authentic. During the time that he works in the store he has access to the cash register and does not hesitate to help himself to funds. Also in some cases he takes quite a large supply of groceries, stating that they are for a needy friend.

"This man is described as follows: American, brown hair, medium build, small mustache, ruddy complexion, generally wears a gray checked suit and a black hat."

LICENSING OF DYERS IS SOUGHT

Cleaner Points to Menace to Health in Practise of Some Smaller Plants

Legislative action relative to licensing of all cleaning and dyeing plants throughout the country will be discussed by the National Association of Cleaners and Dyers, now in session at the Alexandria. The object of this legislation is to protect the public against unsanitary conditions now existing in some of the smaller plants, where the repeated use of cleaning fluids on all classes of garments actually endangers the public health.

Arthur P. Hall of Allston, Mass., a director in the national association, and president of the New England States Association of Cleaners and Dyers, is sponsor for the bill.

"Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon this matter," said Mr. Hall, "because there is a real menace to public welfare in the present lack of control."

This afternoon the school work will be continued at Fishburn's City Dye Works, P. P. Means of Bakersfield occupying the principal place on the program. The ladies will be taken on a trip to Pasadena. The Optimists' luncheon at the Biltmore and State groups' dinners at the Green Mill tonight provide the entertainment for the delegates.

Inquiry in Mine Company Stock Issue is Ended

Investigation of the St. Lawrence Rand, Inc., a mining company operating in the Randsburg district, in connection with an application for the company to sell $333,000 worth of stock, was concluded yesterday by the State Corporation Department. The application was taken under advisement by Examiner Strachan.

Operations of the company first came to the attention of the department when the company engaged in a stock-selling campaign in Santa Ana. It is asserted that this was in violation of the Corporate Securities Act.

Deputy Commissioner Hiemens brought out in testimony at the hearing that blocks of 2500 shares of stock also were given Edward H. Richards, a Santa Ana banker, in return for services as accountant, and to C. B. Buxton, a real estate broker, in exchange for the use of his office. M. A. Dulgar, a building contractor of Santa Barbara and Santa Ana, is named as chief promoter of the company.

RETURNS ON EMPLOYEES ARE CALLED

Rules as to Individual Lists Cited to Correct Erroneous Impression

Information returns must be filed with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington on or before March 15, by every individual, firm, corporation, partnership, receiver, trustee, executor, administrator and employer, who, during 1924, paid our salaries, commissions, rent, royalties or other fixed and determinable gains in amounts of $1000 or more to any individual, Revenue Collector Goodcell announced yesterday. These information returns are entirely distinct from income-tax returns, and no extension of time can be granted for their filing, the collector explained.

Employers are urged to report at once the names of employees and others who received from them amounts of $1000 or more during the last year. Employers also are asked to present to their employees such figures as are required in the individual income returns.

A return is required from single persons receiving $1000 or more during the year, and from individuals married during the whole year and receiving $2500 or more. It is necessary that the returns be filed regardless of the fact that allowable deductions may indicate no tax due. Collector Goodcell said the erroneous impression is prevalent that where no tax is due the individual is relieved from filing a return. The law requires returns from married men who had a net income of $2500 or more, or a gross income of $5000 or more.

The Examination and Diagnosis of Business

Complete Analysis in business is the same as examination and diagnosis in medicine. It is an expert study, in detail, of all operations in all departments of factory and office—buying, production, selling, accounting.

Analysis proves whether the business is sick or well. If sick, it determines the weakness or ailment, making possible the prompt application of the proper remedy.

Safe and steady progress, unrestrained by doubt or fear, is assured only when the enterprise is in a condition of proven health—when the executive has a clear consciousness of strength, with the safe confidence and sane courage, inspired by facts.

For many years, it has been the privilege of Ernst & Ernst, a national organization, to serve firms nationwide in this fundamental work of the complete analysis.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: Today's moderate receipts met slightly more action than yesterday. However, no advance in price was noted, most sales being made generally around the steady mark. Three head of choice 1169-pound steers shipped from the Ogden show realized 10.50. However, other steers from the Ogden show had not sold at a late hour. Several loads of medium steers averaging around 1000 pounds cleared from 7.00 to 7.60, while a few common kinds sold downward to 6.00.

A lead of choice heifers, prize-winners at the Ogden show, averaging 1029 pounds, cleared for 7.75. However, the bulk of fat she stock went over from 6.75 to 8.00, although most of the offerings were only common and medium grades. Odd head and small lots of more desirable cows and heifers sold upward to 6.00. Several lots of cows for feeder purposes cleared from 5.75 to 6.25, while feeder heifers sold upward to 6.75. Canners and cutters held about steady, the bulk clearing from 1.00 to 2.50. Bulls were in fair demand and ruled firm, the bulk of bolognas going over from 4.00 to 4.50, while thin kinds sold downward to 3.50, a load lot making the lower price.

CALVES: Moderately active demand developed for today's fairly liberal supply, and a fair clearance was effected. However, several loads of calves were shipped to an outside market. Prices generally on southwesterns were steady to 25 cents lower, the bulk of 225 to 325-pound range calves cleared from 7.50 to 8.00, with odd head of milk weaners upward to 11.00. A few weighty kinds and "bobs" sold downward to 8.00.

HOGS: Today's fairly liberal run, estimated around 3100, approximately 850 of which were held over, met comparatively slow trade and only a partial clearance was effected. Extreme top of 11.75 was paid for one load of good and choice eastern grain fats. However, several loads were held above that price but remained unsold at a late hour. Good and choice butchers sold around steady, while mixed butchers and light lights declined generally 15 to 25 cents. The bulk of 130 to 140-pound weights cleared from 10.75 to 11.25. Packing sows held around steady, the bulk going over for 9.00, while a few smooth parkers realized 9.25.

SHEEP: Nothing was offered in the ovine division and, in the general opinion of the trade, choice handy weight wooled lambs are quotable upward to 16.50, with light weight ones upward to 8.50.

Utility Shares Are Offered by Banking Group

Hunter Dulin & Co. announce the offering of $1,000,000 American Public Utilities Company prior preferred 7 per cent stock at 92 to yield 7.60 per cent.

The company has been in successful operation for over twelve years and through subsidiaries serves 139 cities and towns in Indiana, having a total population in excess of 600,000. Over 78 per cent of operating revenues are from the sale of electricity for domestic and commercial purposes. Net earnings for the year ending June 30, 1924, were at the rate of over three and a quarter times the dividend requirements, while properties of the company, after depreciation, indicate a book value of $194 per share.

The management is vested in Samuel Insull and associates, who are considered among the best-known public utility operations in this country. The most widely known of their properties is probably the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago.

Dividends from the stock are free from the normal Federal income tax.

Hunter, Dulin & Co. are participants in the issue.

AMERICANS ADVISED TO FILE CLAIMS

Prompt Application for Redress Against Mexicans on Banking Losses Urged

Americans having claims against Mexico on account of deposits in banks there, which were prevented from meeting their obligations by any act of the Mexican government or revolutionary forces, are advised in a statement issued by Fred I. Kent, chairman of the commerce and marine commission, American Bankers' Association, to make a prompt presentation of their cases to the Secretary of State at Washington. The statement says:

"The attention of American bankers and of other American citizens, whether corporations, partnerships or individuals having claims against the Mexican government because of deposit accounts, which they had in the Bank of London and Mexico or in other Mexican institutions, or arising out of other obligations of such institutions, which were prevented from meeting their obligations through any act of the Mexican government or of any Mexican revolutionary party or faction, is called to the fact that under the conventions between the United States and Mexico signed at Washington and Mexico City, September 8 and 10, 1923, respectively, it is necessary if they wish to establish their claims that such claims should be presented by petition addressed to the Secretary of State at the earliest possible date.

"Such claims if they are to be considered by the general claims commission must be filed by the agent for the United States with the secretary of the commission before August 30, 1925, and should reach the Department of State well in advance of that date for transmission to the agency for examination and filing.

"The consideration and proper presentation of such claims will be greatly facilitated if they are filed promptly as the cases of American depositors in Mexican banks will probably be among the first to be considered by the general claims commission when it meets in March, 1925.

"It is suggested that in case of doubt as to what claims may come within the conventions or as to the form in which they should be presented to the Secretary of State, that bankers or others communicate directly with the agent for the United States, Mixed Claims Commission, United States and Mexico, Washington, D. C."

SERVING A FUNDAMENTAL HUMAN NEED

The Flag We Fly

is our heritage from the pioneer navigators of the Pacific Coast, who first unfurled it in 1854—71 years ago. Our only change has been to add the four Admiral stars in the field of blue.

And as token of the loyalty of our men, their knowledge of the sea and familiarity with the business in which we are engaged, we are proud that of 2,600 employes serving under this flag

—Three have more than fifty years service;
—Nine have served more than forty-five years, and —Forty-three have a service record of more than thirty years.

THE success of any business, over a period of years, must, in the final analysis, depend upon the value of the service which it renders.

The need for an unbiased and expert service for investors was realized many years ago by John Moody, the founder of Moody's Investors Service.

The soundness and value of the various forms of this service have become generally recognized by an ever increasing number, so that today this organization supplies information and advice covering the whole investment field to more than twenty thousand individual investors, bankers and other financial institutions.

The substantial and constant growth shown in the accompanying chart has also been made possible by renewals, year after year, from clients who realize the wisdom of keeping their invested funds surrounded by every possible safeguard.

STOCK PRICES SHOW DECLINES

Trade News Favorable But Sentiment Bearish

Gasoline Increase Incites Buying of Oils

Equipments Climb; Railway Shares Weaken

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Stock prices displayed a reactionary tone in today's active stock market, with many popular issues recording net losses ranging from large fractions to 4 points.

With the possible exception of a slight stiffening of the call-money rate there was nothing in the day's news to account for the selling, which probably was inspired by the market advices of several large commission houses suggesting caution on the part of traders and expressing the belief that the recent advance had left the market in a weakened technical position.

Trade news as a rule was favorable. It included the publication of reports that the subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation were operating at 92 per cent of capacity, a series of gasoline price advances and the continuance of heavy car loadings, the figures for the week ended January 3 showing a substantial advance over the corresponding period a year ago. The December foreign-trade figures showed a favorable trade balance of $109,000,000.

United States Steel common closed ⅝ lower at 124 after having fluctuated between 123⅝ and 124⅝. American Can showed a net loss of 2¼ at 161⅞ after touching 164⅝ in the early trading.

OILS LIVELIER

Oils, which had showed signs of strength in recent sessions, yielded with the rest of the list, despite the first advance in gasoline prices since last November. Atlantic Refining broke 9¼ points to 100. Houston dropped more than 3 points to 80⅝, and net losses of a point or more were recorded by Independent Oil and Gas, Mexican Seaboard, the Pan-American issues, Barnsdall "B," California Petroleum, Cosden and General Asphalt.

Equipment issues showed a temporary burst of strength on merger reports involving some of the large companies. American Locomotive touched the best price in its history at 119⅝ and then dropped back to 117⅝ for a net gain of 1⅝ on the day. Baldwin closed unchanged at 134⅝ after selling as high as 137⅞.

General Electric closed more than 4 points higher at 310¾ after being as low as 308.

Denver and Rio Grande Western preferred broke 6 points to 50⅝, while net losses of 1 to 2 points were recorded by New York Central, "Nickel Plate," Missouri Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Chicago Great Western preferred, Chicago and Northwestern, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna, Lehigh Valley, Pere Marquette, Wabash preferred "A" and several others.

Call money renewed at 3 per cent and then advanced to 3½. Offerings of time money were not so abundant today, but the rates remained unchanged. Commercial paper was fairly active between 3½ and 3¾ per cent.

Foreign exchanges were irregular. Sterling rules slightly lower around 4.77⅛ and French francs were quoted around 5.25 cents, but most of the other European rates showed small recessions.

ROAD WORK PROGRAM IS ADVOCATED

Increased Gas and Motor Taxes Urged in Resolution Before Supervisors

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—A resolution requesting legislative enactment of a program for financing future highway construction with provision for an increase in the present gasoline tax of from 2 cents to 3 cents was introduced today at the fifteenth annual convention of the County Supervisors Association of California, which opened for a three-day session here.

The resolution, which was introduced by Supervisor W. S. Biggs of Eldorado county and which was referred to the resolutions committee for a report, contains four salient points. They are:

(1.) An annual budget for State highway maintenance, reconstruction and new construction to be based on annual revenues.

(2.) An increase in the present gasoline tax from 2 cents to not less than 3 cents a gallon.

(3.) A readjustment of the license fee on motor vehicles on a weight basis.

(4.) An apportionment of the revenues to be derived from the gasoline taxes and motor vehicle fees in such a manner that the California Highway Commission will receive an income for maintenance and reconstruction equal to the present income for these purposes and an additional annual income for new construction of not less than $12,000,000; the several counties to receive as their share an apportionment not less than that now received from State sources.

Fifty-four of fifty-eight California counties were represented at the supervisors' sessions today. A total of 138 delegates were in attendance at the afternoon session, twenty-two counties being represented by their entire boards.

Solon Manager is Fatally Hurt in Auto Crash

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—John (Buddy) Ryan, manager of the Sacramento baseball team of the Coast League, was so badly injured that he probably will die when his automobile turned over and pinned him beneath it on the road between Woodland and Davis tonight. He suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries, and has not regained consciousness since the accident.

Charles Schmidt, brother of Walter Schmidt, catcher of the Pittsburg Pirates, and Leo McClelland of Butte, riding with Ryan, escaped with slight injuries. Schmidt is a new umpire for the Coast League.

The three men had been duck hunting near Maxwell and were returning in Ryan's automobile. A broken wheel is believed to have caused the accident.

STONEHAM CASE CHARGES STAND

Moves of Ball Club Owner for Dismissal Denied

Court Calls First Witness in Mail Fraud Case

Prosecution is Out to Prove Bucketshop Charge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The first witness in the trial of Charles A. Stoneham, principal owner of the New York Giants, and seven co-defendants charged with using the mails to defraud, was called this afternoon after opposing counsel had presented their opening arguments. Motions were made by defense counsel for dismissal of the indictments, to have a juror withdrawn, and a mistrial declared, all of which were denied by Judge Winslow.

Martin Conboy, attorney for three of Stoneham's co-defendants, created a mild sensation when in his argument he said that Stoneham "is as liable today as he ever was" to the customers of his former brokerage concern for the losses they suffered in the failure of E. D. Dier & Co., the brokerage house to which Stoneham transferred his customers' accounts.

This was in answer to a statement by Special United States Attorney Victor E. House, in which he compared Stoneham to a thief and E. D. Dier & Co. to a "fence." The prosecution, he said, would charge and prove that the brokerage firms of Charles A. Stoneham & Co. and E. D. Dier & Co. were bucketshops.

Mr. Conboy denied that there was any mention of bucketshops or bucketing in the indictments and said there was nothing in the indictment to indicate that the defendants had acted with criminal intent. Even if all the allegations in the indictments against all of the defendants were proved, Conboy contended, not one of them could be convicted of crime.

Mr. House answered that the prosecution would show that during 1921 there had been a long steady dealing in security prices and that it was during this decline that Stoneham decided to retire from the brokerage business. The government would prove, he said, that Stoneham conspired with the other defendants to defraud the customers of his firm by prevailing upon them to turn their accounts over to Hughes and Dier, predecessors of E. D. Dier & Co., which subsequently failed.

Have You a Daughter?

If You Have, This Woman's Advice Is of Vital Interest to You

Seattle, Wash.—"In my girlhood, I suffered with severe backaches and pain and had a catarrhal condition. These disagreeable sensations were completely eradicated and I developed into a strong and healthy womanhood because my mother gave me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. As my own daughters were developing I gave them Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and in that way prevented their having any form of inward weakness. My daughters developed naturally into womanhood and I am sure it was because I had them take the 'Prescription' at that critical period."—Mrs. Sadie E. Holtzner, 2124 North 52d St.

RAID REVEALS BOOTLEG HOAX

"Imported" Liquor Made in Inglewood Hills

Fake Labels and Seals Perfect Counterfeits

Dozens of Foreign Rum Makers Are Found

The sale of "choicest imported wines from Europe" is due for a decreasing slump, according to Captain Cosgrove, chief of the District Attorney's dry forces. He raided the distillery early yesterday morning in the Inglewood hills, where the assorted intoxicating imitations, some advertised as being as old as Methuselah, were being made.

Through the Christmas holidays and yesterday Los Angeles was being flooded with crude bootleg stuff. They included the brands of many of the most famous alcoholic beverages—and the tales of how they were being smuggled into Los Angeles to satisfy the thirst palates of the most thoroughbred drinkers, those who pay top-notch prices for the "real stuff"—would make the buccaneers of the Spanish Main look like evangelists.

BOAT BLASTED

Tales are told about the extensive rum running activities along the Southern California coast, which for a time it is said brought the choicest of fine liqueurs to Los Angeles, but it was blasted when Chief Constable Conrad Lund of the Inglewood Park Cemetery.

MYSTERY SHOT MAY BE FATAL

Boy, 13 Years of Age, Struck in Jaw by Bullet While at Play in Barn

Victim of a mystery bullet, Herbert Crapper, 13 years of age, of 5431 South Normandie avenue, was at the Receiving Hospital last night in a critical condition while detectives were searching for the person who fired the shot.

Crapper was wounded while playing with another small boy in a barn at 1626 West Fifty-fifth street. The bullet came through an open window and struck the boy in the jaw, lodging against his skull. Dr. Saverien of the Receiving Hospital staff ordered an X-ray to determine the location of the bullet. He said the boy may die.

Detective Lieutenants Schubert, Robison and Ledbetter are working on the case. They are being assisted by the boy's playmate, whose name was not learned last night.

DAKOTA RANCH LURES COLLIE

Dog Walks 3150 Miles Back to Former Home

Leaves Day After Arrival Here in Auto

Shows Almost Human Grief in Farm Scene

Urged on by an animal instinct that overcame the seemingly impossible, Scottie, a collie dog, brought to Los Angeles from North Dakota by his owner, walked 3150 miles back to the Dakota ranch where he was brought up.

It took the dog a little more than eight months to walk the return trip home. He will be shipped back to Los Angeles and another effort will be made to induce him to stay in California with the family that has owned him for about nine years.

Homesickness is ascribed by the dog's owner as the reason for the animal's remarkable feat.

The story of the dog's return to his old home immediately after being brought out to the Coast by automobile is told by Floyd E. Runyon, who operates an automobile service station at Baker avenue and Bandini Road, about two miles south of Bell.

BROUGHT HERE IN CAR

Mr. Runyon said he left his 800-acre ranch at Tower City, N. D., with his family, traveling to Los Angeles by automobile. The dog rode in the car. They arrived in Los Angeles April 24, last, stopping at the home of Mr. Runyon's mother, Mrs. M. E. Runyon, of 1262 West Thirty-seventh street.

"On the following day," said Mr. Runyon, "we went for a short automobile ride and left the dog at home. We never thought to tie Scottie up. When we came back he was gone. We hunted for him and made inquiries. Finally we gave him up for lost, thinking that perhaps he may have been picked up and destroyed during the foot-and-mouth quarantine.

TELLS OF RETURN

"The day before Christmas we received a letter from one of our relatives back home in Tower City, telling us that Scottie had turned up there on December 13. You can figure out for yourself how long he was on the road.

"How he did it, how he stood the trip, how he got his food, and, most of all, how he knew what roads to take is a mystery. My own theory is that he would be picked up by children along the way and would stay with them, live at their homes for a time and then he would be on his way again. We certainly got a fine Christmas present when we received word that Scottie had been

BAN ON CHURCH ROW IN SCHOOL

Santa Ana Board Calls Halt on Controversy Questions

Notifies College Philosophy Teacher to That Effect

Action Follows Complaints by Local Clergymen

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Jan. 14.—As a result of complaints by members of the clergy here, the Board of Education has notified Edward M. Neally, teacher of philosophy at the Junior College, to refrain from raising any religious questions bearing on the controversy between fundamentalists and modernists, it was learned today.

Neally was told by Superintendent of Schools Cranston, following an executive session of the board, that religious questions introduced into his teaching of philosophy are not appropriate and cannot be grasped intelligently by students as young as those in Junior College.

Beyond admitting that such action had been taken by the Board of Education, Neally refused tonight to comment on the matter.

Leading in the protest of the clergy is Rev. Will H. Betts, a local minister.

Superintendent Cranston said the matter previously had been taken up with State Superintendent Wood, who advised that the philosophy teacher should be "more cautious in raising questions bearing on religion."

Among the questions asked students by Neally, which are objected to by the clergy, are the following:

What is your definition of religion?

What do you think of the differences between the fundamentalists and the modernists? On which side do you stand and why?

Do you believe in existence of Satan?

Was Jesus God?

What is your definition of God?

Do you think God is a person, if so a definite person?

No attempt will be made to cause Neally to resign his position, it was stated, the entire action being to cause him to refrain from raising questions similar to the above.

Tells of Seeing Thief Flee With Mate's Trousers

Charged with stealing a pair of trousers from the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Boeres, 187 Live Oak street, Walnut Park, Merle P. Randleman went on trial for burglary yesterday in Judge Kaetch's court.

Mrs. Boeres, called as a witness for the State, testified she saw a man she believed to be the defendant enter her home August 13, 1924, take her husband's trousers and then make his exit through the bedchamber door. Her husband was asleep at the time, she said.

A question as to the whereabouts of the pants brought forth the answer from Boeres that he had them on, and in view of this, the court ruled it would not be necessary to introduce them in evidence. Boeres said whoever stole the pants evidently was not satisfied with them as he found them the next morning stretched across a fence in the back yard.

"A. C. TROUBLE" STALLS CARS

Rain Provides New Alibi for Getting Home Hour Late

"A. C. Trouble" caused hundreds of business men to arrive home an hour late last night to a cold dinner and a suspicious wife.

So that the matrons will not misjudge their spouses, it was explained by Los Angeles Railway officials last night that the rain caused short circuits in some of the power lines, termed A. C., or alternating current, trouble, just when the yellow cars were transporting the weary workers homeward.

The power came only in spurts, resulting in long lines of street cars, packed with fretful humanity, stretching along Broadway. Shortly after 6 p.m. the jam began to clear and the cars moved at their customary pace.

PAIR IN COURT ON CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Leaders of Spiritualist Body

President William A. Jackson and Secretary Lois A. Jackson on trial for criminal conspiracy.

PROSECUTION SCORES POINT IN SPIRITUALIST TRIAL

State Wins Right to Present as Evidence Records Seized in Raids on Headquarters

Scoring heavily for the prosecution in the trial of the officers and directors of the National Independent Spiritualist Association, Inc., for criminal conspiracy and other offenses, Deputy City Prosecutor Reames yesterday won the right to present to Police Judge Pope virtually all the important records seized in recent raids on the organization's headquarters.

The occasion was that of the opening of perhaps the most serious court battle against the operation of psychism and allied arts ever tried in the State of California. That it is so considered was evidenced by the scores of sympathizers of clairvoyancy and similar practices who crowded into the tiny courtroom.

It was a day of spirited argument between attorneys for the prosecution and defense; a day of motions—motions to quash search warrants, to return seized evidence, to strike from the records the testimony of important witnesses, of dismissal of the case; a day of objections on the grounds of irrelevancy, incompentency, immateriality, lack of responsiveness and a dozen other causes.

FIVE TESTIFY

During that first day of trial only five witnesses were examined, but in their testimony many thousand found its way into court records. And in that testimony was matter placing a distinctly condemnatory light on the operations of this spiritualist association with its claimed membership of 250,000.

The trial had scarcely opened yesterday morning when Attorneys Hill and Nelson, counsel for President William A. Jackson, Secretary Lois A. Jackson and six of the other defendants, interposed a motion to quash the search warrants upon which the majority of the State's documentary evidence had been procured.

This, as in the case of the succeeding motions, was denied by the judge. Then came the calling of Charles Sloan, of the Times staff, first witness for the prosecution. His early testimony included the identification of the State charter of the association, various minute books, articles of incorporation, by-laws, letters and other documentary evidence. This was admitted in the majority through stipulation of attorneys, although attorneys for the defense had entered a general objection to the admission of all evidence in the case at its outset.

DEPOSITED FEE

Sloan then testified that under the identity of "Dr. Chamberlyn Snow," a purely fictitious character, he had visited the offices of the association, and, on October 14, after some conversation with W. A. Jackson, president of the association, had filled out an application blank for ordination as a minister of the gospel of spiritualism and had deposited $25 as an application fee.

He averred that he had given numerous references as to the character and general attainments of Dr. Snow, but stated that

DOUGLAS PLANES ORDERED

An order for fifty airplanes at an approximate total of $750,000 has been given the Douglas Company of Santa Monica, whose new plane, the Douglas XO has been adopted by the United States Air Service as the new standard observation type to replace the De Haviland. A force of 350 men will be put to work on the contract at once, according to H. H. Witzel, plant manager, and production will be in full swing within six weeks.

Donald W. Douglas, president of the Douglas Company, is in Washington going over the details of the new contract with government officials. He achieved international prominence through the performance of the world cruisers which, under the command of Lieut. (now Capt.) Lowell Smith, recently circumnavigated the globe.

The Douglas XO triumphed over no less than nine other planes during the course of the trials which took place at McCook Field, Dayton, O., during the early days of December. Among those beaten were the products of all representative American factories and two European concerns, Fokker and Finkel. This makes the third time in succession that Douglas has met Fokker in open competition and defeated him during the last three years. The Douglas plane outperformed all rivals, and the Curtiss was next.

In general characteristics the new Douglas creation is a standard biplane with a wing spread of 39.5 feet. It is of the two-place corps-observation type, equipped

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE collision between a switch engine and a trolley car at First and Alameda streets yesterday suggests a question.

Just how many people are to be killed before the City Council and the Railroad Commission eliminate grade crossings?

Some day there will be an appalling accident—a massacre. Then they will scamper wildly around to provide some of the appurtenances of at least a relatively modern civilization. But, gentlemen, be frank and tell us what death limit you have set. Is it ten killings, or twenty, or a hundred?

DEATH TRAP

I am willing to wager that no other city in the country has a crossing like that, for instance, at Avenue Forty-four and Marmion Way—where a train comes slipping down a steep grade and around a sharp curve onto a crossing which lies down in the middle of a deep ditch. The City Council ought formally to set that place apart for those contemplating suicide.

THE TOWN PUMP

No city that has open grade crossings is complete without a public hitching post and a town pump. If we are going to be a hick town, let's be a regular one and put the fire-alarm bell in the cupola of the City Hall and elect Jack Dempsey town constable.

THE WICKED DON JUAN

A literary feller in one of the high-brow magazines has rushed to the defense of Don Juan. He says that the world's most illustrious sheik did not pursue ladies: he was pursued—and overtaken.

However it may have been in Juan's case, it is certainly true with many modern sheiks. I have a close friendship with most of the "screen lovers." The thing that strikes you at once about most of them is that they are not much interested in the soft nothings of love. They are anything but girl crazy.

WHITE SLAVERY! HUH!

Most of the rest of the civilized world is on the other side of the debate. Nevertheless, I have the utmost confidence in the sentimental chivalry of the modern young man.

Despite all the "white slave" stories there are mighty few girls who really and truly want to be good who find that this chivalry fails them. The trouble is that flappers frequently like to see if they couldn't just stick the tips of their toes into danger—and then run.

The girl who lets it be understood right off the reel—what's what—can usually rely on finding the world her big brother and her protector.

SMUTTY STORIES

My experience is that the modern boy is singularly clean—even in his conversation. Smutty stories will break up a group of men quicker than any other thing I know. I very seldom hear a conversation between men that women could not hear—and be the better for hearing.

"MAN TALK"

"Man talk" is concealed from women, however. It often has a flavor of sentiment and poetry that flappers would shriek to hear. For instance, I heard a young actor and a young writer talking to each other—of how wonderful it would be to spend one's life in a Buddhist monastery—the world forgetting and by the world forgot . . . a life of tranquil thought and quietude . . . "away as one of them said, "from this dirty struggle called life." If they really did it, of course, they would be bored to suicide in twenty-four hours. But it shows you what kind of thing young men sometimes talk about when girls are not around.

THE PURE IN HEART

I don't think there is anything in this life as pure as the mind of a clean young boy. Girls are too infernally practical. I remember when I was a very little boy I used to go to Redondo and sit on a certain piling on the wharf and literally float out of life into a dream country where I ranged the world—a sort of spindle-legged Sir Galahad with spectacles, but a mighty valor—a regular hell-bender with dragons and wicked pirates and villains and such.

Los Angeles now possesses a colony of sculptors capable of making every public building a thing of artistic beauty, serving the cultural as well as the material needs of the community. The actual cost is so trivial compared with the pleasure such structures would give to the public that one wonders why those who plan these buildings are so niggardly with their expenditure for sculpture and other artistic decorations, and so lavish in some other directions.

RETRIAL OF DEGNAN IS DOUBTFUL

District Attorney to View Appeal Court Decision to Determine Action

The District Attorney will await an official copy of the decision of the District Court of Appeal in the Michael Degnan case before deciding whether to retry Degnan, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts said yesterday. If Degnan is not retried, the perjury charge against O. M. Ward will probably not be retried, Fitts said.

Degnan was convicted of assault upon Eloise Clement, former actress and psychic lecturer, to whom he had once been engaged. The higher court set aside the conviction in an opinion which castigated Miss Clement and the trial court and declared Degnan had not had a fair trial.

Ward, who had testified as a defense witness, swore Degnan and Miss Clement registered at his hotel at National City at a time when Miss Clement swore she was in Los Angeles. Most of the charge against him was stricken out and the balance dismissed on demurrer when the case came to trial.

John L. Richardson, who was attorney for both Degnan and Ward, conferred with Fitts yesterday, after which the latter said he will hold up for the present filing of a new complaint against Ward and will also hold the Degnan case in abeyance. He intimated it is doubtful that either case will be brought to trial again.

LIMERICK ORCHESTRA TOOTS ON

First an Ocarina, Now a Saxophone; Whither Do We Drift? Fair Santa Barbara's Harbor Makes Trouble for "Times" Fan Family

After stewing a couple of days over last Thursday's curtailed poem, Limerick fans ought to be hard boiled and ready for almost anything. They have been getting a rest with nice, easy rhymes, but the concocter of the Limericks has promised the Limerick editor something special as soon as he can think up one rhyme for "business" and make a liar out of the rhyming dictionary and then there will be a Limerick that will make strong men weep.

They shot in all directions trying to bring down a rhyme for Santa Barbara. Many cartridges were wasted, but Frank A. Bowman of 5705 Corona avenue, Maywood, picked out one bird and landed a charge of No. 5 in it, winning the $25:

A booster for fair Santa Barbara
Said, "Say, d'ever see such a harbor, uh?
"Just look at the view
"From the hills above, too!
"All year, it's a fine motor car borough."

Mrs. Wellslake D. Morse, 475 Kensington Place, Pasadena, wins the second prize of $5 with this line:

"You can see farther, and farther, and farthers."

Among the lines that came close was this by J. R. Hixon, 2405 San Emidio street, Bakersfield:

"See the ocean in motion so n'ar b' yuh!"

Another close shot from Pasadena was written by Mrs. Edith Morris, 401 Claremont Drive:

"Pack your grip and we'll send out a car fer ya."

Another the judges liked was by Howard W. Coombs, 461 South Lake street:

"Here I fish for a word—it's a darb or a ——."

Miss A. D. George, Gladstone avenue, San Dimas, explains she means Los Angeles the Peerless:

"He forgot, when he spoke, about our borough."

Albert G. Dawson of 3636 South Grand avenue voiced a common complaint when he wrote:

"E'en in rhymes, nothing's like Santa Barbara."

Miss D. A. Davis, 326 North Larchmont Boulevard, brought down one bird without mutilating it beyond recognition:

"Could better surroundings engarb her, eh?"

Lucie Evans, 1618 South Berendo street, just gave it up thus:

STATE SCORES IN PSYCHIC CASE

"Times" Reporter Tells of Ordination as Pastor

Testifies Fee of $150 Paid to President Jackson

while giving them that they could not testify as to his knowledge of spiritualism, because he "didn't know a damned thing about" it. Letters of inquiry sent to these references, he said, were answered by himself; the letters of reply, all of them denying "Dr. Snow's" ability of a spiritual medium, were read into the record.

VISITS OFFICE

Jackson had told him, he said, that the matter would be taken up by the board of directors at a special meeting that he, Jackson, would call. This meeting, the testimony shows, was held on or about November 1. On November 7, the record reveals, Sloan, as Dr. Chamberlyn Snow, again visited Jackson's office and was given a certificate of ordination as a minister of the gospel under the association.

Replying to questions by Prosecutor Reames as to whether or not any attempt had been made by Jackson to have him comply with rules and regulations of the association relative to six months' previous membership and a test of his psychic ability before a committee appointed by the board of directors, Sloan said that not only had that not occurred, but that no direct question was asked of him regarding his qualifications by Jackson at any time.

CHECK GIVEN

The witness averred that on the occasion of his receipt of the ordination certificate, he had given Jackson a check signed by "Dr. Chamberlyn Snow" for $150 in full payment of the certificate. At this point the defense sought to show that Jackson at this time had returned the $25 in cash previously given him. This return was denied by the witness. A photographic copy of the face of the check was then admitted into evidence, as also was a visiting card presented to Jackson by "Dr. Snow" on the occasion of his first visit to the association's offices.

Sloan admitted being present at the time of the service of the search warrant upon which the association's records were seized. Considerable of his later testimony concerned the disposition of these records.

Miss Lois Hutchinson, private secretary of B. P. Schulberg, of screen fame, and one of the references given by "Dr. Snow" was called to the stand for a few moments to testify as to the receipt of the letter of inquiry from the association and the reply which she sent to the association at Sloan's behest.

The morning session concluded with Sloan still on the witness stand. He was also called for a few moments at the outset of the afternoon session, but after a few moments made way for Wiathrop Blake of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, who attempted to identify photographs of the reverse of the check given by "Dr. Snow" to Jackson for the ordination certificate.

A slight thrill permeated the courtroom when Judge Georgia Bullock, recently appointed to Department C—the women's court where Judge Pope formerly held sway—walked into the little railed inclosure and for more than an hour sat at the judge's side.

Miss Mona Gardner, special writer for The Times, followed Blake to the stand. Her testimony was corroborative of that previously given by "Dr. Snow," whom she accompanied as a witness to all proceedings during the progress of the investigation.

ANSWERED LETTERS

She told of the conversations which took place between Jackson, as president of the organization and "Dr. Snow." She saw the passage of the money which bound the bargain through which "Dr. Snow" was ordained as a minister of the spiritualist gospel.

She averred that, under the pen name of Margaret Geary, she had written and sent one of the replies to an inquiry made by the association as to her knowledge of "Dr. Snow" and his experience.

Cross-examination of Miss Gardner consumed but a few moments, the defense merely attempting to show that she had discussed the case and her testimony with various persons numerous times. This she denied.

J. R. Poland, chief investigator for the City Prosecutor's office, came next to the witness chair. He stated in decisive tones that the raids on the headquarters of the organization had been made at his behest and under his leadership and responsibility, that he had personally examined the seized material to be certain that it referred to matters contained in the search warrant and relative to the operation of the association.

To him went the burden of identification of the many hundreds of application blanks and ordination certificates which were offered as evidence by the prosecution to prove the asserted conspiratorial activities of the association's directorate. To this the defense objected on the ground that they were immaterial to the present case, which, they averred, was based upon the one purchase of a certificate by "Dr. Snow." The point after much discussion, was overruled by Judge Pope and the evidence admitted. To this work the balance of the afternoon was given.

A night session, at first planned by Judge Pope, was later discarded and the trial adjourned until this morning. At that time, it was rumored, Prosecutors Reames and Friedman, who are associated in the case, plan the introduction of hitherto untold and startling evidence.

UNION DEPOT IS DISCUSSED

State Rail Board Meets Citizens' Committee Here; Will Conduct Another Session Monday

Mayor Cryer's citizens' committee of three held its first meeting here yesterday with the State Railroad Commission in an effort to expedite settlement of the union terminal controversy. A further conference will be held here Monday, at the end of which it is hoped that sufficient progress will have been made to delimit the problem which the two bodies have under consideration.

"Our talk today," said President Brundige of the Railroad Commission, after adjournment had been taken, "was merely preliminary. We tried to map out our task, agree on where it begins and where it ends, and pave the way for getting down to business. That proved to be more than we could do in one session and we shall meet again here Monday."

Besides being the first meeting of the citizens' committee with the commission, it was also the first session of the latter body attended by two of its new members, Commissioners George D. Squires and Ezra De Coto. Commissioner Harley W. Brundige is also serving this year his first term as president, although a veteran member of the commission.

The new members will attend another meeting today at Bakersfield, in the case of that city against the Santa Fe Railway, to familiarize themselves further with the commission's methods of procedure and will then take up their duties in earnest.

Representing the city yesterday were City Attorney Stephens, William G. McAdoo, Joseph Scott and Nathan Newby. The matters in controversy are now before the Interstate Commerce Commission, but Mayor Cryer in appointing his committee said it seemed to him that "the point has now been reached where the interests of this great community, of the traveling public, and of the railroads themselves would best be served by a friendly settlement of the issues involved. If such a settlement could be had, further delays would be avoided."

found. We have ordered him shipped back here again."

Relatives in Dakota said Scottie's return to the old home ranch was as emotionally dramatic as a human actor could have made it. Arriving at Tower City, he hunted around looking for some familiar scent. He found a team of horses that Mr. Runyon said just before coming to Los Angeles. It is said he leaped with joy, yelping and barking at the horses' noses. The new owner could not understand what was the matter with the dog. Scottie followed the team out to the ranch and immediately ran to the house.

And then, according to the account of his return as given in the letter, those present could just see the Collie's spirits begin to fall. Three thousand one hundred and fifty miles, looking for the old familiar whistle, the voices of the children, and to the heart-wringing appeal that looked out from his big brown eyes, the new folks on the ranch were forced to say: "Why, they're not here, Scottie, old boy!"

The letter went on to say that Scottie ran out to the barn, yelped and whined, and then crawled back to the house, where he flopped down and began to howl—not loudly, crying, they called it.

Mr. Runyon said in the little more than eight years that he was on the ranch, Scottie was off the place only once. And that time he was so worried that he was practically useless in helping to drive home some cows that Runyon had purchased a few miles away. The dog is brown and white in color and is eight years and six months old.

Flint to Discuss Shrine Conclave on Journey East

Plans for the fifty-first annual session of the Imperial Council Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine to take place in this city next June will be discussed in the next three weeks in various sections of the country with leading members of the organization by Motley H. Flint, director-general of the executive committee handling the program for the big conclave.

Mr. Flint, who is executive vice-president of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, will leave this morning on the Santa Fe on a business trip to New York and other eastern cities. He expects to return to Los Angeles early in February.

RAID REVEALS BOOTLEG HOAX

cohol which formed its base, large quantities of coloring and flavors, filters, wrappers, electrical contrivances with which raw bootleg booze is given the age of many years within a few hours, a patent sealer, barometers, corks, and countless other appurtenances for the hasty manufacture of "fine old liquor, aged in the wood."

De Roma is being held on charges of manufacturing and possessing liquor in violation of the Wright Act, and with maintaining a public nuisance.

"The smuggling yarns will probably be scarce for a while," Chief Contreras stated yesterday. "The buyers have been tricked into believing they were obtaining real, aged liquor smuggled from Europe. The stuff has been flooding Los Angeles and none of the old professional drinkers was wise to the fake. They were being charged the highest prices and by the price they judged that it was the high-class stuff. But the bootleg liquor we seized in this raid—regardless of the fancy bottles, and pretty labels—is some of the most dangerous and rottenest counterfeit liquor ever handled by local bootleggers."

DR. FURST'S RITES TO BE READ TODAY

Former Head of Kansas State Medical Society Taken Suddenly

Funeral services for Dr. Oliver J. Furst, 67 years of age, of 954 West Thirty-seventh Place, will be conducted at the Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale, at 11 a.m. today. Dr. Furst, a Los Angeles resident since 1910, spent most of his professional life in Kansas and was at one time president of the Kansas State Medical Society. He was also Mayor of Peabody, Kan., and was division surgeon for the Santa Fe Railway.

Dr. Oliver J. Furst.

Dr. Furst died Monday at the Research Hospital, Glendale, of diabetes, having collapsed a few hours before. He was in active practice up to the day of his death. He was born in Salona, Pa. He took the medical course at the University of Iowa, to which State his family moved, and received his degree in 1883, exactly 100 years from the date of graduation of his grandfather, Dr. Conrad Cornelius Pellman, who had served as a surgeon in the Revolutionary War. He practiced five years in Iowa, then moved to Kansas.

Dr. Furst in 1884 married Miss Jennie Snyder of Conrad, Iowa. He leaves his widow, two sons, Clifford D. Furst of Los Angeles and Thomas M. Furst of Glendale, and a daughter, Mrs. Robert T. Lyons of Glendale. He was a member of the Masonic order and of the Modern Woodmen of the World. He was at the time of his death chief elder of the West Adams Presbyterian Church, whose minister, Rev. W. H. Fishburn, will officiate at the services. These will be in charge of Pierce & Eyrick.

Inspector Lauds Street Lighting System of City

Southern California's progress in ornamental and efficient street lighting was praised highly yesterday by L. A. S. Wood, manager of the South Bend works of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, who is here inspecting the lighting systems installed by his concern.

"You are rapidly acquiring some of the most beautifully lighted streets in the country," he said. "Business follows light and properly lighted streets are an important factor in public safety."

LACY CALLS CITY TICKET CONFERENCE

Civic Organization Heads to Discuss Recommendation of New Councilmen

A meeting of the presidents of leading civic organizations of Los Angeles, selected with a view to obtaining a typical cross section of Los Angeles life, has been called for the 23rd inst. by President Lacy of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss plans for the four years of the next city administration of Los Angeles.

No program for the meeting has been outlined, according to Mr. Lacy, who, in calling the meeting, is merely acting as the instrument in bringing the meeting about.

At the meeting the question will be considered whether all civic organizations in the city should join in recommending to the citizens of Los Angeles a ticket to be voted on at the next municipal election with a view to securing for the city the services of the type of men who should be called upon to handle problems of the magnitude of those facing the city.

In his letter, President Lacy pointed out that in addition to the new city charter, "the city will be faced with many other civic and business problems, including the harbor development, major traffic development, a civic center, park development and other improvements of great moment."

Charges Renter Stole Furniture to Start Store

One way of keeping up stock of a furniture store was employed by Hyman Davis, alias Hyman Wilson, according to a charge on which a complaint was issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark. According to the Deputy District Attorney, Davis alias Wilson is one of the few men known to have made a failure in the bootlegging business. When this didn't pay, the charge recites, Davis alias Wilson drove a couple of vans up to the door of the house he had rented furnished at 2449 Brooklyn avenue, and carted away all the furniture.

Officers Gibson and Torres say Davis was found running a furniture store at First street and Central avenue.

According to the officers, they found him through Benny Galvinsky, who declared he and Davis alias Wilson had tried making whisky out of denatured alcohol between December 5, when Davis rented the house from Harry Robinson, and December 23, when he vacated it. The operation was not successful, Galvinsky said. The officers said there were seventy-five cases of empty bottles and several bottles of alcohol in the house left vacant.

RENT OFFERS BY VALLEY CRITICISED

Public Service Commission Land Agent Says City Has Paid Liberal Prices

Declaring that liberal prices have been paid by the Municipal Water Bureau for land purchased in Owens Valley as compared with the low rental valley residents are willing to pay for this same land, John T. Martin, land agent for the Public Service Commission, yesterday filed with the commission a detailed statement of rental offers recently received for city-owned land in the valley. The amounts that a number of valley residents offered to pay in annual rentals for land recently purchased by the city in many instances amounted to less than 1 per cent per year on the price paid for the land by the city, he said.

In Martin's report it is stated that J. L. Gish, in an application to rent land recently purchased from him by the city for $55,000, offers to pay $300 a year in rentals if a full water supply is available. If a full water supply is not available, he offers to pay $250 a year. This rental offer, it was pointed out, amounts to only 1½ per cent of the cost of the land to the city, without regard to taxes and upkeep.

The report also states that John A. Dehy offers to pay an annual rental of $1000 per year for 960 acres which the city recently purchased for $140,000. This offer is also contingent upon a full irrigation supply, and amounts to less than 1 per cent of the cost of the land to the city.

For a 314-acre ranch purchased by the city for $40,000, Vivian I. Jones offers to pay a maximum rental of $750 a year. This ranch, the report states, adjoins the town of Independence and the house alone should rent for $200 a year. The applicant also offers an annual rental of $500 for another piece of property recently purchased by the city for $50,000, the report sets forth.

"It has been charged that the city in buying land in Owens Valley has 'beat down' prices," stated President R. F. Del Valle of the commission in commenting on the Martin report. "In the light of this report, however, it is plain that when the city seeks to buy land in Owens Valley, the land suddenly becomes extremely valuable. But when offers are made to lease this land for crop-raising purposes, with an assured water supply, these high values completely disappear."

Wife Asserts He Spanked Her for Bobbing Hair

A novel way of avoiding the upkeep cost of bobbed hair and countless trips to the marcellers was threatened by James Walter Brown, Santa Monica business man, against his wife, Maud Brown, according to her divorce complaint filed yesterday.

"I'll knock your silly head off and you won't have to bob your hair any more," she declared he shouted in a rage that was called forth when he returned home one night and found she had bobbed her tresses.

"You look like a devil," she asserted he stormed. "You and any other woman who bobs her hair are morally unfit to be mothers."

After those remarks he became downright abusive, she said, and, in the presence of a dinner guest, took her over his knee and spanked her so severely that it caused her physical and mental pain. He finally desisted because of objections by the guest.

The episode, according to Mrs. Brown, occurred in 1924, ten years after they were married in Fort Smith, Ark. Mrs. Brown is represented by Attorney E. Marion Crawford.

COUNCIL DEADLOCK ON CLOGSTON CONTINUES

The City Council is still deadlocked, 4 to 4, over the confirmation of the Mayor's appointment of Bert L. Clogston to the park board to succeed Mrs. Martha Nelson McCan, former president of the Friday Morning Club, who was not reappointed by the Mayor. President C. C. C. Tatum of the Realty Board yesterday telegraphed the Council from Dallas, Tex., recommending the confirmation of Clogston.

DELAY FOR WESTCOTT

Case of "Millionaire Cowboy" Is Reset for 28th Inst.

Charles Westcott, dubbed the "millionaire cowboy," won another delay yesterday in his trial on a charge of criminally attacking Olive Fern Elliott more than a year ago, in Judge Hardy's department of the Superior Court. The case was reset for the 28th inst., at the request of Attorney Warren Williams, who is defending the former film cowpuncher.

Westcott is in the County Jail under $80,000 bail. It is charged that he attacked the girl while on an automobile ride. He was arrested shortly after the asserted attack, but gave bail and left the city. Many months later he was rearrested after a search extending throughout the nation.

HARD LIMERICK FOR THE FANS

"Ta, da, da, da, da, di, ye di-a."

Miss Sarah Anthony, 1645 North Holliston avenue, Pasadena, wrote:

"An harbor sans h makes an arbor, uh?"

Mabel Glenn, 4511 Toland Way (U. of M. Rah Rah Rah) suggests:

"Plant some seeds, it sure needs just ANN ARBOR, uh."

Why not make it rah and be done? George Corbett, Box 293, Station C, drops into botanical Latin but should have dropped a syllable:

"It's the elixir of youth, the vitae arbora."

There were many who took up the cudgels for Los Angeles and L. A. Harbor. Among those who did so at length was J. Kennady, 202 Strand street, Redondo Beach.

"Yes, but as a L. A. Harbor barber I've gotta argue with yuh."

There were many Spanish versions, including this by H. Dutard Laughlin, 3560 South Vermont avenue:

"Una vista no expreso por palabra."

Which he translates, a view not expressed in words. According to Mr. Laughlin, mixtures of Spanish and English in rhymes were a common amusement of earlier Californians and he appends a sample he heard in Santa Barbara: No tengo tabaco, no tengo papel, no tengo dinero, gosh darn it to ——.

Several fans remarked that the Limericks are "getting harder-up."

In looking over the list it seems to the Limerick editor the ladies turned in most of the best ones. Is it because they are more patient or more tenacious?

PLAN DOUGLAS ARMY PLANES

with machine guns for combat work. Wing construction is of standard wood and fabric type, but the body is entirely of tubular steel and duralumin. The engine section is demounted by the removal of four bolts, as was the case in the Douglas cruisers which recently completed the first 'round-the-world flight.

With the standard 400-horsepower Liberty motor the XO lands at fifty-five miles an hour and attains a high speed of 145 miles with full military load. The ceiling is 18,500 feet. The De Havilland plane which is to be replaced by the Douglas ship lands ten miles an hour faster and is nearly thirty miles an hour slower at high speed. It also has considerably less ceiling. The XO has fuel tanks in the wings which can be dropped instantly in case of fire, a widespread landing gear which makes for safety in landing, and numerous other interesting features.

The same plane has an interchangeable power plant, using the Packard 505-horsepower engine, which puts the high speed at 160 miles an hour. The fine flying qualities of the XO, as reported by the pilots, had considerable to do with the selection, as did the good position of the observer's cockpit. During the tests the plane was flown by Eric Springer, chief pilot of the Douglas Company, assisted by Henri Guerin.

OLORADO HAS NING IN RADIO

ory of State Sketched by Professor

gram Seventh Presented by Pacific Mutual

Dagel and Alice Lohr Sing Duet Group

BY GAIL FORBES CRANE

last night was the seventh program given by the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company devoted to Western States. Colorado, with its majestic mountains and romantic dreams have been the theme of many a painter's brush, in stories and history broadcast in word and music. Prof. Van Dyke of the University of Southern California delivered a most comprehensive and interesting talk in chronological order of events which have built up one of the most beloved States in the Union.

The musical portion of the program was one of the finest which the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company has yet presented. It was under the direction of Douglas Kindall, pianist, who selected the following artists Flora Mayfield, soprano; Alice Lohr, violinist and George Cole, 'cellist. Flora Engel and Alice Lohr with pure lovely smooth voices blend and supported by musical equipment. The voices blend well together and last night Radioland had the pleasure of hearing these two artists in a group of duets. Their second was an exquisite piece of musical work. Through each number unfolded the eventful story of Colorado.

Dr. Campbell's modesty is to be regretted for it prevents from hearing more of one of the most promising young artists of the piano our city possesses. Dr. Campbell has a particular taste into modern music and on this night, the Colorado composer, some of whose works Dr. Campbell played last night, was fortunate in securing a piano tuning with imaginary piano understanding for an hour.

Dr. Cole provided several delightful selections and contributed a group of solos. The "Artequin" of Debussy is difficult to perform with the requisite sprightliness and fantasy of spirit; but Dr. Cole proved thoroughly adequate to its demands.

The conclusion of this program Radioland was entertained by the Piggly Wiggly Girls with a group of popular works.

The station hour with the Pacific Electric Company as host, presented Eleanor Woodmansee, soprano; George Wilhelm, tenor; Grace Curry, harpist and W. R. Smith, reader. Dinner hour is always a variety and excellent quality, the hour fleeted by quickly for our listeners.

Children's program opened with the lecture on American history delivered by Prof. Sylvester Hartsog. Dick Hall, our juvenile reporter, entertained the lads and lassies with interesting account of how to live in the life of Tom Mix. Harold MacCormac, screen star, had her usual basket of stories, all of which she related in her customary winsome way. Mickey McBan, the wee Scotchman, left his kilts at home at home and appeared in his work-a-day clothes and told of his latest experiences. Harry concluded the program with several numbers on the guitar.

One hour marked the debut of the Melody Trio composed of Ruth Pennell, pianist; Carmen Wells, violin, and Geraldine Bonner, viola. Fred C. McNabb was on hand to assist all those troubled with garden pests.

RMISSION UGHT FOR ROSSINGS

Railway Files Petition for Dozen, to Industries

Application of the Los Angeles Railway for permission to lay twelve street and railroad crossings in connection with the construction of a belt-line railway to serve industries in the southern portion of the city was submitted to the State Railroad Commission at a hearing before Commissioner Williams.

The petition asks permission to cross Slauson avenue, Pacific Boulevard, Boyle avenue, Soto street, Pacific Boulevard, Boyle avenue and Downey avenue, which are said to be county streets. Pacific Electric and Downey Road are steam railroad highways. It is proposed by the company to construct a belt line of the Santa Fe railroad, the tracks of the Pacific Electric at two points, and the tracks of the Los Angeles Railway.

Counsel for the company calls attention of the commission to the fact that Slauson avenue and Soto street is a point near which many industries have located as well as the Pacific Electric Company and Santa Fe at the terminus. The purpose of the plan was not mentioned, but it is estimated fifteen minutes to permit County Grade-crossing Commissioner to submit additional data relative to the proposed crossings. Counsel also is to submit maps to be made showing grades for the proposed crossings and nature of the crossings.

Commissioner Compert time has been granted the application and will issue a certificate to the Railway Company upon the proper showing.

BOULEVARD ACTION DUE

Council Will Pass on Wilshire Widening from Rimpau West

The second step to bring about the widening of Wilshire Boulevard from Westlake Park to the ocean is scheduled to be taken by the City Council today, when it will receive and probably adopt a report from its Public Works Committee recommending that proceedings be started for the widening of the boulevard to 200 feet from Rimpau Boulevard to the western city limits.

Under the Community Development Association's plan for the improvement of the boulevard, the 200-foot width will be carried from the western city limits through Beverly Hills to the ocean. The Council has ordered the widening of Wilshire from Westlake Park at Park View street to Rimpau Boulevard by the cutting back of the curb lines on both sides, so as to increase the width of the roadway fourteen feet, giving it a total width of seventy feet. The 200-foot street width will begin at Rimpau Boulevard. The Council, on April 1, 1924, by the adoption of a resolution submitted by the Community Development Association, went on record in favor of a 200-foot boulevard from Rimpau Boulevard to the western city limits, which adjoins the eastern limits of the city of Beverly Hills.

MALIBU RANCH TRIAL BEGUN

County's Suit to Condemn 180 Acres Comes Up After Court and Attorneys End Two-day Survey

Trial of the suit brought by the county to condemn 180 acres of the Malibu Ranch lands for State highway purposes was begun before Judge Frederick H. Valentine in Superior Court yesterday afternoon after the court and attorneys in the case returned from a survey of the premises occupying two days.

The case, which involves the value of land variously estimated to be worth from $50,000 to $9,000,000, is expected to consume six weeks of court sessions, and both sides have subpoenaed numerous appraisers, real-estate men and engineers to testify.

The county has already taken possession of the land in question through emergency proceedings and the trial is to determine the amount to be paid by the county to the Marblehead Land Company and others as owners of the land.

Charles H. Treat, former chairman of the Los Angeles Board of Public Works, was the first witness called and qualified as an expert in real-estate values in the section in which the land is located. He was summoned as a witness in behalf of the defense and it is expected his testimony will be continued this morning.

It was said yesterday by those connected with the case that the defense bases its value of the land partly on proposed future developments of the ranch, which stretches along the coast north of Santa Monica for a distance of more than twenty miles.

The county is being represented at the trial by Deputy County Counsel Mortimer Kline and Attorney Vincent Morgan of the law firm of Hill & Morgan. Grant Jackson and W. J. Clark are attorneys for the defense.

Harbor District Launches Move for Councilman

A movement to unite civic and commercial organizations in the harbor district to select a candidate for the Los Angeles City Council, as provided for in the district representation provision of the new City Charter, was started yesterday at a luncheon of chambers of commerce at San Pedro, Wilmington, Harbor City and Gardena, held in San Pedro. Date for a gathering to discuss candidates will be set soon, it was decided.

The luncheon yesterday was in the nature of a celebration of the decision of the State Supreme Court upholding district representation. Judge Leslie R. Hewitt, who led the legal fight, was the principal speaker. He gave most of the credit for the victory to the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce.

President A. E. Henning of the San Pedro chamber announced that all civic and commercial organizations in the district between Long Beach and Santa Monica have joined to urge that the new site of the University of California, Southern Branch, be in the Palos Verdes district. The race for the site now is between Westwood, the Huntington estate in San Marino and Palos Verdes.

FIVE HURT IN CRASH

Gasoline Speeder Hits Auto on Grade Crossing

Five men were hurt, one probably mortally, yesterday when the car in which they were riding toward Santa Paula was struck on a Southern Pacific grade crossing by a gasoline speeder. Eugene Orabuena, Sr., was taken to the General Hospital by Constable Pilcher of Newhall, and is not expected to survive. Eugene Orabuena, Jr., Ed Orabuena, J. R. Orabuena and Eusipio Velasques were less seriously injured. The automobile was cut completely in two.

CASES SPED BY SHIFT IN PROCEDURE

Mrs. Bullock Tells of Work as Police Judge in City Club Talk

"Failure-to-provide cases, which are now misdemeanors, are disposed of far more expeditiously than formerly, when, as felonies, they were handled by the District-Attorney's office," declared Police Judge Georgie Bullock, the only woman police judge in California, in her address given yesterday before the City Club.

"Formerly it required at least two weeks to dispose of one of these cases, while today a case of this kind is often adjudicated in less than a day, due largely to the co-operation of Police Judge Pope and to the outdoor relief department of county charities," said Judge Bullock.

"I have been asked to discuss the various cases that come up in my court, but I fear the time would not permit of that since there are about 20,000 ordinances, the infractions of which are likely to bring defendants before me," said the speaker.

Preceding Judge Bullock an address was given by B. H. Gillman, assistant general traffic manager of the Southern Australian Railways, who is making a tour of the world for his government, studying the systems, conditions and management of the railways of various countries.

"The great problem of Australia, with its 2,974,000 square miles, and its population of only 6,000,000, is to get citizens of that country, and members of the white race from other countries, on Australia's agricultural lands," said Mr. Gillman. "The necessity for this movement may readily be appreciated when I tell you that only about one-twentieth of our vast island is desert land, and that 44 per cent of our population is to be found in our six great cities."

Marshall Stimson, chairman of the meeting, announced that the speaker next Saturday at noon will be W. B. Mathews, who will speak on "Washington, Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam." Tomorrow at noon there will be a community sing and selections will be sung by the Women's Lyric Club, directed by J. P. Poulin.

Ince Will Given Probate; Estate is $1,676,000

The will of Thomas H. Ince was probated yesterday in Judge Willis's court.

Half of the estate is community property, the court held, in setting the bond of the executors, Mrs. Elinor Priscilla Ince, the film magnate's widow, and Attorney Ingle Carpenter, at only $750,000, in face of the fact that the estate was appraised at $1,676,000.

The will provided that the property, consisting principally of stock in the Thomas H. Ince Corporation and the Ince Investment Company, be placed in trust for the benefit of Mrs. Ince and their two sons.

OR THE TIGER?

Tiger Flowers sounds strangely as the name of a dusky prize fighter, but it is certain that Tiger is no lily.

ROUGH NIGHTMARE

A Maine man who was having a fight in his sleep broke both arms on the furniture before he woke up; thus showing that shadow boxing, after all, may be more dangerous than a twelve-round contest.

HORRIBLE EXAMPLE

In one way Russia is filling a useful role. The government and the people are furnishing the rest of the world with a horrible example. It is possible that the Commune would have made more progress in Italy and other lands but for the rough awakening following the Russian experiments.

FAIR PLAY FOR ALL

There is no question concerning the general attitude of the citizens of Los Angeles toward the Owens Valley ranchers who think the city Aqueduct has impaired their water supply. The city of Los Angeles is ready to be not only just but generous. But it will never assent to the adoption of road-agent tactics to enforce collection.

BY THE FOOT

Now we are told that there are great and essential differences in the feet of different peoples. The professor says that he can tell what race or country a man belongs to by examining his feet. That being the case, is it true that the Bolshevists in Russia all have cloven hoofs? This idea of measuring a man by the foot is not so new, anyhow.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Explorers delving amid ruins in ancient India disclose the fact that some 5000 years ago there was a civilization that lived in brick houses and had marble water pipes in the kitchen. It is gradually being disclosed that the ancients were wise to a good many things except in the matter of voting improvement bonds with the idea that they were passing the cost on to the next generation. Not even Joseph thought of that.

NATIONAL CREDIT

The British pound flutters up to $4.79 or more in the exchange column and indicates a purpose to yet attain the $4.86, which was its original concept. It is even now higher than it was immediately before the war. England is the only European country whose money has returned to its former exchange value. The recuperative powers of the Briton are vast. There is an inherent capacity for the payment of all obligations that standardizes the credit of the nation. The English may be in industrial straits, but they will never debase their money.

A WOMAN'S WEAPON

Arm a woman with an umbrella and she is prepared to cope with anything from a Numidian lion to a runaway Ford. The other evening a desperate highwayman sought to hold up and rob an elderly couple. The woman, however, carried an umbrella and, after poking one end of it in the bandit's eye, she began beating him over the head with it until he ran away. He even dropped his pistol in the effort to avoid the blows dealt by the enangered dame. Give a courageous woman an umbrella and a hatpin and she could chase a troop of cavalry into the brush.

WORK AND HUSBANDS

In the divorce court a wife complains that her husband threw up his job on the day he was married and has never soiled his hands with honest toil since that momentous hour. Such action on the husband's part assumes that a married man is not supposed to labor. If the wife cannot support the husband in the style to which he is accustomed she has no business in marrying him. It is high time the courts gave a more liberal interpretation to the rights of a married man. The idea that he is expected to work with his bare hands to keep his lady in spaghetti is too preposterous. It should be understood that when a man gives a woman his name he confers everything he has. The lady is expected to furnish the rest.

OWNERSHIP AND TAXES

Legislators who tell us that they have discovered a compromise in the conduct of the utilities by having them held and operated by the public, but taxed the same as private property, are talking nonsense. There is no railway or other utility on earth that can be operated by a political machine and still pay the taxes that are demanded from private enterprise. If public utilities were really owned and operated by the government there would have to be a loss of the revenues now derived from their taxation. There wouldn't be sufficient net revenue for replacements, much less for taxation. If the people want public ownership of utilities they will have to tax themselves heavily in other lines to make up for the benefits they think they are deriving.

NEW EYES—OLD GLASSES

The 10th of January, 1925, has passed and the expected change of sentinels on "Die Wacht am Rhein" has not materialized as was agreed in Article 429 of the Covenant of Versailles. The old key to Europe's power, the bridgehead of Cologne, the bone of contention of Caesar, Clovis and Charlemagne, still looks to Europe's political leaders as the peg on which to hang the crown of domination. The Rhine is the line across which the tug of war has for centuries moved back and forward. It is the crux which only brotherly understanding may erase.

Marshall Foch still presides over the guardhouse, notwithstanding the new $200,000,000 financial structure which Dawes flung across the Rhine to bridge over the chasm between Frankish and Teuton disputes. This proves that the scales which cause their blindness to unity have not fallen from their eyes.

President Wilson, moved through idealism born of conviction that the world could be Americanized and Europe united in the spirit of Americanism, took the lead at Versailles, only to see the broad-minded instillation of brotherhood in Europe choked in ancient diplomatic intrigue. The United States has staked billions of dollars on the speculation that Europe was ripe for unification. But European intrigue tricked its approaches with mental reservations and diplomatic clauses drafted into broad-lined American contracts. Such obscured crevices of mental operations in a camouflaged background find no place in the conception of American rectitude.

The last straw breaks the camel's back, as continued nagging exhausts angelic patience. Americanization is the last word of civilization. The great minds of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt developed the keynote of Christianity of which Christ said that the greatest command is the second equal to the first "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Equality and freedom in the American sense is the culminating practice of that theoretical statement; the American Union is the fruit of that practice. France's motto, "Liberte Egalite Fraternite," has proven to be a travesty of that climax, in so far that France only desires liberty for France and must remain on her pedestal as the center of worship. America's "E pluribus unum" has demonstrated its broad possibility. United the States of North America have stood the test of time and the Constitution made the brotherhood of States an accomplished fact.

The uncovering of pretext after pretext annoys the American mind. First it was the Monroe Doctrine in the League which wrecked that covenant. That was cured in Article 21. Then it was disarmament objected to by France, England and Japan, but finally agreed upon with modified and veiled concessions. Lastly the Dawes plan, conceived at the congress of the International Chamber of Commerce in 1923 at Rome and matured at the London conference. Now that Germany has been placed in a position to reorganize itself and pay reparations, the bridgehead of Cologne and equalization of war contributions come to the front as further obstacles in the way of Europe's Americanization.

How long will America mollycoddle a wayward Europe almost in its second childhood? There is bound to be a final showdown and its hour is fast approaching. Tax American patience too much and there is bound to be an explosion. The American people are amenable to reason, but opposed to elusive coquetry.

DIVIDING THE INDIVISIBLE

Sir Ernest Rutherford of Cambridge University is attempting what many scientists consider the impossible by making experiments by which he hopes to disintegrate the electron. Now the electron is generally regarded by physicists to be the ultimate division of the atom. Atoms were discovered and the theory of them expounded by Democritus, who lived about 400 years before Christ. For over 2300 years they were considered the smallest possible divisibility of matter, and about all that was evolved concerning them was the theory of their being massed in molecules in the formation of the smallest combination that could exist separately as substance and retain its composition and properties.

The atomic theory gave birth to strange notions. George Berkeley argued from it the nothingness of matter, a theory that seems to have impressed such widely divergent schools of thought as those represented by Buckle and Emerson. But none of these worthy philosophers was a physicist. Along came Thomson with his discovery of the electron as the last divisibility of matter and his theory that the atom was composed of electrical units—in other words, that matter was merely a form of electricity. This theory became a proved fact when Robert A. Millikan of Pasadena actually weighed electrons. Millikan weighed single electrons on microscopic oil droplets.

By taking advantage of Millikan's measurements—the first scientifically accurate ones—Sir Ernest Rutherford has been trying to split up the central mass, or "sun," around which the superimposed particles making up electrons revolve, about as difficult a task as trying to split the point of a needle with a razor, and yet he is said to have been fairly successful in his experiments, though the report is scouted by some scientists.

The importance of Sir Ernest's experiments lie in the fact that, as all matter is composed of electrons, if their character can be changed by cutting off bits of their central "sun," the matter which they compose may be transmuted from one form into another. Iron may be changed into gold, moonstones into radium and so on. But Sir Ernest is delving in a mine of such infinite littleness as to make most physicists despair of any attempt to follow him. Many of them probably would agree that Berkeley's theory of the nothingness of matter is as good as one that the electronic nucleus can be so split up as to be made to serve the purpose of transforming one element into another.

However, the atomic theory itself was scoffed at for centuries. Lucretius sardonically held that if "all be atoms, how, then, should the gods, being atomic, not be dissoluble?" Sir Ernest may be on the right track.

GARLIC AND SPEED

It has been insinuated that Paavo Nurmi, the marvelous Finnish speedster, does the bulk of his training on garlic and sauerkraut. We admit that if there were anything that would make a guy run it would be sauerkraut and garlic. Whether it is to or from is another matter.

QUEEN AND TYPIST

Rafael Sabatini made one of those delightfully sweeping assertions when he said that the average $25-a-week typist of today lives better than a queen of the sixteenth century. But a magazine writer should not have taken the statement quite so seriously as to make it the text of an article to prove that Queen Elizabeth was in a sad case as compared with a New York girl who pounds the typewriter under the electric light. Elizabeth had no electric, to be sure, but she didn't live in part of one room in a congested part of town or wash her own near-silk stockings. She wasn't wedged every day in a subway crush. She didn't have to sway from the strap of an "L" car on her way to an office where she was bossed by a man who was ready to fire her if he didn't happen to like the particular shade of henna she had imparted to her bobbed hair with a toothbrush the night before.

The supporter of Sabatini skips airily over these phases of the life of the typist or fails to note them at all, and dwells upon other features of it that would seem to prove the case against the queen, though in reality they do nothing of the kind. The article telling of the felicity of life as a girl typist is all dolled up with flowery phrases, in which the vanity case, the wrist watch, the powder puff, the lipstick and other things necessary to the happiness of most office girls are brought forward as evidences that the typist lives better than Elizabeth did. But, though Elizabeth had no $2.98 wrist watch, she doubtless had plenty of cosmetics and the means of applying them and, as for henna hair, she wore the real thing, for she was a natural and not an artificial strawberry blonde.

To be sure, the ancient queen never enjoyed the dubious delights of subway travel nor the rare joy of being whisked up in a packed elevator to the fortieth floor of an office building; but she escaped the necessity of eating in a one-arm restaurant and didn't have to attend any dances at which rattlety-bang jazz was played and then jazz and more jazz. Also, she didn't have to be driven home by her escort in a wheezy flivver or shiver in a cold doorway for two hours while he said good night to her.

That the girl typist has an electric toaster and eats grapefruit and cereal for breakfast, while poor Elizabeth had none, somehow does not help to convince the reader that the modern young office woman has the better of it. If the author had taken the wife of a $10,000-a-year professional or business man and contrasted her surroundings and her advantages over those of the old English Queen a far more convincing argument could have been made. For such a neither-rich-nor-poor modern woman, with her easy life and her real opportunities for self-culture, certainly would put Elizabeth in the shade.

Such honor and respect as are paid to the hard-working girl typist in the article referred to are well deserved; but, as in most other cases where extremes are contrasted in such a way, the argument fails to convince. An American citizen is the peer of any monarch, and the philosopher will note a sense in which the lot of many a poor working girl is better than that of many a queen; but the question as to who lives better than who in a material way—the only one here presented—must always be settled by material standards.

THE WORM TURNS

In his application for divorce a Wisconsin husband concedes that his wife is the best housekeeper in the State, but it is that very thing that galls him and leaves him in discontent. So marked is her passion for cleanliness that the wife expects her husband to take off his boots on entering his home. The idea of anybody smoking in the house is absolutely unthinkable to the woman. The husband even has to go out in the back yard to trim his corns. The average husband is convinced that there is such a thing as being too precise. It is well enough for the wife to be neat, but when it is carried to the extent of depriving the husband of what he is pleased to call his lifetime comforts there is likely to be trouble in the happy home.

Just About It
by James J. Montague

AFTER THE WAR

When Jones was told of microbes which,
With valiant hearts and grim,
Would battle to the final ditch
The germs inside of him,
Which would not quail, or grow weak-kneed,
But march and fight like mad,
Until his system had been freed,
Of every ill he had,
He smiled and said: "I'll watch them do
Their brave and gallant stunts,"
And had his doctor shoot them through
His cuticle at once.

His arm was lame the following day;
He had a chill that night,
He fancied, as in bed he lay,
That he could hear them fight,
They raided up and down his spine,
They used for the terrain,
Through which they flung their fighting line,
The base of Jones's brain.
Six weeks the tide of war rolled on,
But with the golden sun
That rose one bright and happy dawn,
The victory was won.

Jones has no fear that any ill
His system will assail;
The hated foe was licked, but still
He's rather wan and pale.
The germs of rheumatism now
His nerves no more can nip
No longer will he have to bow
Before the conquering grippe.
From all the embattled zones
Is banished dread malaria,
But weeks of war have left poor Jones
A devastated area!

HE WHO BUILDS WISELY

The architect, whoever he may be, of the new Los Angeles City Hall has an opportunity to erect for himself an enduring monument, one that will establish his reputation for future as well as present generations. For America has very few public buildings that last.

The New York City Hall is a case in point. It was built in 1812 and is still being used for its original purpose, without alteration save a restoration to its original form. New York City has, of course, needed additional office space from time to time and has provided it, but it has never been suggested by anybody that the City Hall be torn down and replaced with a more modern building or that additions to it be constructed.

Today it stands at what seems to most persons the southern extremity of Manhattan Island; yet when it was built the north wall was constructed of limestone instead of marble, because it was said no one would ever go far enough north to see that side of it.

It stands because its design was as near perfection as things human ever get. It seems tiny, nestling amid great skyscrapers, yet it catches and holds the eye while surrounding buildings get but a glance. It stands because it was well and honestly built, because it was truly designed to be a dignified home for government.

He who builds wisely builds but once.

NOWADAYS

Nowadays 'tis strange to say,
Things are not the same old way,
Everything is getting queer,
No one seems to interfere.
Women always on the go,
Housework now they scarcely know,
Just a racing here and there,
Auto riding everywhere.
Hairless heads and backless gowns
Dressing just like circus clowns,
Paint and powder by the score,
Beads for eyelids more and more.
Boot-black stands they even sit,
Barber shops they go a bit,
Cigarettes they smoke with ease,
These are women, if you please.
Kitchenettes and parlorettes,
Beds in walls and dogs for pets,
Canned goods in the breakfast-room
For the hubby to consume.
Burners two for cooking meals,
Living up to high ideals.
Picture shows most every night,
Never time to read or write;
Hubby's tired of this course,
Next he sues for a divorce.
That's the common thing today,
Courts are filled with this array.
"Self's" the only word they see
That is why they ne'er agree;
Money mad they're getting, too,
Just a craze for something new,
Everything is getting queer,
Worse and worse most every year.
Nowadays, 'tis strange to say,
Things are not the same old way.

RUTH LYON.

LETTERS TO The Times

Boulder Dam

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Hiram Johnson, under his own signature, makes the following misstatement in a letter to the press, wherein he alleges that only the Swing-Johnson bill can protect the ranchers of the Imperial Valley:

"The real question at issue is whether 330,000 acres of land in Mexico, owned by a few Americans, shall prevent the reclamation of over 1,000,000 acres of land in the United States and the saving of homes and lives of 60,000 Americans in the Imperial Valley."

The answer to that erroneous statement is this:

(1.) Private capital, not the Mexican government, developed and irrigates land in Mexico, just as private capital has developed and irrigates land on American territory from the Colorado River.

There is nothing whatever to prevent private capital from building a canal entirely on American territory for the exclusive development of California lands. Because farming is not now sufficiently profitable to warrant it private capital is not ready to furnish the money for the enterprise.

Hence the proponents of the All-American canal want the government to furnish the money and take the risk.

(2.) It is positively untrue that "the rescue of the homes and lives of 60,000 Americans in the Imperial Valley" depends upon the enactment of the Swing-Johnson bill.

Any bill providing, as the Fredericks bill does, for flood control will "rescue the homes and lives" just as effectually as Senator Johnson's bill and has a much better chance of passage because it has much less opposition, in spite of Senator Johnson's denunciation of it.

Under date of December 30 Congressman Fredericks writes me:

"My observation is that the proponents of the Swing-Johnson bill are striving for an impossible accomplishment. I am equally certain that, unless we can all get together, neither that bill nor the one I introduced can pass. Even if the entire Southwest should back the Swing-Johnson bill it would not have a ghost of a show. A united West back of my bill would pass it beyond question. It would save the situation and for all time remove the menace of flood."

W. F. THORNE.

"If This Be Treason . . ."

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The people, by their vote May 7, 1879, adopted our present constitution as the basic law of California. That constitution created executive, legislative and judicial departments and clearly defined their functions as well as the manner and time of selecting the officials to represent the people in carrying out the functions of those departments.

The legislative department under our California constitution is commanded in Section 3 of Article IV to redivide the State at its first session after each Federal census "into forty Senatorial and eighty Assembly districts as nearly equal in population as may be," and each census is specifically defined as "the census taken under the direction of the Congress of the United States in the year 1880 and each ten years thereafter shall be the basis of fixing and adjusting the legislative districts."

The constitution is commanding. There is no option on the part of the legislators nor any part of them.

Now, since the Legislature has failed twice in succession through the action of a slight majority of its members to redistrict the State for the purpose of choosing the members of the Legislature as commanded by the people in the constitution adopted by them, the question naturally arises: "Are those legislators who have been voted upon subsequent to the Legislature of 1921 legally elected; and are the acts of the Legislature of 1923 legal; and will the acts of the Legislature of 1925 be legal?"

M. M. LINK.

Fifty Years Hence?

NOWELL, Jan. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your editorial in this morning's paper on "Abolishing Slums" touches a more vital subject than most people realize; but your conclusion that the efforts of the eastern cities are at all promising of a solution is unwarranted.

Slum houses are an effect and not a cause. By replacing the old dumb-bell houses with modern tenement houses you necessitate an increase in rent. The result is people are confronted with the problem of meeting higher rents with the same wage.

Your conclusion that Los Angeles is immune from slum condition is premature. Climatic conditions modify the circumstances; but as social conditions have time to stratify with the increase of population corresponding conditions will develop.

Foolish Bees!

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In today's issue of The Times Mr. Morey takes exception to my statement that natural fermentation oxidizes the sugar in fruit juices and converts it into alcohol. He claims that if we did not crush the grapes this would not happen. So our crime consists in crushing the grapes.

Last summer over-ripe peaches and figs, dropping from the trees in my back yard, broke the skin, admitting oxygen to the juice inside. I observed that bees became intoxicated from sipping the juice. I squeezed out and tested some of it, finding as high as 6 per cent of alcohol. Now, who was guilty of violating the prohibition law in this case? F. C. FINKLE.

National City Secretary on Banquet Program

Annual Reports Ready for Meeting Tomorrow

Result of Ballot for Board to be Announced

BY MYRA NYE

"The Place of the Y.W.C.A. Under the Sun" will be the subject of Miss Margaret Williamson of New York City, national city secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, at the annual dinner and meeting of the local association tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the dining-room at the First Methodist Church, Eighth and Hope streets.

This event promises to be the outstanding one of the year for the Y.W.C.A. family. In addition to a good measure of fun and fellowship anticipated there will be brief reports from the president, Mrs. Chester C. Ashley, and the general secretary, Miss Charlotte Ellis. Musical numbers from association groups and notable negro spirituals from the Twelfth-street Y will augment the program. The charge of arrangements for the evening are Mrs. E. F. Bogardus, chairman; Mrs. Charles Nelson, program; Mrs. George Shugert, guest; Miss May Miles, election arrangements, and Miss Elizabeth Cox, decorations.

INFORMAL RECEPTION

Parkeles, Benson Bird, Miss Mary W. for nominating committee, Smither, chairman; Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Crabill, Miss Miss Alice Cruise.

Electors are urged to exercise their prerogative of casting their ballots on Friday. Polls will be open throughout the day at association centers, 941 Figueroa street, Clark Home, Lorena Drive, and Blue Triangle, 601 South Spring street.

Kansas City Women's Club

Nearly 300 reservations have been made by former Kansas City women for the luncheon to be given today at 1 p.m., at the Ambassador by the Kansas City Women's Club. Among those who will be present on the program, former presidents of Kansas City, are: Mrs. Leslie Baird, contralto; Mrs. Austin, soprano; Mrs. Neal and Mrs. J. J. Carter.

Musica Bay Woman's Club

Fete Farir is to be the solo-ing of the unusual feature. "Adventure in a Perambulator," will be a member of the last Philharmonic Orchestra concert sponsored by the Santa Monica Bay Women's Club at the Municipal Auditorium in Ocean Park today.

Dr. Robert F. Woellner, Ph.D., formerly associated with the extension division of the University of California, will lecture in the Ebell Monday afternoon on "Ideals for Social Justice." Merle Armitage, impresario, will have charge of the music section on "Modern Tendencies of European Music Today."

Women's Club of Hollywood

Mrs. William De Mille, as chairman of public affairs, presided at the meeting conducted for the Women's Club of Hollywood yesterday afternoon when Mayor Cryer made an address at the clubhouse. He spoke on city government. George H. Dunlop, prominent Hollywood people as their representative, discussed the taxation problem, appearing before this Legislature. Mrs. Eleanor Brodie Jones reported news.

Mrs. Ethel Head of the Community Association in Santa Barbara, almost as well known in Los Angeles as in Santa Barbara, delighted the audience by her delightful concerts of songs by him in the Bowl last summer and an unusual talk in which he told of "The Music School of Music." She illustrated his talk by playing some of his own compositions and those of his contemporaries. Mrs. Whitney and his beautiful orchestra and more generally, his compositions, give a contrast between the purely modern school of music and the older forms. Mrs. Edward MacDowell, widow of the famous composer, and Mr. Whitney were honor guests at the luncheon.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

A New Mode

Shown in budding spring millinery are stove-pipes in straw, many of the Titian tone introduced in felts and in velvets during this winter. Such straws indicate the direction of fashion's wind-blowing for the coming season. Not to all is the stovepipe becoming, even though always smart; but those who can assimilate this shape find it extremely chic.

Flannel Persists

Advance hints of the spring mode in dresses, both for street and for sports wear, insist upon flannel. Whether of coarse or fine twill, such dresses are made up in extremely simple lines, usually innocent of trimming, unless it may possibly be a piping or narrow binding in contrast, or a bit of leather for pocket flaps, cuffs and collar. Colors are the tallest feature of such garments, the woven fabric lending itself well to variation in tints, making possible every shade and tone of color favored by the season's mode.

Those Baffling Windows

"What shall I do with that great window in the living-room, now that I have it?" exclaimed Angela, referring to the fulfillment of the long-cherished dream-house. The baffling window is one of those highly arched, cathedral-looking ones, so popular at present, in the stucco houses. "Were it but a matter of taste and not of expenditure," Angela continued, "I would have no difficulty; but we have expended so much more on other for the house than we originally intended, that economy in furnishings must be our watchword. "Have you thought about one of those shades in crinkled cotton?" I asked. "I saw such a shade, and at the same time, inexpensive curtaining for a large window. Next the pane was the crinkled shade, edged in narrow cotton fringe. Above that, a medium-fine net fell in folds not very full, the edged with a fringe somewhat wider than that on the shade. The latter was furnished with a tassel for "pull," and all were in a color just off white into a creamy tint, the effect being dainty, yet not chilly, as pure white might have been." Angela says she shall accept the suggestion.

Pajamas Win

Are we, in fact, becoming less feminine, since possessed of the ballot? Rubbish! But we always have liked to masquerade now and then in mannish clothes. Now, it is the pajama which has won our liking. For lounging, especially, this trousery garment has almost superseded the tea gown. For myself, I never did like those floppy, tripperish, clingy things. Pajamas give one a sense of freedom in movement and they may be so constituted as to be as feminine as skirts. With the Chinese fabrics shall I term it the Chinese fashion?—the top garment for pajama wear shown to good advantage when placed above trousers of black—preferably black satin, of colorful tones and trimmed with the mandarin jacket, better for offset by such a trouser full. Many women choose pajamas as the sleeping garment type for work while doing house work.

Light-Faced Furniture

How do you like that redwood furniture presenting a finer, lighter wood than the body of the article? Quaint and fascinating, I call it. One, shown in the current not seventh in presenting the newest and most exclusive in its line is of mahogany, faced with pine, the belly, the delicate frontal faces being enhanced by beading, adding further to the quaint effect. Dresser, side tables, beds, wardrobes—all were thus completed.

Plain to Starkness

It is thus that someone has characterized the present tendency of many street and afternoon dresses. It is true that the simplicity of such attire is most trying to those not in proper degree for such habiliments. Revealing to the nth degree, the boyish form, frankness, when sheathed in one of these so-simple frocks.

A New Flair for Flares

The latest flare is garnered from the hips, or from the knee. This flair for the flare takes the form of an inset circular piece, extending from each hip, increasing in costs; the circular piece being further enhanced by the addition of fur banding, or frilling of the fabric. In skirts or those of dresses and gowns, the flare takes the shape of flounces, inset at or around the knee line, sometimes at the ankle, again at either side, as garment enhancement must be studied and applied by a master hand, no novice can properly accomplish it. Is it for this reason that fashion endeavors to perplex with the new mode? A sly dame she!

Silver and gold lame trimmed ow almost everything else for evening.

Embroidery of rust-colored wool is effective on a frock of yellow jersey.

One often sees colored pearls mixed with white in the choicest necklaces.

For northern wear, one needs a little suede jacket under the fur coat.

REDUCING WITHOUT DIETING

A minister was calling on dear old lady parishioner.

"You've had a long and useful life, Mrs. A. Will you tell me what one thing stands out as contributing most to your happiness?" he asked.

"Yes, pastor. My 'vittles,'" she answered promptly.

Do you love your "vittles"? Good, I do, too. It means that we hate at least one source of tridaily joy. If you are in our class, then you hate to diet to reduce. All right. I'll absolve you from the hateful process. You can reduce without dieting. You can exercise more or do more physical work instead.

Exercise actually will reduce, but here's the fly in the ointment. It has to be strenuous exercise and of considerable duration if the nutriment amour is of great intensity. You see, it has to be strenuous and long enough continued to burn up more than you eat in order to call upon the stored fat.

I'll give you an interesting table I have rearranged to suit this article from Sherman's "Chemistry of Food and Nutrition." These data were worked out by several noted scientists—Atwated and Benedict, Lusk, Baker and their collaborators. This will show you how many calories of food (stored as fat or in solution in the body fluids) are actually burned up to produce the energy for them.

Energy expenditure of averagesized man (150 lbs.) per hour under different conditions of activity (approximate averages only, adapted from Sherman:)

Sleeping, 60-75 calories; awake, lying still, 70-85 calories; sitting at rest, 100; standing at rest, 115; walking slowly (about 2 1-2 miles per hour,) 200; walking actively (about 3½ miles per hour,) 300; running (about 5¼ miles per hour,) 600; light exercise, 170; active exercise, 290; severe exercise (such as sawing and chopping wood.) 450-600.

You remember at one time there was the fad of standing after eating as a reducing measure. You can see from the table that it would help, that is, if you would stand for an hour after eating you would consume fifteen calories more than if you sat. A piece of butter the size of a good-sized pea amounts to fifteen calories, so if you ate fifteen calories of butter—or any other food more than you needed—you would nullify the hour's standing.

If you walked slowly for exercise you would consume but 200 calories. That is 100 calories more than if you sat. You would get sufficient energy for walking for an hour from one medium-sized chocolate cream. Now one medium-sized chocolate cream or other candy (sugar is 115 calories to the ounce, you can reckon simple candies from this) is 100 calories. So you see, if you want an extra 100 calories of candy (or any food) you would have to walk or run for an hour in order to use up the energy produced by that bit of candy. If you want to eat an extra-good rich ice cream soda or a rich sundae, you would have to run an hour to counteract its effects. Is it worth it?

I have enumerated these things to show you how you can reduce without dieting. You have to be on the jump every minute of the day in physical activities, if you are consuming much over your needs, if you want to reduce without dieting. You can see that it is practically an impossible feat. In other words, you have to diet if you want to reduce.

However, exercises play a very important part in the reducing program and should be included for while the actual destruction of fat during the exercise is very small, unless long continued, the speeding up in the internal chemical activities (metabolism) extends over the actual exercising period, and this means that more stored fuel is burned during the day. This stimulates the body and improves the general health.

But—watch your caloric intake.

For the South the tunic blouse is made of the lighter silks and fine cottons, the large hat is seen more frequently, the shoe is a white kid pump and the silk stocking is nude colored.

If you have a chance to go South don't let it slip because you think it means an elaborate wardrobe. Very simple frocks of crêpe de Chine or fine cotton voile or cotton crêpe are worn all day from breakfast until dinner-time. If one changes to an afternoon dress for tea the same frock is worn for dinner. Tunic blouses in gay prints on white, cream or beige grounds to be worn over a plain-colored slip of the same material are being shown by the Fifth Avenue shops for Southern wear.

The Woman and Her Job

by Mary Watrous

(Questions concerning the problems of women will be answered in this column if addressed to Mrs. Watrous at The Times.)

WHAT THE "WILD WOMEN" ARE DOING

Every once in the while the news columns of some paper tell us of a woman who has been appointed an assistant district-attorney, elected justice of the peace, taken her seat in Congress, or achieved some other distinction. Women reading these announcements are quite likely to remark, "Just see what we girls are doing!"

If those women could glance through the year book of any one of the clubs whose membership is drawn from the professional and commercial fields, I believe they would be quite astounded to see what women are really doing.

On my desk is the year book of one of the well known business women's clubs. The diversity of occupations followed by its members is amazing.

There are women promoting sales for tea and coffee; others are dentists; office managers for electrotype companies; one is the manager for the steel die and copper plate department of a manufacturing stationer; another sells fire insurance; another is a funeral director; one runs a shop for hospital and sick-room supplies. There are women who head great auto supply houses; operate bakeries; advertising agencies; wholesale glove cleaners; importers and jobbers of interior decorating materials; linen importers; laundry owners; music publishers; personal service bureaus; general manager and part owner in a printing company.

There are absurdities, too. Fancy a woman being the general manager and buyer of shoes for men! And then has the effrontery to engage a woman assistant.

A woman, hides behind the company name of one of the large furniture houses; and yet another is the proprietor of a big garage; and still another runs a golf shop.

There is one listed as the industrial engineer of a large department store. And one whose name is not mentioned holds the position of assistant manager in one of the biggest merchandising houses of the city.

Again thumbing the leaves of that woman's club year book I see the names of members who are following vocations peculiar to women. They are beauty parlor specialists, manufacturers of cosmetics, designers of hats and of gowns, and many of them are heading schools of dancing, dramatic expression and whistling.

There are, of course, a large number who are secretaries or operating public stenographic and multigraphing bureaus. And one or two named as probate court appraisers; promoting auto tours; deputy county clerks, official court reporters.

To the women who have written me asking the kinds and types of work in which other women are engaged, I might be tempted to make the sweeping statement that they are in all occupations and vocations.

It is interesting to know that many of these women who are succeeding in unusual occupations are facing the sunset years. A great number entered the business world after motherhood and widowhood had come. Some of them started with a very small investment, others bought an interest in the business and later absorbed it and still others picked up the work a husband or father had laid down when death stilled his hands. Surprisingly few had any business training before marriage.

Recently I attended a luncheon at which a man of national reputation was the chief speaker. He is still in the early fifties, yet recalled the day in his boyhood when the first woman sold goods over the counter in his little southern town. He told us that the little boys ran past the store, peering in at that strange creature; the mothers of the town chattered and looked with disfavor upon her, and the man who put her to work.

Curiously enough the increased problems of women seem to renew their youth. In my grandmother's girlhood her mother donned a cap at 40, took up her knitting by the fire, and prepared to enjoy her old age.

But the business woman of 40 today . . . why, I don't know a single one . . . they are "32 tomorrow! Just think of it? How I hate to get old!"

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Dear M. E. L.: The problem of the woman who has become deaf is most difficult. It is usually solved by the creation of some new channel of activity, such as the baking of cakes, bread, some form of applied art. It should be some type of work which does not bring the handicapped one into contact with the public. Girls have written me that they have succeeded as typists in large organizations, also as operators of calculating machines. Go to the League for the Hard of Hearing, 944 West Thirtieth street; you may find help from the experience of others who have suffered your affliction.

Dear Mrs. S.: If your girl wants to elect a pre-law course I see no reason for your objection. Many women have succeeded as lawyers, and even if she never used her knowledge she would be trained to think things through, an accomplishment few women possess. Remember that many things can happen in four years of college work; she may decide to take a Mrs. degree before she is ready to join the procession of "hooded seniors."

JURY DISMISSES RUM CHARGES

Orange County Officials Are Cleared After Quiz

Asserted Klansmen Charges Are Held Groundless

Anaheim Raid Accusations Called Farce by Ward

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Jan. 14.—The accusations that four of his fellow rum sleuths contributed to the delinquency of a minor by causing him to purchase the drink liquor is a "farce," said E. S. Ward, reputed head of the Anti-Saloon League's dry "undercover" army when four of his detectives appeared in Justice K. E. Morrison's court here today to deposit bail for their release.

The quartet, composed of Mrs. B. Ward, wife of the dry-sleuth leader; Mrs. Jessie Wall, E. R. Wall and Frank Martin, was given its collective liberty when bail of $500 in each case was deposited with the clerk. The two men and two women are charged with contributing to the delinquency of Ivory Shields, a minor, in connection with the recent and much-advertised "dry raids" staged in Orange county. Hearing of the case was set for February 6.

While Mr. Ward and his coworkers were going through the legal preliminaries necessary for their release, the Orange county 1924 grand jury made public a special report in which it declared that the charges brought by asserted Klan leaders in the county that county officials were lax in their duties of enforcing the dry laws, were "groundless."

OFFICIALS CLEARED

Absolutely no evidence was produced before it to substantiate the charges that any official was guilty of malfeasance in office, the grand jury report said. The Ku Klux Klan was not mentioned by name in this report, but the names of its admitted leaders were listed as men "who were evidently making these charges."

The two events, although not directly connected with each other, constituted Orange county's most important developments in the situation created by the intense Klan and anti-Klan battles that are raging in Anaheim and the surrounding towns, as the result of the recall election in Anaheim to be held February 3, and the accusations made following the dry raids last November, when it was openly charged that the Klan instituted the raids.

CROWD PRESENT

There was quite a crowd of curiosity seekers when Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Wall, nattily attired, entered the courtroom. The two young women, referred to as "the girls" while they were in Orange county getting the "drop" on a score of liquor violators, sauntered into the little justice court apparently little perturbed by the turn of affairs.

Ward, who accompanied his young wife, declared that he expected to "squash the suit in justice court." He said the law firm of Fredericks & Hanna would defend his agents.

"The whole thing is a farce," he said, discussing the charges. "We often run into such cases as these in our work—in fact, we expect them. When a person is trapped by us he takes whatever steps are open to him to get revenge."

Mr. Ward's statement on the merits of the case brought the reiteration of the previous statement by the District Attorney's office that the case against the rum sleuths is "a clear one." Dep. Dist.-Atty. D. G. Wettlin, who is handling the cases against the dry raiders, said he did not care to make any additional reply to Mr. Ward.

The charges against Mr. Ward's detectives were filed after transcript of their testimony in the case against young Shields in the Recorder's court disclosed that they had urged the minor to purchase one-half of a pint of alcohol from a drug store and later drank this alcohol with him. The complaints were sworn to by the boy's father.

The grand jury's report of its investigation of the charges against the county officials was considered to be a complete vindication of Dist.-Atty. Nelson and the other officials accused, by innuendo, of failing to properly enforce the law.

"Much injustice has been done by the groundless accusations made at public meetings and we hope that this report will carry to the citizens of Orange county the fact that we find these charges were not sustained," the grand jury's report reads.

"We learned," the document continues, "that three men were evidently making these charges. These men were William Starbuck of Fullerton; Rev. Leon Myers of Anaheim, and Albert Stuelke of Fullerton. Each man was examined and he admitted that the only evidence he could give was hearsay. Upon receiving a list of names of persons who might substantiate the charges we summoned them. In sworn testimony each witness stated he knew of no act of any official in Orange county that constituted malfeasance in office."

The Rev. Leon Myers mentioned in the report is Exalted Cyclops of the Anaheim Klavern of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Samuel T. Montgomery, district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Los Angeles, and Federal Prohibition Agent Walter Weymouth, who helped direct the now famous dry raids, were among the witnesses called by the grand jury.

FRAME-UP PLOT IN RAID CASE IS DENIED

Emphatic denials that the raid on Ford's Castle Inn at Culver City a few nights ago, when two attorneys and a Culver City officer were arrested on charges of violating the Wright Act, was a frame-up by agents of the Anti-Saloon League were made yesterday by officials of the league and by Capt. James Bond of Sheriff Traeger's dry forces.

The attorneys arrested in the raid were A. W. Appel and M. G. Phillips, part owners of the inn and with law offices in the Washington Building. M. G. Blackie, a night watchman employed in Culver City, was also arrested. Following the three arrests the two attorneys charged that their arrests were a frame-up, instigated by the Anti-Saloon League.

FIREWORKS PROMISED

"When the cases are heard we will set off a bunch of fireworks that won't appeal so much to Mr. Phillips" and Mr. Appel," Capt. Bond said yesterday.

Samuel T. Montgomery, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, denied all knowledge of the raid yesterday. He declared that the league had nothing to do with the raid on Ford's Castle Inn, as he and E. S. Ward, another official, were both out of town at the time. He declared that he knew nothing of the investigation or of the arrests.

NO FRAME-UP

Capt. Bond assumed all responsibility for the raid. He admitted that investigators for the Anti-Saloon League had assisted in the earlier investigation, but that the arrests were made solely by deputies from the Sheriff's office.

"There was no frame-up to it," he declared. "One of my men made a purchase of six pints in the place and made two more purchases from Blackie, the night watchman. The raid was made after numerous complaints had been filed with this office by indignant residents of Culver City. As for Appel, the lawyer, when my men entered the place he ran into the women's rest room, where the liquor was found."

WAR ROMANCES ENDED

Two Veterans Are Given Divorces On Pleas of Desertion

Two war romances that waned with the coming of peace were officially ended yesterday by Superior Judge Craig on the representation of the erstwhile wearers of the olive drab.

John Slovey was granted a divorce from Irma Slovey, whom he married in Bordeaux, France, in 1918 and with whom he went on an extensive honeymoon tour of South America. Desertion was Slovey's plea.

Clifford Ambrose Truesdale, Jr., who as a captain stationed at a camp near Los Angeles in 1917, wooed and won Helen Truesdale, a high-school teacher, was the second disillusioned veteran. He told Judge Craig that she deserted him in 1920, when the glamour of war time had passed. He was given a decree on the grounds of desertion.

Hord, who says he is a stockholder in the oil company. Hord charges that the two men refused to let him examine the books of the company. Both were released in $100 bail. CITY SEEN AS SILK CENTER

Establishing of Industry Well Under Way, Speaker Tells Commercial Board at Luncheon

That Southern California may eventually become a center of silk production was a point stressed by speakers at the luncheon of the Commercial Board of Los Angeles that took place at the Biltmore yesterday.

The meeting was devoted particularly to a discussion of textiles and, to add interest, a number of the city's wholesale houses had arranged an elaborate exhibit of fabrics of different kinds, illustrating prevailing fashions in color and material, which was on display in the ballroom foyer.

The meeting was conducted under the chairmanship of E. A. Powell, manager of the local branch of the Botany Worsted Mills of Passaic, N. J. In a brief talk at the conclusion of the program, Mr. Powell pointed out the fact that the highest class of textiles in the world are to be found in Los Angeles, adding that this city is rapidly becoming a center for styles which are copied even in European countries.

"The movement to establish a silk industry here is already well under way," said Mr. Powell. "The culture of silk worms is being carried on in different places in Southern California, as yet largely in an experimental way, but with good indications that this industry will prove a success here. In addition to silk, the Los Angeles textile industry also needs high-grade wool, the production of which is another activity that should be encouraged in this region."

Incidentally, the speaker called attention to the fact that there are now more than 500 garment manufacturing establishments in Los Angeles and that the total number of industrial plants of all kinds here aggregates more than 6000.

Others who made brief talks included Milton G. Cooper, head of the Milton G. Cooper Dry Goods Company; P. B. Kennedy, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank; Arthur Fairchild of New York, publisher of a textile journal, and M. De Brabant, assistant traffic manager of the Union Pacific Railroad.

NEW MARK IS SET BY FISHERIES

Sardine Catch for Month of December Breaks All World Records

Local fisheries established another world's record in December by catching 30,123,194 pounds of sardines in Southern California waters directly adjacent to Los Angeles Harbor, it was revealed yesterday in the monthly report of the Commercial Fisheries Bureau of the California Fish and Game Commission. The sardine haul is said to be the largest catch of a single variety to be landed at any fishing port in the world.

December proved to be the banner month of the fishing year of 1924 at the harbor, the thirty-one-day haul totaling 31,340,013 pounds, of more than thirty varieties of fish. The barracuda catch was second in amount, with 346,689 pounds landed at the local wharves, while the yellowtail haul amounted to 215,704 pounds for third position.

It is estimated that nearly 100,000,000 pounds of sardines, valued at approximately $300,000, will be caught, packed and distributed during the present season by the Los Angeles Harbor fisheries. The best previous record was made in 1923-24, when 67,000,000 pounds were produced.

The monthly report of the Commercial Fisheries Bureau, showing the catch by varieties and pounds, follows:

	Pounds
Anchovies	1,630
Barracuda	346,689
Bonito	19,208
Dorfish	74
Halfmoon	15,654
Halibut	1,229

BANDIT IS UNIFORMED

Robber Motorcyclist, Dressed Like Officer, Holds Up Auto

Dressed in a uniform similar to that worn by motorcycle police officers, wearing an officer's hat and riding a red motorcycle, a lone bandit stopped Mr. and Mrs. Leon Leberman early yesterday morning as they were driving on Beverly Boulevard, near Bronson avenue and robbed them of jewelry and watches valued at more than $1600, a report made to the Hollywood police stated. After stripping the couple of their jewelry, while he held a large revolver against Mr. Leberman's side, the bandit rode away on his machine. Mr. Leberman, who lives at 2947 Somerset Drive, told detectives that the bandit first called to them that they were going too fast and got off his machine, supposedly to write out a traffic summons. Once off the motorcycle he produced his revolver and proceeded to hold up the two in the car.

WIFE'S DIET IS ISSUE

Court Allows $35 Weekly for Nut and Raisin Allowance

"She lives on nuts and raisins, judge," explained Max Alpert yesterday, seeking to convince Judge Gates that his wife did not need $35 a week for maintenance pending trial for her divorce action.

"Is it true that you subsist on that frugal diet?" asked the court.

"Yes," she said, "but it costs more to buy nuts than it does to but meat. I eat only choice nuts. They cost 60 cents a pound."

"That," said Judge Gates, "sounds reasonable. Motion denied."

Alpert's attorney, S. S. Hahn, immediately leaped to his feet and in dramatic tones denied that raisins and nuts cost as much as Mrs. Alpert represented.

"I shall file a motion to show cause," he said, "and will ask that Mrs. Alpert prove what she says."

CITY ENGINEER ASKS FOR MORE EMPLOYEES

City Engineer Van Norman has requested authority of the City Council to add 116 employees to his department as a part of the reorganization plan to increase the efficiency of that branch of the city government. The additional employees include fifty-six surveyors, chainmen and instrument men and thirty-five engineers.

EX-GOV. COX OF BAY STATE HERE

Executive Visits Southland to Enjoy Vacation

Says Victory of Coolidge Restored Confidence

Leaves Politics to Enter Banking Business

Restoration of confidence, as a result of the outcome of the recent Presidential election, is being reflected in general revival of business in all parts of he East, according to Channing H. Cox, former Governor of Massachusetts, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and is a guest at the Biltmore.

Mr. Cox stated that his visit here at this time was for the sole object of taking a rest after his retirement as Chief Executive of the Bay State. "My term expired at 12 o'clock noon, last Thursday, and at 2 o'clock that afternoon I was aboard a train bound for California," he said.

Speaking of conditions in his own State, Mr. Cox said the outlook is more favorable than for some time.

INDUSTRY ACTIVE

"I will not say there is a boom," he commented, "but the uncertainty and tendency to lie low, which characterized last season, have disappeared. This is especially marked in industry, all the factories in our section having materially increased their operation since the election. So far as I have been able to learn, the same is true in other eastern industrial centers."

Speaking of the employment situation, he said there is but little unemployment in any part of the East at this time.

"Of course, there are always men looking for jobs, but there are no signs of the soup kitchens or breadlines, which always feature periods of serious unemployment in large cities," said Mr. Cox. "Nor are there any particular indications of the radicalism and unrest that always flourish during periods of depression. I believe the outcome of the election was an excellent index to the real political sentiment that predominates among the working classes in every part of the country."

COOLIDGE ASSOCIATE

Mr. Cox, who had been interested in politics for some time prior to becoming Governor, has been closely associated with President Coolidge in legislative work in Massachusetts. While Coolidge was a member of the State Senate, Cox was one of the Representatives in the House, and when Mr. Coolidge became President of the Senate, Mr. Cox was elected Speaker of the House. During Mr. Coolidge's term as Governor of Massachusetts Mr. Cox served as Lieutenant-Governor, succeeding Coolidge to the office of Governor, when the present President was elected Vice-President of the United States.

Mr. Cox stated that he is out of politics for the time being, having decided to enter the banking business. He will be connected with the First National Bank of Boston.

Commerce Body Reiterates Its Faith in Colden

The San Pedro Chamber of Commerce yesterday by formal action reiterated its faith in the honesty, integrity and efficiency of C. J. Colden, president of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, made a defendant in a suit by Edgar McKee early this week. Mr. Colden had been president of the San Pedro chamber several terms and a resident of the harbor district a score of years.

SUIT CHARGES HUGE PROFIT MADE ON SITE

APARTMENT PROMOTERS SAID TO HAVE REALIZED $115,000

The promoters of the Bolivar Holding Company, formed to erect a $2,000,000 "own your own" apartment building on the ocean front near American avenue, Long Beach, made a profit of $115,000 on the purchase of the building site, unit buyers declared in a suit for relief, in which preliminary proceedings were heard by Judge L. H. Valentine yesterday.

Judge Valentine appointed Willard L. Goodwin receiver of the company, and the receiver put up $10,000 bond and took charge of the assets yesterday. The complaining unit buyers related that Jack Milton, C. C. Hurt and J. C. Wickham, the promoters, bought the site for $125,000 and sold it to the corporation for $240,000. Only the foundation had been constructed, they said, and this at a cost of $120,000. The plaintiffs asserted that the whole project was in jeopardy as a result of dissension.

The apartment-house, as projected, is to be one of the most elaborate in the West. A twelve-story building is planned.

POLICE TABOO POLITICS

Patrolmen Will Not Be Allowed to Discuss Candidates

Orders to steer clear of municipal politics and to refrain even from discussing this subject were issued yesterday to all police executives and officers by Assistant Chief of Police Murray. The orders were drawn at the regular weekly meeting of division commanders yesterday at Central Station.

The subject of politics will be entirely taboo among police officers during the coming campaign, Assistant Chief Murray said. Officers will not even be permitted to discuss the merits of the various candidates among themselves and least of all with civilians. The orders, he said, were issued to prevent any officers from being used as tools by politicians and to halt any attempt to drag the department into politics.

Stop Drinking Stale Water

Fresh Water Contributes Vitally to Health—Learn the One Way to Have It Always in the Home

Fresh water—and fresh water only—contains Niton, an element as vital to health as vitamines in the diet.

It is this element which causes physicians to send thousands of health seekers annually to drink the waters at world famous springs such as Hot Springs, Arkansas—owned and operated by the Government—Vichy, France, Bath, England and others.

All natural spring water contains Niton to a beneficial extent for a short period after the water comes from the ground.

What Niton Is

Niton is radio-activity. It is what makes water fresh. It is a viral element which Nature intended water to contain.

It is present in water fresh from the spring, because that water in its progress through the underground channels has come into contact with rocks containing millions of tiny radium deposits.

These charge the water with radio-activity—Niton. And water containing this element contributes wonderfully to health.

It relieves and frequently entirely cures chronic organic troubles. Thousands of sick people benefit through their visit to these famous springs.

Those who are well go also to tone themselves up physically. The fresh water thoroughly cleanses. It aids in the elimination of bodily poisons and thus results in new vigor and vitality.

But the treatment is apt to be of temporary value.

Can Not Be Stored

For the water soon loses this element. Whether water is stored in bottles, reservoirs or pipes, the Niton rapidly dissipates.

Even water which is bottled at the spring and sealed hermetically has little of this element within a few days.

And all the water we drink is stored water. Thus it is stale water—lacks the freshness which Nature demands.

Now a Way

Scientists have for years recognized these facts. They properly value Niton. They realize that it can not be retained in stored water.

They have sought a practical way to provide fresh water economically to every home. Many years ago the way was discovered.

It has been thoroughly tested. Now it is an established fact. The process has been made practical by the development of the Revigator, so named because it aids people to enjoy new health and vigor.

Simple and Sure

The idea behind the Revigator is in principle those underlying all great inventions.

Jars are lined with especially selected radium ore—fused to the inner walls of the jars under 2000 degrees of heat for twenty days.

When filled, the water is brought in contact with the radium ore just as it does by nature underground. Water which has remained in the jar 24 hours in the jar is radio-active—contains Niton.

It is fresh water.

Drink This Fresh Water

Install the Revigator in your home. Drink the water daily. Note the results in health.

Your body will eliminate poisons which have lowered your vitality and endeavor to destroy. Fresh water will aid in keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver active and healthy.

The water is tasteless. It is neither medicine nor drug. It is merely fresh water which contributes to health all that Nature expects of water.

Learn more today about this fundamental of health. Write for our free illustrated booklet which tells the story in far greater detail.

Matrimonial Bureau Owner Found Guilty

Photographs of beautiful motion-picture actresses were used as a lure to obtain business for a matrimonial bureau operated by Ernest Swartz, according to evidence introduced in Federal Judge Bledsoe's court yesterday, when Swartz was tried on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. A jury found Swartz guilty. He will be sentenced next Monday.

The indictment against Swartz charged he obtained money from Sidney S. Barker, a rancher of Medford, Or., on the representation that it would be used to pay the railroad fare of a beautiful young woman whom Barker was led to believe would be his wife. Photographs introduced as evidence by government counsel went to show that Swartz made liberal use of whatever likenesses of motion-picture actresses he could find to send to prospective clients of his matrimonial bureau. He communicated with persons advertising in matrimonial magazines.

Theresa Swartz, wife of the defendant, was named in the indictment as a codefendant. The case against her was dropped recently.

Federal Sleuths Spy on Mayor Cryer

Mail Morse and John Bonfilio were driving south in Main street yesterday when they approached the Federal building they came under the scrutiny of piercing eyes of Federal prohibition agents about to depart on a sleuthing campaign.

Morse and Bonfilio were riding on a truck, as also was a large iron steam cooker, several polished screws, and two wheels and whatnot in the form were in evidence about the floor of the truck.

That was sufficient for the prohibition agents. They followed the truck and the cooker with the screws, pipes, wheels and whatnot together with Morse and Bonfilio. The two men they placed under arrest on a charge of possessing apparatus designed for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor. The apparatus itself was stowed away in the prohibition room.

Morse and Bonfilio declared they had no intention of manufacturing liquor, and were but transporting it. United States Commissioner Turney will decide the question today.

Federal Sleuths Seize Fair and Steam Cooker

Mell Morse and John Sernikoff were driving south on North Main street yesterday when, as they approached the Federal Building, they came under the sharp and piercing gaze of Federal prohibition agents about to depart on a sleuthing campaign.

Morse and Sernikoff were sitting on a truck, as also was a galvanized iron steam cooker, highly polished screws, and pipes and wheels and whatnots on the order of the truck.

That was sufficient for the prohibition agents. They seized the truck and the cooker and the screws, pipes, wheels and whatnots together with Morse and Sernikoff. The two men they placed in jail on a charge of possessing apparatus designed for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor. The apparatus itself was stowed away in the exhibit room.

Morse and Sernikoff said they had no intention of making intoxicating liquor, and never had made liquor. United States Commissioner Turney will decide that question today.

"GRAUSTARK" FOR STAR

CONSTANCE TALMADGE WILL BE McCUTCHEON HEROINE

By Grace Kingsley

The noted novel and play, George Barr McCutcheon's "Graustark," is to serve Constance Talmadge, as a picture vehicle, it has leaked out. In this play the feminine lead is one thought to be exceedingly well suited to the lively young comedienne, and Joseph Schenck has therefore purchased it for her use.

It is just possible that the picture may be made abroad. Miss Talmadge expects to go over some time during the spring or summer.

"Graustark" was for years one of the great stage favorites in this country, and it is to be made on a magnificent scale, with an all-star cast supporting Miss Talmadge, and with sumptuous sets. The story is a romance, and will offer the comedienne in a somewhat new light, inasmuch as it will give her some fine acting opportunities.

Agnes Christine Johnson is to be loaned by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to write the continuity, according to report. Miss Johnson has long been considered one of the most brilliant screen writers. She wrote the scenario for "Daddy Long Legs," one of Mary Pickford's greatest successes, and is responsible for several other screen stories which met with marked success. She has just been signed on a long-term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

It is likely that Sidney Franklin will direct "Graustark," though there is so far nothing definite to announce in the matter.

TRIXIE FRIGANZA IS IN FILM DEMAND

The rotund Trixie Friganza seems to be having about all she can do these days taking in acting. She hadn't even finished her role in "Proud Flesh," for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, when she was signed to play a leading role in "The Charmer," Pola Negri's first starring vehicle of 1925. The announcement was made by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

"The Charmer" was adapted to the screen by Sada Cowan from Henry Baerlein's novel, "Mariposa." In the production Miss Negri will play the role of a wild Spanish mountain girl. Miss Friganza will play Miss Negri's mother.

Miss Friganza says she is thrilled to death at the idea of playing in a picture with a real vamp.

"I'm going to find out how she does it," quoth Trixie. "I'm going to keep my eye on that girl—even if I lose my eye."

Gertrude Astor is another important player who was added to the cast of Miss Negri's new picture. Miss Astor has lately been playing leads with Reginald Denny at Universal.

Still another big name was added in that of Edwards Davis, who has an important part.

Robert Frazer is still bursting the buttons off his vest with pride at having accomplished the feat of succeeding himself as Miss Negri's leading man.

Tony Moreno at Home

Antonio Moreno is to have a holiday all his own within the next month. On the day on which he arrives in Campamento, Spain, all work is to be suspended in the city by order of the Mayor, and a fiesta day observed. There will be bullfights and a ball and a great out-of-doors banquet. Campamento is Tony's home town. It was there he lived during most of his boyhood, and it is there that his mother lives today. As soon as one of his pictures is released for European distribution, a print goes to Campamento and for three days there is a long queue in front of the town's only theater, a queue which often, like those in front of the season's first baseball game, is formed the night before the opening performance.

With Mrs. Moreno Tony is on his way to Paris now, where he is to join Rex Ingram. From there he is to go to Barcelona for some of the opening scenes of the picture of which he is to play the lead, viz., "Mare Nostrum." Then will come several weeks at home with his mother, whom he has not seen for fifteen years, and the chums of his boyhood days.

Crisp's Double Life

Talk about your double lives, Donald Crisp says that's what he's leading nothing else but. Crisp, who has been selected to direct Douglas Fairbanks in his new picture, "Don Q," has also been assigned one of the most important character roles in the film, according to announcement from Ted Reed, production manager.

"In addition to directing Mr. Fairbanks," said Reed, "Mr. Crisp will play the part of Sebastian, one of the villains in the piece. The role is a particularly important one, calling for difficult characterization."

Ordinarily the task of directing Doug is considered sufficient in itself, and it speaks well for Crisp's courage that he is willing to undertake the dual role of actor and director. The idea was Mr. Fairbanks's, who evidently remembered Crisp's work in "Broken Blossoms" when he appeared as the rough and ready pugilist, Battling Burroughs.

Madeline Hurlock Home

Madeline Hurlock, Mack Sennett comedy vamp, has returned to Los Angeles after a six weeks' visit in the East. Miss Hurlock ate her Christmas dinner with her family in Federalsburg, Md., and spent several weeks in New York scouring the shops for the latest things in vamping equipment.

A new comedy, under the direction of Del Lord, will go into production immediately, with Miss Hurlock as the leading comedienne.

Schumann-Heink Only Concert is Here Tonight

Ernestine Schumann-Heink, world-famed contralto, who sings at Philharmonic Auditorium tonight, stated that this would by no means be a "farewell" recital. Many artists who have achieved international fame have made a farewell tour every year for four or five consecutive years.

"I intend to sing for at least three more years," she is quoted as saying, "and so long as my voice is good and the public want to hear me, I shall continue to sing. In three more years I will have been singing in public for fifty years."

Athough several times a grandmother, none of her children nor grandchildren have exhibited the great talent which has placed her among the great artists of all time, and this is a sorrow of which the madame says little. However, she has helped many other students of ability on their way to artistic success, and the last one is a 14-year-old girl of Toronto, Can.

Next June, Isobel Parsille will journey to New York to stay a month with Mme. Schumann-Heink, during which time the young lady will take advantage of the things which the great metropolis has to offer. And to the famous contralto it will be a month in which she will watch and study Miss Parsille to see whether or not the young lady has really the many gifts and versatile talent which it is necessary to have in order to achieve artistic success in a big way. Mme. Schumann-Heink desires to help talent, but since she cannot be an aid to everyone individually who possesses ability, she is anxious that the recipient of the help which she can give be innately deserving.

Schumann-Heink was heard nearly half a century ago with the De Reszkes, Planson, Eames, Nordica and Bispham. Many of these singers are dead; of them she alone graces the concert stage today. She is a woman of remarkable virility; her voice is well preserved, and she puts something vital into every song.

An additional attraction will be the appearance of Miss Florence Hardeman, violinist, who will play a number of modern compositions.

Mme. Schumann-Heink's program follows:

"My Heart Ever Faithful" ..... Bach
"Hallstrahlender Tag" (aria from "Orpheus") ..... Max Bruch
"Die Junge Nonne," "Du Bist Die Ruh," "Wonne," "Aus Marks" ..... Franz Schubert
"Allerseelen" ..... Richard Strauss
"Freudvoll und Leidvoll" ..... Fleischmann
"Allah" ..... Charles Gilchrist
"Cry of Rachel" ..... Mary Turner Salter
"Trees" ..... Rasbach
"Lullaby" ..... Edward Collins
"Kerry Dance" ..... Molloy

Two Photoplays on Mission Bill for Final Days

A double bill is offered for the remainder of the week at the Mission. Wesley Barry appears in "The Printer's Devil" and the co-featured production is "The Tie That Binds."

Of the two, the Barry picture is the more entertaining. It was directed by William Beaudine, which is a certain recommendation all its own. Beaudine has succeeded in drawing out his players so that their delineation of character is really convincing. Their acting, for the most part, is consistently good.

"The Printer's Devil" has no unusual plot. It's raison d'etre seems to be as a vehicle for the starring of Wesley Barry. His story is about a printer's devil, fired from the town's only paper, and who later becomes the partner of the owner of the sheet. It is just good, human drama and fits its leading player like a glove. Barry is supported capably by Harry Myers, Kathryn McGuire, George Pierce, Lou Ming, Raymond Cannon and Louise Carver.

"The Tie That Binds" is drab and there is nothing to enliven the interest that lags from the very opening of the picture. The effect of what little interest is kindled is ruined by the seemingly unceasing opening and closing of doors by the characters in the picture. It would appear that the director acknowledged only one kind of opening a scene—and a door was as important as the player. Barbara Bedford, Walter Miller, Raymond Hatton, William Carleton and Marian Swayne play the parts.

The theater closes this week, to be razed Monday to make way for the new Orpheum.

Many Big Names in Writers' Club Bill Next Week

The list of players to appear in the Writers' Club second program of one-act plays, to be presented at the clubhouse in Hollywood on the 23rd and 24th inst., reads like a chapter from the Blue Book of the Stage and Screen. The four interesting plays have casts of exceptional merit that include names of unusual fame.

"The Sleeping Woman," by Andre de Lorde and adapted by Charles R. Whittaker, which will be directed by Maurice Tourneur, will be played by Jean Hersholt, Barbara Tennant, Otis Harlan and Emily Fitzroy.

Lilyan Tashman, Edward Peel and Henry B. Walthall will enact the vivid characters of Eugene O'Neill's "Thirst." This powerful little play is being staged by Clarence Thomas, who was for some time director of the Chicago Art Theater.

William H. Crane makes his return to the stage, after an absence of some time, in "His Last Appearance." With Mr. Crane will appear Theodor von Eltz, Joan Meredith, recently elected a Wampas Baby Star, and Frances Raymond. Mr. Crane is also staging the play.

Tom Geraghty, who is producing George Ade's "The Persecuted Wife," has not completed his cast at the present writing. Marguerite Snow is the only definite selection. The play has been in rehearsal with a man and a child in the other parts, but, coincidentally, both of them had to go to New York, the man for a picture, and the little girl for a stage play.

'Outward Bound' Scheduled for Majestic Soon

Crowded houses are the rule at the Majestic these days where Anne Nichols and Adelaide Matthew's farce, "Just Married," is playing the second week of a limited engagement.

Thomas Wilkes, lessee of the Majestic and now in New York, has contracted for a number of new plays for production in this city.

The first of these will be Sutton Vane's "Outward Bound," a play that proved the dramatic sensation of London and New York last season and is now on tour in the East.

The play is regarded as one of the most unique ever produced on the stage. It created a veritable storm of comment when produced at the Ritz Theater in New York, its philosophy provoking violent controversy, but its dramatic appeal was universal.

Edward Everett Horton and Dulcie Cooper will be seen in the principal roles with a capable supporting cast. The play will be staged under the direction of Willamene Wilkes, with Dickson Morgan designing a special set for the production.

SMUDGE SMOKE CAUSES WRECK

Electric Train Crashes Into Caboose at Rialto

Motorman Killed While at His Post

Second Accident from Same Cause

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 14.—Smudge smoke brought its second railway fatality within a month today.

Blinded by the smoke, C. Durbin, 40 years of age, of Los Angeles, a Pacific Electric motorman, was killed when an express train crashed into a caboose on the San Bernardino-Los Angeles line at Rialto at 5:15 o'clock this morning. Two men were injured. They were Conductor B. F. Mann of Los Angeles, severely bruised; Express Messenger C. L. Wallace of Los Angeles, bruised and shocked. Traveling slowly through the smoke and fog, the express train crashed head-on into the caboose, a freight car and a car of oil of freight train. The freight crew was switching at the Rialto station.

Durbin died at his post. His body, still in an upright position and his hands clamped to the car controls, was found by trainmen. Conductor Mann was standing in the vestibule talking to Durbin. Miraculously, the conductor was hurled through the air to safety. The express train and caboose were demolished. Messenger Wallace was thrown against the express compartment and badly shaken up.

An inquest will be held here tomorrow at 1 o'clock at the Mark B. Shaw mortuary.

The express train left Los Angeles at 3 a.m. For miles, it had traveled slowly through the dense smoke from the smudge pots, the motorman frequently sounding warning signals, his vision blinded except for a distance of a few feet. The strong headlight would not penetrate the dense smoke, the conductor said. A month ago a Pacific Electric Interurban train turned over in Redlands, the motorman being blinded by smoke and approached the corner too rapidly. Ralph Goldsmith, a passenger, was fatally injured.

REMITS FINE AS WEDDING PRESENT

TOO MUCH TIA JUANA MARS HONEYMOON FOR LOS ANGELES MAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 14.—Love's path was strewn with thorns instead of the conventional roses for M. H. Luellivitz, 26 years of age, of Los Angeles and San Diego, and Miss Marjorie Rollins, 20, of this city, all because they decided to stage a little celebration at Tia Juana prior to embarking upon the matrimonial sea.

Luellivitz secured the marriage license here yesterday and with the bride-to-be went to the Mexican town for a visit. Starting back to San Diego late in the day to have the ceremony performed, the prospective bridegroom possessed what county officers term a "laughing jag." As is customary in such cases, Luellivitz was denied permission to drive the car, and as Miss Rollins could not operate the machine, it was a case of get out and walk. Then the officers discovered that Luellivitz had hired the car in Los Angeles, and they placed him in jail. Miss Rollins was sent to a hotel here.

This morning Luellivitz appeared before Justice Lloyd Griffin and insisted that the court perform the wedding ceremony before passing sentence. This Justice Griffin did, and then he fined the bridegroom $50, which was remitted as a wedding present.

HOTEL MANAGER IS "SEWERED TO DEATH"

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 14.—Walter Raymond, owner of the Hotel Raymond, offered written and verbal protests against the assessments made for rerouting the Garfield sewer at last night's meeting of the South Pasadena Board of City Trustees.

He declared in no uncertain terms that he had almost been "sewered to death." He had already three sewer connections with the Pasadena outfall and had given a right of way through his property for the South Pasadena outfall. Now, because the city has decided to change the route of the sewer, Mr. Raymond declared that he should not be made to pay for this change of plan.

Trustee Gillette immediately took up the argument and asserted that it was nothing less than double taxation. He declared he would vote against the assessment. City Attorney Vedder ruled that there is nothing else to do but pay the bill since it has already passed the protest stage.

NEED WINE WHEN OLD FRIENDS MEET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Jan. 14.—The pleasant tale of how, after a separation of ten years, B. Simone of San Francisco, and P. Prata of Fresno, chanced to meet on the streets of Fresno after parting in Sunny Italy ten years ago, and how the two old friends, at Simone's suggestion, motored to Lemoore, where the former delivered some wine, said by officers to be 15 per cent alcohol, convinced a jury at Stratford yesterday that Prata was not guilty of bootlegging and he was discharged.

Simone and Prata were two of the three men arrested in Lemoore at a soft drink parlor established by a detective working out of District Attorney McKay's office in this city.

Arcadia Asks Independent High School

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ARCADIA, Jan. 14.—A fund was started last night at a meeting of the Citizens' Committee of Thirty-five to start legal proceedings to secure a separate school district for Arcadia that the city may have its own high school. It was determined at the meeting of the large committee of citizens that is working to secure Arcadia's high school, to secure the services of an attorney and then take the necessary legal steps to secure a separation from the union district of Monrovia, Duarte and Arcadia.

Chairman George W. Ackermann appointed a committee of five, composed of O. E. Winkler, Judge W. H. Horlock, L. R. Peck, Miss Hilda Gray and A. N. Multer to raise funds for the legal action and for attorney's fees and to then proceed with the action.

A considerable sum toward the $500 necessary for this was subscribed last night after the meeting by citizens.

The books to be collected are in the hands of borrowers who took them from the library and have disregarded notices to return them at the expiration of the loan period. In addition to the books, Dectective Glenn is also collecting the fines normally assessed by the library on persons who fail to return borrowed books on time.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

NEED EXPERT TO COMPLETE REPORT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 14.—If a cat has nine lives and if 1300 cats were killed, would that he taking 11,700 lives? This is not a crossword puzzle, the Pasadena Humane Society is merely having trouble figuring its yearly report.

During the year of 1924, 1300 Pasadena cats were destroyed. Now, in figuring the death rates of other animals, humane officers have an easier time. They knew that every dog has one life just as every dog has his day, so the figure of 765 dogs killed stands undisputed. A total of 450 dogs were placed in homes, 348 cats were found masters as were twelve horses, one mule, seven goats, three rabbits, one turtle and nine pigs.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 14. — E. L. Wells and Miss Hilda Brasel, both of Los Angeles, were injured early today when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Pacific Electric car at the Delmar-avenue crossing on the Covina line.

Wells sustained a broken arm and numerous cuts, while his companion was painfully bruised. They were taken to the Alhambra Hospital by a passing motorist and later were able to go home. Their machine was demolished.

Bootlegger is Determined to Retain Custom

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 14.—When Michael Leff, asserted Los Angeles bootlegger, was arrested in Pasadena last night for carrying on his illicit trade, he was more bothered about being able to keep his word with his customers than he was about being confined in the local jail, according to Detectives W. A. Beal and Harry Thomas, who made the arrest.

Leff pleaded with the officers to allow him to finish his interrupted delivery, saying that he wanted to play square with the customers he had promised. When this request was refused, Leff asked permission to telephone his customers that he had been arrested so that they would not be inconvenienced. A case of gin was confiscated by the officers when they made the arrest in front of a South Grand-avenue residence. The man was fined $700 when he appeared before Police Judge Dunham this morning.

BAND MAKES RECORD

Organization Oldest of Kind in Southern California

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 14.—The Riverside Military Band last night rounded out the twenty-fifth successful year of its existance, when the annual meeting was held. Just a quarter of a century ago a band was organized in this city, then a town of about 5000 persons. Through all these years that band has continued to perform the civic function of providing music, and instead of growing old, is continually improving. It now enjoys the right of seniority in all interior Southern California, for no similar organization can point back to so long a period of continuous existence.

Harry H. Woodward is the only charter member of the band who still is a member. For many years he was manager, but last year "begged off," feeling he had more than done his share. Last night, however, the bandsmen insisted that he take the office again, and he was once more re-elected. Gustav Hilverkus, the capable leader, was again chosen director. A. E. Friend is the secretary-treasurer.

F. J. Epler was elected president and J. A. Romine vice-president. The retiring president, Oscar Odale, in his report showed a very busy year for the directorate of the bureau, with all departments active and membership increasing.

County Farm Adviser Wallace Sullivan and Miss Ada Lee Day, county agent, representing the extension service of the University of California, presented reports. Addresses also were made by A. C. Hardison, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, and Earl Houghton of Exeter, regional director.

MONEY IN CAULIFLOWER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

COVINA, Jan. 14.—Many statistics have been compiled concerning the value of crops in Covina, but a new item was added recently when a head of cauliflower was found to be worth $50.

Mrs. B. W. Dancer purchased the cauliflower at a local grocery and when preparing it for cooking found a handsome diamond ring among its leaves.

The next issue of the local papers carried an offer of $50 reward by Mrs. C. M. Commings, wife of City Manager Commings, for the return of the ring. Mrs. Commings had visited the grocery and examined the vegetables a few minutes before Mrs. Dancer made her purchase.

AWAITS COURT'S ACTION

Ontario Woman Accuses Brother of Connection With Disappearance of Husband

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, Jan. 14.—Word that Jesse J. Peacock, accused some weeks ago by his own sister, Mrs. Alice Moore, 325 East A street, this city, of having knowledge of the disappearance of her husband, Bert Moore, has just been convicted of manslaughter in connection with the killing of his wife at Fort Worth, Tex., on August 28, 1923, and has been sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary, was received here today.

Attorneys for Peacock, the report further said, have filed a motion for a new trial, basing their claim partly on the fact that the presiding judge permitted testimony to the effect that the defendant was responsible for the disappearance of the Ontario man. Peacock is being held in the County Jail at Fort Worth, pending action on the motion, it is said.

Attorneys for Peacock claim that testimony introduced at his trial strongly intimated that the defendant had killed and robbed his brother-in-law, and that this testimony had no rightful place in the case on which he was being tried.

Mrs. Moore, Peacock's sister, confided to the Ontario authorities and to Dist.-Atty. George H. Johnson last fall that she feared her brother had done away with her husband, of whose disappearance the former had told her conflicting stories. Moore had been in Texas in oil-promotion work and, according to the wife's story, had started in a motor car with Peacock to drive back to California. A day or two after they left Fort Worth, Peacock returned to the Texas city with Moore's car, reciting conflicting and weird stories about his brother-in-law's whereabouts. At the time of his disappearance, Moore was said to be in possession of a large number of valuable diamonds and much cash. Later, Peacock was reported to be seen wearing flashy diamonds, and to be unusually free with his money.

In the trial just ended, Peacock was charged with killing his second wife when she went to an apartment-house where her husband and their child were living with the man's former wife. Mrs. Moore, the Ontario sister, is anxiously awaiting word of the result of Peacock's motion for a new trial.

HOLD CONTRACTOR UNDER HEAVY BAIL

PASADENA WOMAN CHARGES BUILDER GOT MONEY BY FRAUD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 14.—Arraigned before Justice Jerome B. Kavanaugh here today, W. J. Deaver, the debonair young contractor of Lake Arrowhead, was held in default of $5000 bail on a charge of obtaining money under misrepresentation.

Deaver was arrested in Los Angeles at the Biltmore Hotel, Tuesday with Miss Peggy Mays, a Los Angeles girl, as he prepared to flee to Texas. On Deaver was found two tickets to Ulvalde, Tex. The girl was released.

Deaver's troubles were augmented this morning when $1000, which he was carrying in a wallet when arrested, was attached by the San Bernardino Business Men's Association. Deaver protested that he did not own the currency, but the money was attached, pending a court hearing.

I. J. Loeb, an employee of Deaver, was released on his own recognizance. Lieb was arrested in Los Angeles an hour after Deaver's capture. Officers have been searching for Deaver since Miss Frances Thilo, a Pasadena girl, charged him with obtaining $1725 by representing that he had completed her summer residence at Lake Arrowhead and signing a false affidavit of completion, on which he secured the $1725 from her account in a San Bernardino bank.

AID TO NEEDY

Ontario Organization Makes Annual Report

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Jan. 14.—Eighty-five needy families were given substantial assistance during the year 1924 by the Ontario Welfare League, at a total expenditure of $1,636.83, according to the report of Mrs. C. L. McClelland, secretary of the organization at its annual meeting at the City Hall.

In addition to this, Mrs. Geoffrey J. Total receipts of the league for the last year amounted to $1661.43 and of this total $636.90 was realized from sales at the community shop, conducted by the organization.

PREVENTS FIRE LOSS

Hotel Guest Makes Early Discovery of Blaze

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Jan. 14. — The quick discovery of a fire at 3 o'clock this morning prevented the spread of flames which might have resulted in heavy losses in the business district. Ralph Staz, a guest at the Artesia Hotel, was awakened by smoke issuing from the Rosenthal sales store, the rear of which is on an alley below his room. Manager Hubbard of the hotel was called and located the blaze in the receiving room of the store. The fire department put out the flames, which had started to burn briskly. There was some resultant damage from smoke, but the store was opened for business this morning at the usual time.

FRESNO SHOWING AT NATIONAL EXHIBITION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Jan. 14.—Fresno will be represented at the annual National Orange Show to be held in San Bernardino, February 19 to March 1, by a golden tower, forty feet in height and twenty-six by thirty feet at the base, Peter Rasmussen, exhibit director of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce, announced today. Details of the exhibit and a sketch of it have been prepared by the director and will be forwarded immediately to officials of the show for their approval.

The exhibit, it was announced, has been prepared on the most elaborate basis ever before attempted by any county exhibiting at the orange show, at which Fresno county has taken the grand prize in the Chamber of Commerce class for the last three years.

SELECT JURY FOR BIG DAMAGE SUIT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 14.—A jury has been impaneled to weigh testimony during the civil suit of J. F. Noonan against the Thrift Stores, for $80,100 damages. Today the jury heard the testimony of Dr. Harrison M. Hawkins of Taft, who attended Noonan after he had been injured in an automobile wreck on the Bakersfield-Taft highway.

Noonan, in his complaint, alleged that a driver of a Thrift Stores truck had left his machine parked on the highway without lights. The car in which he was traveling from Taft to Bakersfield crashed into the truck, he avers, causing the injuries upon which he bases his complaint for damages. The plaintiff asserts that he suffered severe lacerations and concussion of the brain, necessitating hospital attention.

WITNESSES CALLED BY OFFICIALS

Grand Jury to Investigate Cause of Recent Fire at Monrovia

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

AZUSA, Jan. 14.—A number of Azusa citizens who were witnesses of the fire that destroyed the home of Mrs. Mary Burpee in the early morning of December 24, have been subpoenaed to a hearing of the grand jury in Los Angeles tomorrow morning.

Although the witnesses have not been so informed, it was stated by a deputy from the County Sheriff's office that an investigation is being made of the fire and the asserted attack upon Mrs. Burpee of two men whom she said entered the house, tried to rob her of some oil stocks, and failing in this, tied her to the bed and then set fire to the house.

Traffic Officer Ernest Meading of Azusa, W. I. Hamblin, constable of Azusa, Thomas Smith, local agent for the Aetna Insurance Company, with which Mrs. Burpee's property was insured, and J. C. Young, a neighbor of Mrs. Burpee, who found her in a semiconscious condition in her bedroom in the burning house, have been summoned.

The investigation was started, it is said, by the insurance company. Mrs. Burpee, a widow 60 years of age, lived alone and she had finished trimming a small Christmas tree for her two pet canaries two nights before Christmas. On the following morning, she was roused by hearing some one open her window, she says. It proved to be, she says, two men in slouch hats who demanded of her some oil stock. Mrs. Burpee says the stock was in her safety deposit box in the bank so she could not give it to them. They attacked her, however, and found $35 in bills which she had drawn from the bank for taxes and had pinned in her night dress. They then gagged her and tied her to the bed and after going to the kitchen bade her "a pleasant trip on her long journey," according to her account. They then set fire to the home, she thinks.

J. C. Young, a neighbor, heard the screams of the woman and broke in the door of her house and found her with the flames sweeping through the house. She had wrenched one of her hands free from the cords that bound her.

Young carried her to safety on the lawn. Officer Meading was one of the first after Young to reach the burning cottage. The cottage and furniture were a total loss.

Thomas Smith, the insurance agent who had insured the property, said yesterday it was insured for $3500, which was about a 75 per cent valuation on the property. He said he knew that some time previous to this she had refused $3000 for the property.

Since the fire, Mrs. Burpee is living with a brother on a ranch near here. She has twice before been the victim of alleged attacks at night in her home somewhat similar to that she described at the time of the fire.

Old Resident of San Francisco Dies at Bakersfield

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 14.—Ronald McDonald, Sr., 91 years of age, a resident of this city for eighteen years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Harris, 1627 California avenue, this morning following an illness of two days.

Mr. McDonald was a native of Glasgow, Scotland, and came to California in 1864. He was one of the prominent pioneers of San Francisco, where he made his home until he retired from the contracting business in which he was engaged shortly before coming to Bakersfield to reside.

In 1906, following the San Francisco disaster, he came to this city to make his home with his family.

Mr. McDonald was in charge of construction of the barracks at Ft. Point, and several large buildings in San Francisco. His last work was that on the Mills Building in San Francisco, which remained standing after the earthquake and fire.

DEMANDS DAMAGES

Hospital Patient Injured By Falling From Bed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 14.—Damages of $50,175 for injuries received because of his falling out of bed is asked in a suit filed here this morning by Charles Frederick Mullins of Los Angeles against the Santa Barbara Cottage Hospital.

According to Mullins while still unconscious from an anaesthetic given in an operation, he was left alone in a hospital room on April 21, 1924, and that he fell from his bed against the door, closing it. He asserts that his body was "crushed and mutilated" when the nurses forced their way into the room, and that he was lifted back to his bed and strapped while still unconscious.

BEAN-SACK PRICES ON UPWARD GRADE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Jan. 14.—Growers of lima and other kinds of beans learned with regret today that the price of bean bags will be higher in 1925 than they were last year. This announcement was made by George Doty of the California Lima Bean Growers' Association, who was in communication with George Bean of the Bemis Bag Company. The opening price on bean bags will be 14 cents, according to Mr. Doty, while the opening price last year was 11 cents. Mr. Doty was of the opinion that the price would go even higher than 14 cents as the year advances. He was told that a combine of jute manufacturers in India was the cause of the jump in price.

COUNCILMEN CLOSE FISHING PARADISE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 14.—The lakes included in the municipal water system and long famous for bass fishing, will be closed to fishermen until March 15, the City Council taking this step in order to conserve the diminishing supply of bass. The order goes into effect tomorrow.

Morena and the two Otay lakes have yielded some of the finest fishing in Southern California, but the large number of anglers in the past few years has made heavy inroads upon the fish.

As bass spawn up to April, it was deemed advisable to close the season for two months.
